DESPISED.

A SONNET.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

A blushing rose, whose buds did late unfold
Its glowing petals in the stilly air,
Is rudely cast upon the wayside, where
It bleeds in anguish, deep from wounds untold,
'Till one, a man of rugged looks, and old
In deeds of sin, whom people idly stare,
Bent low and pressed the the little flow'r with care
Against his heart—too often dark and cold
To Nature's charms. And then a crystal tear
Stole on its leaflet green, as sad and lone
He spoke: "My heart, a rose, once did appear
As bright in hue as this, 'till woes unknown
Crept in its hallowed bloom, then wan and drear
It pity sought and love, but all had flown.

THOS. BAWN.

TRANSMOGRIFIED JACK BEAN.

A STARTLING SEA YARN.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

[As the following harrowing tale came direct from the lips of the unfortunate J. B. to the ears of the writer, and as the latter's veracity has never been questioned, it goes without saying that the tale must be accepted at the proper value of undiluted truth, and so pass into the record of tales undoubted.]

"I am, or wer, Jack Bean, o' Bath, Me.—mebbe ye know the Beans o' Bath?—mostly sailor men like ourselves, sir. Heerd on 'em, eh? Wal, I'm Jack, or wer, 'fore bein' transmogrified like ye see I am. I wer mate o' the schooner Three Sisters, o' Bath, a South Sea trader like yer own, sir, workin' the 'long pig' eaters fur palm ile 'n' spices with glitterin' strings o' glass beads, an' jewels o' like kaliber. To think o' the dangers I 'scaped fur years—dangers o' the sea, o' pestilence, o' bein' gobbled by the 'long pig' eaters an' fatted fur the spit, as onct I wer, but givin' 'em the slip afore the day o' roast come round; to think o' all them dangers that I got the weather gage on, on'y to git lured onto the shore o' destruction, as fur as the proper make up of a down East Yank, ar' consarned, by the false lights gleamin' in the eyes of a mermaid, a maid o' the sea made on false lines, havin' the rig'lar bild f'm figgerhead to midships, but fish bild aft, makes me ragin' mad at times, an' at others fills me with blue devils!

"If I wer a Mohammedan I should ca'mly ejackoolate 'Kismet!' an' ca'mly scuttle round as a man fish, waitin' the end with kemposure an' resignashen; but, bein' a Christian, I rage an' cuss or sulk an' snarl, jest as the fit takes me. It wer better to be Mohammedan, but I wern't rigged that way, an' don't know the ropes. 'Kismet!' ejackoolated forty times a day, furls no sails an' drops no anchor for me, who am allus tempest tost, knowin' no sech thing as ca'm!

"On this very ile, Cap'n, a stray, situated too fur fr'm nowher', an' not nigh enuff to anywher' to be settled on by 'long pig' eaters, or others, wer I stranded by them false lights I spoke of, an' deep down in the placid waters o' this here little cove wer I durin' a time, I don't know nuth'n' about; transmogrified, as ye see. Yes, down ther', by ways, an' means, an' spells infarnel, wer I cheated outen human shape, an' made to take on one most unhuman!

"The Three Sisters laid to off this ile one mornin', an' I come ashore with three men fur water. We run the boat on the little beach up yonder, an' while the men were fillin' the casks I went in fur swimmin' an' sportin' in the warm, still water that seemed to have a most soothin' affeck on one's feelin's an' sperits. I swum an' splashed about an' rolled on the white sand ontil I felt sech a goneness, somehow—not by no means onpleasant, but the cont'ry jest—that, findin' a rock for a piller, I jest lay ther' on my back, with my hands locked over my head, the water jest kiverin' me up to my breast, my tho'ts asleep an' my eyes gazin' dreamily 'way into the far beyond, seein', I dunno what, but scenes o' beauty sech as I never could a fancied at any time, not bein' rigged that way, an' which kep' a rollin' up 'n' up an' changin' all the time, like a never endin' paneramer rollin' up aloft.

"Bimeby them vari'd scenes o' b'uty kind o' faded out, the figgerhead an' bows o' the finest and snuggest little craft ye ever seen 'pearin' to view in their place, an' right in front 'o me, not a cable's length away. Now, what I mean is, the upper works or bust o' one 'o the loviest young wimmin I ever seen or dreamed on! Butiful as a dream was that lovely creature, notwithstandin' her long hair were a bright sea green, an' that a fine fuzz o' the same color kivered her face, arms and breastworks, with their charms so ravishin'! Yes, captivatin' wer that face, ravishin' wer that bust in spite 'o the sea green fuzz, an' lovely wer her hands in spite o' their bein' webbed like a duck's toes! These defecks didn't seem defecks in my eyes at the moment, fur I wer enchanted an' off my reg'lar sight, seein' on'y b'utles as I gazed!

"The eyes of the creacher which had captured an' captivated me were a deep sea blue, an' 'peared to be o' flame as they gazed into mine, which seemed to be cousumin', but 'greeably so, as they were rivited onto her'n. I tell ye, Cap'n, I wer jest dead gone on that b'uchus creacher, infatooated, charmed like a bird by a sarpint! I knowed she wer a maid o' the sea, a mermaid, a siren that would lure me to a fearful doom if I didn't git up an' git; yet I never budged a bit. Dunno's I could, but didn't try, didn't want to budge. Git away f'm that b'uchus creacher? Never! So I stayed to meet my doom.

"Wel, bimeby she began a weavin' an' a weavin', this way an' that way, gracefully as a bird, gainin' a little an' a little onto me, the weavin' motion kempletin' my entrancement, if it weren't kempleted afore. Then, like the soft Summer breezes of these Southern seas sighin' thro' the riggin', come a warblin' sound f'm her b'uchus lips, fillin' me with sech—wal, with such a feelin'—extisy, that's it—sech a feelin' o' extisy as angels on'y know fur keeps, an' mortals not more'n once in a lifetime, if ever! Lis'nin' to such melody as I had never heerd afore, I ketched a break out—no, that's too ha'sh—ket hed the sighin' zeffer tones of a love song comin' forth, the words o' which I never shall furgit, an' which wer these:

"'A lovin' she f'm out the sea,
Comes wooin' now an earthly he.
Oh, if this he will marry me,
How happy we shall ever be.
In coral halls we'll ever sing,
An' he shall ever be my king!'

"I didn't wait to hear no more—I couldn't—but, risin' to a settin' postur', stretched out my arms an' cried:

"'Oh, come to this boosum, oh, angel mine!
I love thee, my queen, an' forever am thine!'

"not meanin' to make po'try, as I did, it bein' born o' my entrancement, I s'pose. Weavin' an' a weavin', the b'uchus bein' approached, an' I, knowin', 't I'd a tho't, that her intenshens were anything but honor'ble, bein', as they wer, diabolical, an' thinkin' on'y o' claspin' her b'uchus bust to my beatin' boozum, I sot ther', a ready conquest an' a willin' sacrifice!

"A minit an' the b'uchus little craft hove 'longside, an' I made fast to her, my grapplin' irons (arms) claspin' an' holdin' that throbbin' bust o' b'uty to my own throbbin', brawny breast, fur keeps, I hoped—alas! in one respeck it wer fur keeps!—while her own long, soft, supple arms twined 'emselves 'bout my neck, as I glued my burnin' lips to her'n, which arterwards I 'membered wer cold an' clammy as well as salty! Tightly 'bout my neck she wounnd her lovin' an' limber arms—if I tho't at all at that delishus minnit, that's what I tho't o' them arms o' her'n—her webfooted hands closin' on my throat, follerin' which come a moist an' cool, an' somewhat sufficatin' sensashen, which feelin', however, wer not dis'greeable, but the con'try; while the soft sighin' music of a thousand sea shells sounded in my ears, fillin' my soul with rap'tur'! Up to this p'int I ken go, but no further, consheaness then steppin' out an' closin' tight behind her the door 'o memory! Alas! would that it never agin wer opened!

"But the time came when consheaness returned an' opened wide her doors, the effeck o' what wer revealed to my senses bein' so stunnin' an' paralyzin', that she come near steppin' out agin, but managed to hold, with her best bower out. How long it wer 'fore I come to, I dunno—they don't reckon time down in the coal depths ther'—but when I did, it wer in a coral cave o' raveshin' b'utys, wher' all the colors o' the rainbow glowed on all sides, an' even f'm the feathery sea ferns o' my couch. It wer light enuff, an' lookin' thro' the water, which didn't trubble my eyes at all, wer like lookin' thro' sea green glass o' perfeck clearness. Suddenly my charmer swum gracefully into the chamber an' wer soon alongside o' me, I foldin' her raveshin' bust to my brawny boosom, the questions I asked an' the wonder I expressed at bein' down ther' in the water, an' alive, causin' her to larf h'artily, the sound o' which larfter wer such as that of a thousan' tiny silver bells mont a b'en, rung in the water. It wer ravishin' but not satisfyin' at the moment. I wanted explanashens instid o' larfter, even tho' never so musikle.

"She swam out, however, 'thout explainin', the tinkle of her larfter ringin' in my ears. I should say here, that, not until I clasped her in my arms, had I noticed that the latter wer as limber as old rope, that my hands wer bound up in kelp as tough as Injy rubber, diskiverin', arter she sailed away, that the after part o' my hull, so to speak, were served with the same kind o' kelp, the thick stems bindin' me so I couldn't move that part o' me. 'Fore I could set my tho'ts to work, in swam my charmer, with one o' her male kind follerin'. Swimmin' up, the merman, grinnin' like a Cheshire cat, my charmer smilin' sweetly, set to work an' cleared away the kelp f'm my hands an' after part, when I diskivered, to my horrer, that I wer a—what? Oh, tell it not in Gath, Cap'n—Bath, I mean—diskivered that I wer a transmogrified sailor man—man fish—merman—mongril—monster! Man at the fore an' fish aft, 'ith fins, flippers 'n' flukes! That my hands wer webfooted, with bear's claws, 'parently, fur finger nails. Then it wer, the iron bein' driv' chock a block into my soul, that consheaness come nigh steppin' out agin—oh, that it had, an' forever!—so stunnin' an' paralyzin' wer the effeck o' the deskivery!

"What immejitly followed, on my part, wer weepin' an' wailin' an' 'nashin' o' teeth, them bein' followed by ravin' an' ragin' an' roarin' an' cussin', an' sech a mad an' f'rochus sloshin' about, with arms an' flippers an' fins an' tail workin' at full speed, that I wer left to fight it out alone, my charmer an' sole cause o' my awful transmogrification, with her male pal, skippin' out on the dubble quick.

"To tell the story of my manfish life for these five years—the term, if this be 'fifty two, as ye say, Cap'n—since I wer so woefully transmogrified, would fill up the log book of the biggest ship afloat. In course, after a time, ragin' an' ravin' an' sw'arin' an' cussin' doin' no good, I kind o' harf way submitted to the heavy hand o' fate, but with frekent spasms o' rage an' violence, in which the other critters suffered at times, tho' allus gittin' the best o' me by gangs. Notwithstandin' my savage disposition, caused by the transmogrificashen, I wer respeckted by the mermen and made their king. I didn't go a cent on the honor, an' didn't want it; but they did an' that settled it. Ye see, I were a strappin' young man, standin' six foot two, an' when turned out in my mongril shape wer the noblest merman of 'em all, as fur as size and b'lid wer consarned, an' that's why they made me king, ye see.

"If them critters, by the dev'lish arts that 'lowed 'em to transmogrify me into a hybrid o' their own sort, could on'y have run my mem'ry out o' the hawse hole, or stowed it down in the bilge, wher' most o' men's consheases are stowed, I mont a be'n happy as a merman; but with mem'ry at the fore I'm ragin' or sulkin' most o' the time. Them arts I speak of are continoually practised, thousands o' humans, some inve'gled by the sirens, but mostly those s'posedly around in the Southern seas, bein' transmogrified into mermen an' merwomen annually, 'many 'pearin' to like the change—mebbe I shell sometime. No, I don't know how they work the change, but they do. I never cared to know, but p'raps I shall some day.

"Marry down ther'? No; an' that 'minds me. When I'd got over the fust bust o' sorrer an' horrer at the change that had b'en diabolically worked in me, I seen my charmer an' told her that, as she'd b'en the g'ilty means o' my woeful transmogrificashen, the least she could do, to squar' herself, would be to marry me, assurin' her of my ondyin' love! She larfed that slivery, tinkle larf o' her'n, an' said ther' wer no marryin' or givin' in marrige down ther, love bein' free an' onconfined, which wer a shock to my noshens o' propriety, ye know.

"S'ciety with them, she said, wer much happier an' purer than wher' the marriage vows wer constantly bein' broke, wher' divorce follered fast on the heels o' wedlock, or, wher' the bonds couldn't be loosed, misery sot on the household helm; which popersishun I couldn't dispute. She 'lowed we could be lovers, free to roam as the uncurbed kelp o' Southern Seas, knowin' no sech bond as constancy Alas! she knows no sech bond, an' yet she wer a human woman onst—but mebbe that 'counts fur it, eh? human mortal bein' frail an' weak. If she wer mine, that ravisher of my h'art—my ownest own—I mout be happy even in this cruel shape. But mine fur keeps, all to myself, she won't be or can't be, an' I am more'n miser'ble—wretched! I spoke of her love song, an' asked her what she meant when she sung the second verse? She larfed and said that wer on'y to beg'ile me. Then she swum out an' away, one 'o her many lovers follerin' in her wake. Yes, life down thar ar' easy enuff an' wuthlivin', 'parently, to most on 'em, ther' bein' no so shel, domestic, p'litikle or religus trubbles to worry 'em, but 'tain't satisfyin' to me; mebbe some day 'twill be.

"Yes, ther's fun enuff o' the hoss play sort, as ye ken imagin! Danger? Not much. Most f'm airthquakes, when they come, which ain't of'n. Now 'n' then a devil fish or sword fish gits in his work, sharks hardly ever—ain't quick enuff.

"Young 'uns? Lots; but they take care o' ther selves soon's born, an' ain't no trubble, as they b'long to nobody—mebbe that's why the transmogrified wimmin like it down ther'!

"Any o' the 'riginal stock o' mermen ther? Oh, yes; but the mungrils, bein' the biggest, rule the roost—I'm the biggest of our tribe.

"No, we don't know nuth'n' o' time down ther'. Night's no diff'rent f'm day, owin' to fosferescence, both bein' light enough, 'cept when it storms. As fur years, nobody knows whether 'tis this year or last year, 'n' don't care."

[Here the transmogrified sailor man observed that his skin—fish skin—was getting dry, and that he must get into the soak and limber up; so, touching his "web footed" hand for a shake, the tears trembling on his eyelids, he scuttled into the pellucid waters of the cove, and I saw him no more, poor fellow!]

MAYNE BRACE.

AD INFINITUM.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER,
BY EARLE REMINGTON.

Twin soul of mine, altho' so far away,
Dost feel across the miles my heart today?
Do my thoughts echo yours? and do you know
The anguish of my soul, its every throe?
There is, they say, a strange magnetic chain—
Hearts once united, n'er can part again.
Oh, tell me, absent one, if in thy dreams
A form like mine appears, and with thee seems
A part of thee, and yet a chasm deep,
Divides thee from me, even in thy sleep?
So do I dream of thee, and nightly pray
The chasm may be bridged by love some day,
For mine thou wast, thou art and thou shalt be—
Mine, mine, yes, mine for all eternity!

BERNARD DYLLYN.

Bernard Dyllyn (John B. Condon), the descriptive baritone vocalist, was born at Brooklyn, N. Y., April 7, 1855. His family moved to San Francisco in 1864, and a year later he was apprenticed to learn the trade of plumber and gas fitter. He devoted the next five years to this occupation. While thus employed he began singing evenings at a place known as the Charing Cross. His voice at that time was a light baritone. Disliking his trade after he had learned it, he became a collector for an insurance company, working during business hours and singing evenings. In 1874 he made his first really professional appearance with Ware & Lenton's Vaudeville Show at San Francisco, and made a tour through lower California. Mr. Dyllyn remained at San Francisco until 1876, and then went to Virginia City, Nev., to fill an engagement at Hockings & Peters' Adelphi Theatre. Mr. Dyllyn played the leading varieties until 1881, and then came East and played a short engagement at the Howard Athenæum, Boston, under the management of Rich & Harris. After that he played the principal cities. At the close of the season he joined Sam Devere's "Jaspar" Co., in which he created the part of an Italian heavy. In 1882–3 he appeared with Niles, Evans, Bryant & Hoey's Meteors. In 1883–4 he was with J. J. Dowling's "Nobody's Claim," under the management of James S. Alexander, in which he created the Irish role of Major McWaddigan, and scored a hit. He remained with that company until the middle of the following season, and was then secured by Daniel Sully for "The Capital Prize," which was played at Tony Pastor's, this city, creating a dual role of an Irishman and Italian. In 1884–5 he was engaged by Wm. J. Gilmore for "The Devil's Auction," and made a speaking part of Toby, which had originally been played in pantomime by James S. Maffitt. At the close of the season he went to England for the purpose of study and observation. Upon his return he brought with him "Across the Bridge" and "The Seven Ages," which had been sung by Charles Godfrey, a descriptive vocalist. In 1885–6 Mr. Dyllyn was engaged in "We, Us & Co.," under W. A. Mestayer's management. The following season he appeared with Hallen and Hart in "Later On," meeting with success. In 1886–7 he again traveled with Mestayer's "We, Us & Co." In 1887–8 he was re-engaged by Hallen and Hart, and the latter part of that season he appeared for four weeks in "Tobogganing." In 1888–9 he was specially engaged to go to San Francisco by Hallen and Hart for a short season, where he did his specialties. In 1889–90 he was one of the strongest features in Monroe & Rice's "My Aunt Bridget" Co. In 1890–1 he was engaged for two seasons by Jennie Kimball for the Corinne Co. Mr. Dyllyn has introduced many popular songs.

MONSIEUR wanted the picture hung to the right; madam wanted it on the left. But monsieur insisted that the servant should hang the picture according to his orders. Consequently Joseph stuck a nail in the wall on the right, but this done, he also went and stuck another in on the left. "What is that second nail for?" his master inquired, in astonishment. "It's so as to save me the trouble of fetching the ladder tomorrow when monsieur will have come round to the views of madam."

"THERE will have to be some new rules made or something like that, or else I will have to quit," said the young lady in the telephone office to the chief clerk. "What's the trouble?" "Some of the things that are said over the wires are exceedingly disagreeable and not proper for me to hear." "Oh, that's all right," was the brutal reply. "You can't expect to work around electricity and not get shocked."—Merchant Traveler.

I DON'T think I shall call on Miss Nappings again," he said, reflectively. "Why?" "She made use of the expression, 'the late unpleasantness,' last night." "What of that?" "She said it in a way that left me in doubt whether she meant me or the war."

"IS MR. SMITH a very religious man?" "I never saw a more devoted man in all my life. He attends all the parish fairs, takes shares in all the raffles, and when it comes to Copenhagen he is the very life of the church."

Boston and Philadelphia See New Plays—Other Openings, Etc.

[Special Dispatches to The New York Clipper.]

BOSTON, May 17.—"A Fool's Paradise" was presented first time on any stage, under that title, and was quite successful at the Tremont last night. It is a three act piece by Sydney Grundy, and has for its theme a wife's attempt to poison her husband, and the frustration of that attempt by an eccentric old doctor. E. S. Willard's impersonation of Sir Peter Lunt, the doctor, is admirable. The character is well studied and reproduced with painstaking naturalness to the most minute details. The support was good, but not distinguished. Marie Wainwright has a light comedy part, and plays it in a very acceptable manner ..... "The House on the Marsh" drew a huge house to the Grand Opera. The play is in four acts, and is full of fine dramatic situations, which are thoroughly worked up. Mervyn Dallas created a most favorable impression with the character of Gervase Rayner alias Jim Woodfall. Kate Vandenhoff's work as the Governess was extremely creditable..... The reconstructed "1492" filled the Globe to overflowing with an audience wildly enthusiastic..... Alex. Salvini scored a success as Don Cæsar at the Boston Theatre, which was packed to the doors ..... "Old Jed Prouty" was greeted by hosts of friends at the Hollis, and Richard Golden got a tremendous ovation ..... R. B. Mantell, in "Monbars," was cordially welcomed at the Bowdoin Square..... "The Colleen Bawn" drew well at the Museum ..... "The Junior Partner" had good business at the Columbia, as had Barry and Fay at the Park, and the French Folly Co., at the Howard..... One of the best specialty shows of the season drew big audiences to Keith's Bijou, and "Robert Macaire" was creditably produced at the Palace ..... The dime shows and the Boston Circus had full houses day and night..... James A. Montgomery, a well known theatrical man and opera singer, attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon at Saville's Hotel, in Bowdoin Square. He registered at the hotel Sunday night, coming from Portland, Me., and was to appear at the Palace Theatre yesterday afternoon in "Robert Macaire." The part assigned him was that of the marquis. Mr. Montgomery was out of sorts when he woke up yesterday morning. He remained in bed until long after the noon hour. At twenty minutes past one o'clock the proprietor of the hotel went up to his room and told him what time it was. Knowing that he was expected at the theatre at half-past one, Mr. Montgomery said he would get up at once. About fifteen minutes later he was found lying across the bed with his throat cut. He had used a razor inflicting a dangerous wound, but was still conscious, and informed those who had rushed into the room that he was tired of life and wanted to die. The wound was such a serious one that he was taken at once to the hospital. He may not recover. Mr. Montgomery is about forty-five years of age, is married, and has several children. His family lives at Malden. He was recently with the Bostonians, being stage manager and character man.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—"Her Ladyship," a three act comedy, by H. Grattan Donnelly, which received its first local production before a very large audience at the Broad Street Theatre, needs but little retouching before achieving emphatic success. It has already received the stamp of approval from a friendly audience. Several very novel situations were enthusiastically applauded, and, barring pardonable nervousness on the part of the company, the play passed off smoot ly. Helen Barry scored a personal triumph, having the advantage of the best role, in which she has been seen for seasons. It fits her perfectly, and she makes the most of it. The breezy work of Charles Bowser and Odell Williams deserves particular mention..... A crowded house attended Aug. Dale's presentation of "The Foresters" at the Chestnut Street Opera House..... "The Little Tycoon" was revived to a good house at the Chestnut..... A noteworthy revival of "Aida" crowded the Grand Opera House ..... A big audience applauded "The Danger Signal" at the Empire ..... "The Struggle of Life" filled the National ..... "The Creole" was acceptably revived to good houses at Forepaugh's ..... The Bijou was packed day and night..... "My Colleen" made a hit on its local production at the People's. ..... A big house filled the Lyceum, where the London Gaiety Girls held forth ..... The house bills at the Standard and Girard Avenue were moderately patronized..... "Little Tippett" continued at the Walnut to good business.

CHICAGO, May 17.—Fanny Davenport, at the Chicago Opera House, began her two weeks' engagement in "Cleopatra" to a house that was completely filled ..... The A. M. Palmer Co., at Hooley's, opened its last week with "The Broken Seal" to another crowded house..... Sol Smith Russell, at the Grand, entered upon his fifth and final week with "Peaceful Valley" as the attraction. The attendance continues large..... "The Lost Paradise," at the Columbia, was largely attended..... West Siders crowded the Haymarket to witness "Ship Ahoy!" ..... One of the biggest openings was at the Alhambra, where Tony Pastor's Co. drew an enthusiastic house. Standing room was hardly obtainable..... Ada Gray, in "East Lynne," drew well at Havlin's..... Rose Coghlan, in "Nance Oldfield" and "Lady Barter," opened her last week with a well pleased house of good size..... Frank Mayo, at the Windsor, in "Davy Crockett," and "Forgiven," at the Clark Street, are the North Side attractions.

BUFFALO, May 17.—The glare of the calcium illuminated a new comic opera last night—"The Isle of Champagne," by C. A. Byrne and Louis Harrison. It proved a genuine success, and the tuneful melodies of Composer W. W. Furst are born to live in popular favor. The superb mountings, by Henry E. Hoyt, charmed the eye, and Buffalo has not before seen its equal, while the abundant wit and humor of the libretto was interpreted by Thomas Q. Seabrooke and his quartet of comedians, which, as a whole, amused the vast audience greatly. Mr. Seabrooke has not only secured an apparent money winner in the opera, but he has discovered a prima donna of unusual attainments in Minnie Landes. Mr. Furst conducted the orchestra. The efforts of Elvia Crox, Otis Harlan, Lee Harrison and Walter Allen were deserving of the praise received.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—"Mr. Wilkinson's Widows" opened to an excellent houseful of its original admirers, the play having received its premier here last season ..... The Carleton Opera Co. opened its third week of Summer opera, presenting "The Mikado" in a creditable manner to a good house ..... Frank I. Frayne Jr., in "The Boy Ranger," at Harris' Bijou, had excellent business ..... The International Vaudevilles, at Kernan's, met with an enthusiastic reception from a houseful of people..... The Academy is closed..... Jacobs & Stutt's Co., engaged for "The Nutmeg Match," which will be produced at St. Paul June 6 have been called for rehearsal, commencing 17. Annie Lewis, who is to be the star, left here last night, with a great send off from her friends, wishing her the good luck she so eminently deserves.

MILWAUKEE, May 17.—The Duff Opera Co., in "The Queen's Mate," opened to a fine attendance at the Davidson last evening ..... At the Academy, Effie Ellsler, in "Hazel Kirke," received excellent patronage Sunday afternoon and evening, and drew a good house last evening ..... The Orpheum Novelty Co. had two good houses for the Standard Sunday and a well filled house last night..... Sam T. Jack's Lilly Clay Co. closed a phenomenal week's business Sunday at the People's, and the Early Birds Burlesque Co. opened well last night ..... E. J. Holland's Snow began their second week here last night with the tents filled full.

PITTSBURG, May 17.—For the first time in many weeks, the Sunday openings were accomplished to fine weather. The Carey-Learock Dramatic Co. opened a week's engagement at the Grand 15, in "Woman Against Woman," and crowded houses were out to greet it..... Newton Beers did equally well at the Ninth Street in "Eloped with a Circus Girl"..... The "Joshua Simpkins" Co. closed their season here 14, and left for New York City immediately.

PITTSBURG, May 17.—Kate Claxton opened to an immense house at the Alvin last night, in "The Two Orphans." ..... "The County Fair" had an excellent house at the Grand Opera House ..... Kate Castleton's "Dazzler" turned people away from the Bijou before seven o'clock ..... "The Merry Cobbler" jammed Harris', as did Flynn & Sheridan's City Sports at Williams' Academy ..... Both Harry Davis' and the World's Theatre-Museums were crowded day and night..... More than 10 000 people were turned away from the Barnum-Bailey Show last night.

LOUISVILLE, May 17.—The Bijou opened the second weeks' engagement with the Bijou Opera Co. to two crowded houses ..... The Buckingham was filled to overflowing to see the Paris Gaiety Girls ..... Wonderland, under the new management of W. D. Westlake, was crowded all day..... The Gem and the Standard had fair openings.

CINCINNATI, May 17.—The wardrobes of "The Two Old Cronies" failed to arrive in time, and Frank M. Wills and company proceeded at Harris' in "makeups" that were unique and ludicrous ..... "The South Before the War" drew well at the People's..... "Tuxedo" attracted a good audience to the Grand ..... The Grau Opera Co. will be the Highland House Summer attraction.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—At the Haymarket, standing room was in demand last week for the Bostonians. The week opened May 9 to a packed house. "Robin Hood" was the attraction. It was followed by "Carmen," "Fatinitza," "Dorothy" and "The Bohemian Girl." "Ship Ahoy!" 15, "Tuxedo" 22.

MCVICKER'S.—"The Cheek Book" was repeated during the second week of Rose Coghlan's engagement with good attendance at the opening. It fell off slightly later in the week. "Nance Oldfield" and "Lady Barter" will be given week of 15. "Shore Acres Subdivision" 23, by McVicker's Stock.

COLUMBIA.—"The Lost Paradise" attracted fine houses during the first week. The piece made a hit when it was first presented at this house, and the success of the present engagement is a natural sequence. The company remains three more weeks.

GRAND.—Sol Smith Russell's fourth week was a repetition, in point of attendance, of the weeks that preceded it. The bill was changed to "Peaceful Valley." Mr. Russell's fifth and last week will begin 15. "The Isle of Champagne" 23 for seven weeks.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—"Natural Gas" last week, had good attendance. Fanny Davenport 16, for two weeks.

HOOLEY'S.—"Alabama," in its second week at this house, was given to a succession of big houses. The warmth of its reception was fully equal to that of the first week of the engagement, and there is much regret that the play is to give way this week to Mr. Palmer's new play, "The Broken Seal." The Kendals 23.

ACADEMY.—"Forgiven" drew well last week, with Frederic Bryton and Ralph Delmore at the head. Eva Mountford 15, Frank Mayo 22.

UNDER WHITE TENTS

THE ADVANCE CAR, No. 1, of the Irwin Bros.' All Feature Railroad Show, left Buffalo, N. Y., April 17 in charge of the genial Charles B. White, with eighteen men. Joe Freebury has charge of the paper, Wm. Gleason assistant. The bill posters, lithographers and programmers are: Christ O'Neil, George Rusch, Thos. Coleman, Harry Pletz, H. Rosenberry, F. Lamphier, Harry Hanna, Henry Baun, Jos. Woods, Frank Barry, Wm. Keefer, Byron Freebury and Ed. Smith. Capt. White has named the car the "Hustler." It is a marvel of beauty, and was built expressly for Irwin Bros. and John Winter at a cost of $6,000. It has a pure snow white exterior, with enameled trimmings and gold letters. It is without a doubt one of the finest and best equipped advance cars ever placed on the road, with all of the latest improvements. The elegant private office is beautifully wainscoated with French plate mirrors from roof to the floor, and is a dazzler and a surprise to all. Aside from that there are twenty single folding berths, and last, but not least, a musical calliope awakes the denizens when entering a town. Manager White reports that since they have been out that his men have made an average of 10,000 sheets of paper per week in the country, and his competent staff is doing some fine work. The second brigade is also doing some clever work. The boys all swear by the "Old Reliable."

NOTES FROM T. K. BURK'S SHOWS.—Business since the opening date has been immense, despite the fact that at many points the weather was bad. The Laclede Bros., double traps, and Kittie Laclede, vocalist, joined at Wheeling, W. Va., May 6. Flohr and Adams, musicians, were additions to the band last week. De Forrest Davis, one of the railroad contractors, visited the show at Columbus, O., 2. E. M. Burk has gone ahead of the show. Prince Kokin has imported another little Jap for the Japanese troupe. Several new wagons were purchased for the show by the manager, while at Columbus. One of the Mazello Bros. fell from a balancing ladder, a distance of forty feet, during the performance at Zanesville, 8, but escaped severe injury. Wilson Bott, a former attache of the show, was a visitor at Pittsburg, 9. The show this season is much stronger in every department than formerly. The Roman hippodrome races and spectacular "Cinderella," are new and novel features. To say that the ghost walks regularly is almost superfluous, as it never fails with the Burk Shows. The band of eighteen men, under Prof. Rollins, is an acknowledged winner. Considerable excitement was caused by the escape from the den of a large black bear, at Washington, Pa., but was headed and caged by the leader before doing damage.

THE ZEREETHS were obliged, through the illness of Ida Zereeth, to cancel their engagement with Wm. Main & Co.'s Show. Eddie Zereeth and child have joined hands with the Oberlys, Ed. and Beulah, and have just closed a tour of nine weeks through Ohio. They were to open under canvas at Woodstock, O., May 16, with the following roster: Oberly & Zereeth, proprietors and managers; C. S. Lawson, advance agent; Ollie Freburger, master of transportation; the Oberlys, Ed. R. Murphy, Little Denella, the Zereeths, Prof. Julius Heintz and Orrin Bros.' brass band. They will carry a 100ft. round top and 2 8x40 side show canvas, twelve head of horses and six canvas men.

CHAS. ELLIS, manager of advertising car, No. 2, for the Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows, aided by E. J. Green, F. Otto, B. Lester and F. Ward, while at Kansas City, put up one of the largest circus banners ever constructed in this country. It contained four hundred sheets of paper, was 100ft. long by 30ft. high, and was placed on a six story building situated at the corner of Eleventh and Maine Streets. While the banner was being hoisted to its place it kept the police force busy keeping the thoroughfare clear.

THE WINTERMUTE BROS.' CIRCUS opened May 2, at Whitewater, Wis., to reported big business. In spite of bad weather, the show reports having done good business through Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois. The following is the roster: Harry, Thos. and Halsey Wintermute, proprietors; James Cunningham, Chester Roy, Geo. Russell, Al. Gilmore, Jas. Wing, Jas. Freeman, the Paxton Bros., Ida Lewis, Jennie Heartspur, Madeline Jennings, Geo. Willey, T. B. Slone, T. J. Wolf, Paul Heltzwebel and Walter R. Hinman's band of ten pieces, Geo. Hanson's troupe of dogs and Prof. Harpens' troupe of performing ponies and trick mules.

CAPT. JACK SUTTON is doing well at Sydney, Aus., with his "Wild Sports of American Frontier Life."

ERBS' NEW SENSATION SHOWS has been on the road since April 30, and, despite lots of rain, business has been good. The roster: John Erbs, sole proprietor and manager; Frank Leopold, director of amusements; J. F. Showers, announcer; Zollers, Litz and Ceno, Grant Williams, Charley Hunter, Fred Slaughter, Vint Komiskey and Prof. Dick Gilham's Juvenile Band.

PROF. JAS. H. BURTON & CO.'S EQUINE AND CANINE CARNIVAL, Shetland ponies and dogs, have twenty-five white German poodles, eight somersault dogs and twelve leaping hounds. Their Roman revolving pyramid is pretty, built up with ponies and dogs. They carry a brass band and orchestra. Their canvas is a 100ft. round top, with two 45ft. middle pieces, horse tent and cook tent. The dressing top is a 50ft. round top. They travel in two palace cars. The tour will open May 23 at Buchanan, Mich., playing one week of one night stands. After that they have three day and week stands. Pete Rogers has charge of the canvas, with twelve assistants.

MANAGER JOHN B. DORIS' museum interests in this city occupy his whole attention, consequently he is not, and will not be, interested in any circus enterprise during the present tenting season.

ROSTER OF PARTY NO. 29, Kickapoo Medicine Co.: Dr. Kit Kenyon, manager and lecturer; Prof. A. H. Davis, Eddie Young, Peter Fen and five Kickapoo Indians.

A TRAVELING menagerie in Hungary was overtaken by a flood May 10, and was almost completely wrecked. The proprietor's wife and many beasts were drowned. A Bengal tiger and two leopards escaped from their cages and appeared at a neighboring village fair, where they injured a policeman before they were shot.

CAPT. BLAKELY & PROF. ARMOND open their tent show the week of May 16 at Reading, Mass. One of the leading features is Wm. Conture, the strong man.

UMATILLA INDIAN MEDICINE CO., No. 14: Dr. M. Campbell, proprietor; Dr. F. Cole, lecturer and manager; Nellie Cole, Joe Earl, stage manager; C. R. La Mont, Lee Lolla, Bert Flash, Chief Longfeather, Red Fox, Princess Prairie Flower and papoose Blue Flower. They are in Southeastern Ohio and report good business. They open camp in about two weeks.

THE regular tenting season of the Great International Railroad Shows opened auspiciously May 5, at San Antonio, Tex. The opening was creditable. The roster: W. H. Pomeroy, lessee and manager; T. B. Long, contracting and general agent; Frank De Leon, treasurer; Milton M. Lyon, press representative; John Lewis, manager side show annex; Wm. Connors, master transportation; T. J. Clancey, boss canvas man; Griel Valentine, Prof. T. P. Fallon, the Earl Sisters, Prof. C. H. Long, Alf. Dorian, the Leons, the Dixon Bros. and Jos. Scott.

HOWE AND SULLY, fat boxers, left the Forepaugh Show at Pottstown, Pa., and opened on Robinson's Musee circuit.

THE HARPER BROS.' NEW EUROPEAN SHOWS opened at Millbury, Mass., May 9, to packed tents both afternoon and evening. The acts of the Rice Bros., Delmair, the Three Renos and in fact all the principal acts met with approval from the vast assemblage. The addition of two Normandy horses is a feature in the annex. Everything is brand new about the show, and the prospects are bright.

SIMCO AND PALARO have signed with Santelle's Circus.

HORSON AND HART have joined F. W. Pike's Circus. W. H. Hopkins will act as equestrian director.

I. S. Loos has joined the band with Walter L. Main's Shows.

C. W. COMPTON writes that he was compelled to cancel his engagement as agent of the La Pearl Show, on account of sickness. He adds that he gave the customary notice.

DR. C. L. DE LEON and Mrs. Dr. Ella De Leon have signed with the staff of doctors with the Turkish Medicine Co., of Topeka, Kan., for the Summer.

FOR THE last time this season the stakes were pulled with Nellie McHenry's "A Night at the Circus" Co., at the Harlem Opera House, this city, May 14. But for Miss McHenry's invariable rule of resting during the hot weeks, the company might have profitably continued their tour through the entire Summer. The closing two weeks, at the Grand and Harlem Opera Houses respectively, were two of the biggest of the r highly prosperous season. At the "McHenry Round Top," Long Branch, N. J., the "show goes into Summer quarters," and the wild man of Borneo will disport himself in the surf until July 15, when the Fall and Winter campaign begins.

HUNTING'S CIRCUS opened their tour at New Castle, Pa., April 30. The roster: Robt. Hunting, proprietor and manager; M. B. Hyman, general agent; S. Wilson, contracting agent; H. H. Hays, in charge of Car No. 1, with sixteen men; S. B. Smith, programmes; M. B. Lynch, lithographer; Robt. Whittaker, equestrian director; S. Linsey, master of stock, with twenty-five men; James Wilson, master of canvas, with twenty-two men; N. B. Clark, boss of ring stock; Mart. Monroe, boss of animals; M. Parker, train master, with ten men; Robt. Whittaker, Miss Streta, Lewis Hunting, Bob Hunting, Frank Christy, Frank Cotton, Pelit and McVey, De Hollis, Mlle. Cereta, the Christle Bros., the Booths, Little Eagle, Senorita Tatala, Millie Petate, Girard and Earl, Prof. Harry Mohan, Sig. Bonnie, Geo. Hayes, Prof. Chas. Griffin and Prof. W. C. Young and band of twelve men.

THE ORIENTAL RAILROAD SHOW began their tour May 1 at Greenweed, Miss. Roster: John Sparks, proprietor; H. C. Long, manager and railroad contractor; Otto Glaiser, boss canvas man, with eight assistants; Scott Martin, advance, with one car and five assistants; Maggie Deburg, Will Brown, Hattie Richard, Joe Richard, Sam Wright, Kate Wright, Bob Parker, Dominick Roath, G. V. Parsons, Master Charley Long, Louis Garner, Freddie Marteles, Demouth, Joe Rosse, Flora St. Clair, Sig. Montebella, Harry Williams, Oscar Hart and Jack Barnes.

Concert people—Duncan Bros., A. G. Moore, Chas. Boyd, Billy Tooley, Katie Howe and Miss Ashton. The season opened at Lancaster, Pa., April 30 to good business and has continued so up to date. The show travels by wagon and carries an entire new outfit of tents, wagons and general paraphernalia. The show will tour Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

DR. TOM HALL, manager of Party No. 39, Kickapoo Medicine Co., was made a member of Cumberland Lodge, K. P., while at Springhill, N. S. On 12 he was presented by the members of his party with a pin, emblematic of the order.

NOTES FROM PETER CONKLIN'S WAR MUSEUM.—We met the Robinson Show May 3 at Huntington, W. Va. We fell in with the Walter L. Main Show 10. Prof. Long's band serenaded the veteran clown. We expect to go against the Barnum-Bailey Show 19. The armless Congo wonder proves a big attraction.

RINGLING NOTES.—We have had barbaric weather, and the big elephant has had a sore head pushing band wagons out of the mud. Men and horses are all worn out. A thoroughbred hippodrome steed fell dead at Animosa, Ia. We are out two stands, Monroe, Wis., where the sinking lot was abandoned after pitching tents, and Maquoketa, Ia., which we jumped altogether. But from private information other shows have fared worse. At Kansas City, encamped on a pool of liquid mud, with low hung clouds leaking barrels of rain and acres of opposition billing and "walt" paper, the clouded outlook had no silver lining. But the Ringlings had out paper enough to bill the walls of China, and after the big parade, in spite of blinding rain and splashing mud, the tents were black with swarming humanity afternoon and night. At Savannah, Ill., two miles separated hotel and show lot, but we rode to and fro on a special train, which the Ringlings chartered to save their performers from eating at the cook tent. We are rather high toned people, and the best hotels are none too good for us. At Kansas City a gang of six went out to see the red elephant. They missed the train, but made the next town just in time for parade with a look round the eyes which recalled Billy Pinkerton's motto, "We Never Sleep." Whether they rode on bumpers, caboose or Pullman is, in Dundreary's language, "One of them things nobody can find out."

THE semi annual meeting of the State Bicycle Association was held last week at Utica, N. Y. The president, Samuel Pratt, of New York, presided. The following delegates were present: George Castle, Syracuse; James H. Staats, Lockport; C. M. Whitmyre, Buffalo; Edward A. Stahlbrodt, Rochester; C. E. Clayton, Niagara Falls; L. W. Eaton, Auburn; Mrs. John Short, Binghamton; W. J. McAlister, Troy; Thomas Hagan, Albany; Joseph Wallace, Oswego, and John Napier, Utica. There were two sessions. Charles Wood, of Jamaica L. I.; Frank E. Bates, of Canandaigua; Albert R. Perry, of Batavia, and Joseph Wallace, of Oswego, were elected members of the association. James H. Staats and L. W. Eaton were elected delegates to the national convention, which is to be held at Rochester July 12 and 13. The following executive committee was appointed: Edward A. Stahlbrodt, C. M. Whittmyre and W. J. McAllister. It was decided to hold the next State convention at Buffalo, Nov. 15. A resolution was adopted asking the re-election of Edward A. Stahlbrodt as president of the National association. The State Association has now a membership of twenty. The object of the association is to equalize prices throughout the State, and to protect local bill-posters from fraudulent show agents. The National Association consists of seven State associations.

THE LA PEARL SHOW opened its season at Vandalia, Ill., May 5, to excellent business. The show runs as smooth as a top. We carry a 90ft. round top, with two 30ft. middle pieces, travel by rail, and carry about forty-five people. Our band, under the leadership of Prof. Hale Vandercook, is a strong feature of the show, and numbers fifteen pieces. The roster includes J. H. La Pearl, manager and proprietor; Walter Slaybaugh, treasurer; W. H. Quinette, equestrian director; Prof. H. A. Vandercook, leader of band, with fifteen musicians; S. Smith, boss canvas man with ten assistants; S. Curry, boss property man, with three assistants; Trover, Vanpatson and McDonald, W. P. Mathews, Tony Loca, Howard Beall, Ed. McDonald, Frank Ross, Prof. La Pearl, Rosy Carmen, Little Harry La Pearl, Little Roy, Mrs. J. H. La Pearl, Fred Jones, W. P. Mathews, Fred Jackson, W. H. Quinette, Fred Jones, Lee Michaels, M. W. McQuigg and H. Windrop.

THE MORRIS THEATRE CIRCUS CO. opened their preliminary season at Springfield, Mass., May 9. The roster: Prof. Morris, proprietor; Ed. C. Glassford, business manager; Frank Harriman, with two assistants, in advance; Viola Rivers, the La Martini Brothers, the Girards, George Kline, Mamie Kline, Walton and Slaven Karl and Castellat, the De Greaus, Chas. Horvitt, the Beech Children, Geo. Carron, the Holloway Sisters, the Dockwell Sisters, Leon Morris and Nettie Morris.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston.—In my letter of May 2 I wrote, on what I considered excellent authority, that the Howard Athenæum would not be opened after the present season. I regret that I was led into error in the matter, but we are all liable to be misled, more especially when information is imparted from a source hitherto considered entirely reliable. In conversation with Manager Harris last week he most decidedly pronounced the rumor as not having the slightest foundation in fact, and pleasantly remarked: "You may rest assured that if such action was contemplated, THE CLIPPER would know it as soon as anyone, and you may say in your next letter that I will manage the house next season as usual."

GLOBE THEATRE.—Manager Stetson's house, which was closed during the past week, for the purpose of rehearsing Barnet and Flieuger's operatic extravaganza, "1492" opened 16, for the production of that piece. More than ordinary interest has been caused in regard to the play, and particularly in view of the fact that one of the authors, Mr. Barnet, will make his debut as a professional. He will impersonate his original role of Isabella, "The Daisy Queen of Spain," and will be supported by the following cast: Alonzo, T. E. Stutson; Prince Juan, H. V. Thayer; Felix, Harry A. Edgerly; Ferdinand of Arragon, H. G. Lonsdale; Christopher Columbus, Lon F. Brine; Capt. Martin Pinzon, George A. Schiller; Don Pedro, Margarite, Charles S. Abbe; Charles VIII, King of France, Carl Adams; The Royal Herald, Lulu Hesse; Jim Confidence, C. J. Alden; Bob, James F. Lee; Infanta Joanna, Maude Williams; Infanta Catalina, Maud Evelyne; Brigida Murfe, Mary Ann, Marie Hilton; Fernando Fernandez, Grace Tabor. New scenery has been painted by Voeghtlin and Lawson, the mechanical effects have been radically improved over those provided in the amateur production and new ballet movements have been added, and among the features will be a "serpentine" dance by Mlle. Florence. The production will be under the direction of Stage Manager Jas. A. Gilbert, and is booked for two weeks.

BOSTON THEATRE.—Alex. Salvini's engagement here has thus far proven a big success. Immense audiences convened at all performances of "The Three Guardsmen. This week will be presented "Don Cæsar de Bazan," which has not been staged here for years.

TREMONT THEATRE.—"John Needham's Double" drew big audiences last week to the Tremont, and again did E. S. Willard give evidence of his versatility. This week he appears in the first American performance of Sydney Grundy's comedy drama, "A Fool's Paradise." Marie Burroughs appeared in the support as Kate Derwent, and others in the cast are Miss Maxim Elliott, Mamie Craddock, Louis Massen and Royce Carleton. The play will probably hold the stage next week, as there is no underline for that date. "A Fool's Paradise" is Mr. Grundy's old play, "The Mouse Trap," re-christened.—ED. CLIPPER.]

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Once more we have genial "Dick" Golden, with "Old Jed Prouty," all the way from Bucksport, Me. The play has been entirely revamped and immensely improved, with new scenery by William Schaeffer and new effects throughout. Next week, Prof. Herrmann.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—Lewis Morrison gave his splendid impersonation of Mephisto in "Faust" to crowded houses last week, and added hundreds of warm admirers he already possessed here. This week Robert Mantell holds the boards. Lillian Durell appears next week, and will close the season with "Mignon," supported by her own company, a chorus and increased orchestra.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"The House on the Marsh," Mervyn Dallas' dramatization of Florence Warden's powerful story, and which had a run in England, is the attraction this week at Proctor & Mansfield's house. The play will have its first presentation in this country night of 16, and Resident Manager Mansfield has made extensive preparations for staging it in a manner commensurate with the liberal character of the house. Mr. Dallas appears in the role of Jim Woodfall, and the others in the cast are James Maas, Harry St. Maur, Tyrone Power, Frank Apperman, Irving Williams, L. Power, Kate Vandenhoff, Ida Solee, Florence Hastings, Marie Stuart and Mercedes Turner, the last named lady being especially engaged for the part of Anita Vasquez, the housekeeper. Next week, Robert Mantell.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—"The Junior Partner" has made a bit, and a most decided one. It is booked till further orders, the curtain raiser this week being a little comedy, entitled "Twenty Minutes Under an Umbrella," with Henry Miller and Mrs. Bouicicault in the roles.

BOSTON MUSEUM.—"The Colleen Bawn" drew good business last week, and will be presented this week on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and Wednesday afternoon. Then it will be shelved to make way for "New Lamps for Old" and "Robert Macaire" on Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon. Saturday evening Miriam O'Leary will present "Lady Jess" and "Betty's Finish" for her benefit, which, beyond doubt, will be as the charming young actress deserves—a most substantial one. The Summer season opens next week with Chas. Dickson in "Incog."

PARK THEATRE.—Of Barry and Fay, in "McKenna's Flirtation," I can only say that the Park is far too small to hold the hundreds who flock there to witness this absurdity, which compels a laugh from first to last. It is booked for a continued run.

HOWARD ATHENÆUM.—Pete Maher's company of specialists and boxers did a very fair business last week, and are succeeded this week by the French Folly Co. Next week, John L. Sullivan, in "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands."

GAIETY AND BIJOU THEATRE.—Manager Keith is taking solid comfort this month. He has given up entire attention to business, and, although in town, is but rarely seen at his theatre and then only for a few minutes. But the usual fine business goes on just the same under the personal supervision of Mr. Keith's able lieutenant, E. F. Albee, general manager of all his amusement enterprises, whose thorough knowledge of every detail in connection with the Philadelphia, Providence and Boston houses enables him to fully care for their interests. An excellent bill has been prepared for this week, nearly three dozen people appearing on the programme. They are: Harding and Ah Sid, Petrie and Elise, Littlefield, Wm. Conrad, Guyer and Goodwin, Quaker City Quartet, H. Foden, La Mothe and Maynard, Prince and Princess Tanaka, Ryan and Ritchfield, May Sears, Cradge, Petrie Bros., Lynch and Lovely, Geo. C. Davis, the Emmetts, Kennedy and Gorman, Fisher and Walton, and Prof. Tipitorf.

PALACE THEATRE.—The Summer season of opera opens here 16, the first selection being "Robert Macaire," which, revised and improved, will be produced under the direction of Louis McGowan. The company comprises Harry C. Clarke, John Saunders, Carl Alberte, Jas. Alexander, Wm. I. Clarke, George Carruth, W. A. Goddard, Hugo Leonard, Wilhelm Strauss, Max Valarie, Dorothy Glenn, Julia Carey, Adelia Barker, May Drew, Helen Morton, Estelle Dursnt, Mai Richmond and Fanny Aaronson. A chorus has been provided, and over fifty people all told, will take part. In the specialty entertainment Bertoto, the petite and pretty dancer, heads the list. Others in the olio are Benedetto, McBride and Barton, Venturoli, Reynolds and Miles, Dollie Merton, Edw. E. Evans, William Daly, the Sisters Webb and Volto and Volto.

GRAND MUSEUM.—"The Vendetta" is the stage attraction this week. The cast is a strong one, with Kate Glassford in the dual roles of Francesca and Sig. d'Almeida, and Chas. Barringer as Kenneth Goodwin. The support includes Jere Grady, Wm. Cattell, F. Kingdon, R. J. Riley, Jas. T. Fannin, Estelle Keene, Elsie Gladys, Evelyn Knapp, Nellie Hancock and others. Reiche's Menagerie is still in the lower hall, and supplementing the drama will be given an olio, in which the following appear: Ripley and Risby, tha Sheerans, S. C. Mettler, Charles Phillips, Sam Archer, Billy Wilson, Murphy and Murphy.

THE BOSTON CIRCUS.—If Manager Sheedy has not struck oil he has struck a veritable bonanza in his North End Circus. And a right good circus it is. The enterprise just fits into and admirably fills a long existing vacancy in the amusement line of the North End, and thus far the people of that section have shown by liberal patronage, their appreciation of Manager Sheedy's endeavors. The ring programme last week was a fine one, and that of this week is not a bit behind it. The bill will be filled by Robert Stickney, ring master, with his stallion and trick dogs; Zamora, Mendoza Sisters, Mons. Forbes, Three Albino Bros., Yankee Scott, E. J. Kennedy, Arkno, Dwyer and Murphy, Coogan Bros. in their skating act, the Beasle, Athletes, and others.

AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM.—The great sensation here last week was the performances of Col. E. Daniel Boone and Millie Carlotta with their cage of eight lions. Thousands thronged to witness the show. Other interesting features are also to be seen in the lecture hall, while on the stage hourly entertainments are given by Richmond and Glenroy, Daly and Pearl, Armand and Raymond, William Harbeck, Nellie Daly, Bella Verna, Kittie Harbeck, Hayden and Hetherton, Kittie Bingham, Walters Bros., Shanley and Mack, G. Arthur Durand, Harry D'Frecee, Johnson and Green, Dean and Harrison, and Thomas and Watson.

WORLD'S THEATRE.—Billy Birch and a minstrel show are booked for this week. To fill out the continuous performance the management present Hart's Specialty Co. Business is good.

GENERAL GOSSIP.—Heartfelt regret is expressed on all sides at the withdrawal of Annie M. Clarke from the Museum Company, and the retirement from the same organization of Miriam O'Leary. Manager Field has before him no easy task to fill their places. Benefits have been tendered both ladies, that of Miss O'Leary taking place next Saturday evening, and Miss Clarke's on Thursday afternoon, 26. I predict overflowing houses.....It is "Commodore" Schoeffel now, if you please, Mrs. Agnes Booth-Schoeffel having won a fine steam launch at the Actors' Fund Fair. Boston Lodge of Elks will dedicate its lot and unveil the statue of the bronze elk at Mt. Hope cemetery, Sunday after noon, 22. A procession will be formed, and the theatrical profession will be largely represented. Milton Aborn, the favorite tenor of Keith's Gaiety Opera Co., paid a flying visit last week. He received a red hot welcome, and enjoyed his brief visit hugely..... It is possible that there will be a season of light opera this Summer at the Bowdoin Square..... Manager Geo. E. Lothrop is at Pawtucket, R. I., superintending the construction of his new theatre, which is now well under way there.....Three valuable monkeys and one of the large snakes at Austin & Stone's Museum died last week.....Musical Director Harry Halderman and Stage Manager John Prees, of the Bowdoin Square, will benefit at that house 19.....John Bowman and Wm Green, of the Howard advertising staff, benefit there June 6.....The entertainment in aid of the John Boyle O'Reilly fund at the Boston 29 will fill the great house and volunteer talent of the highest order will be utilized.....The Forepaugh Show will exhibit on the Pompeian grounds, Huntington Avenue, week of June 6. The annual changes and improvements at Austin & Stone's Museum are now in progress, and the work is carried on at night in order to prevent closing the house.....'1492" will be presented evening of 23 at the Globe Theatre for the benefit of Advertising Agent Jas. N. Blake.

Lynn.—At the Lynn Theatre, "McCarty's Mishaps" came May 10 to a fair house, and was the only attraction of the week. Coming: Lewis Morrison's "Faust" 16, 17, "Beacon Lights" 18, Lillian Durrell Opera Co. 20, Gilmore's Band 21, which closes the season.

LYNN MUSEE.—Business week of 9 was good. Week of 16: Curio hall—Col. La Marr's troupe of colored people. Stage—Harry Hamilton's "Murphy's Troubles" by the stock, and Gaylor and Groff, Annie Raymond, Gus Meehan and L. C. Mettler in specialties. Billy Burke, stage manager.

GOSSIP.—The Royal Aquarium and Museum, Gilbert & Co., proprietors; Walter H. Ordway, manager, is now being exhibited here under canvas. The people: Leroux Brothers, the Rainford Family, Felix and Crowley and Foley.

Lowell.—At the Opera House, N. C. Goodwin Jr., played to a large audience May 10. Roland Reed did a good business 13. "Beacon Lights" had fair houses 14. Lillian Durell's Opera Co. sing "Mignon" for the ushers' benefit 19. At Music Hall, after a season of dramas by the stock, Manager Partridge thought a good stock company would draw big houses, but the variety loving public of this city missed one of the strongest variety bills at this house last week. Opening 16: Winstanley and West, Wilson and Brevarde, Nestor Bros., the Healys, Nellie St. John, Magrew and Arnold, C. Edgar Foreman and Ed. Aaron..... N. C. Goodwin Jr. and his company were entertained by the Lowell Lodge of Elks evening of 10, when they dedicated their new rooms.....Many members of "The Lost Paradise" Co. are in this city.

Lawrence.—The season at the Opera House will close May 28 and reopen in August next. Several changes are contemplated including new scenery and mechanical effects. The season closing has been one of the best at the house. May 9 Richard Golden did a fair business. "McCarthy's Mishaps" had a topheavy house 11. Robert Dewhirst, gas man, left to fill an engagement as acrobat with the "McCarthy's Mishaps" Co. the remainder of the season. Coming: 19, "Beacon Lights"; 25, Gilmore's Band.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis.—The Grand Opera House will be closed May 16, 17, 18, but Corinne fills out the week beginning 19. Effie Ellsler and C. W. Couldock come for three nights 23, "Mr. Wilkinson's Widows" week of 30. The Duff Opera Co. sang to good houses, despite sloppy weather, 9, 10, 11. Frederick Warde had good business the rest of the week, although the same "measly" weather continued.

BIJOU OPERA HOUSE.—"Alone in London" is the bill week following 15. "Spider and Fly" 22, for seven nights. "Mr Barnes of New York" had a successful engagement 8-14.

PENCE OPERA HOUSE.—For 15 and week, Louise Atwood's Burlesque Co. "Fun on the Bristol" opened well 8, and a fair company drew fair houses the rest of the week. Ida Siddons' Female Mastodons 22.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—Opening 18: Conroy and Dolan, Leona Howell, Billy Baker, Lill'an Kinst, Ella Ward, Lorraine and Howell, James Wheeler and the stock. Rainy weather does not interfere with business to any great extent.

DIME MUSEUM.—The sprinting girls remain week of 15, and with them in the curio hall are Richards and Hesse and Maltby. Stage No. 2—Wheeler, Bertie Riegel, Cortelli Bros. and Feekham. Stage No. 3—The stock in "The Blind Orphan."

ORCHESTRION HALL.—Commencing 16: Chas. Moreland, Minnie May Thompson, Ella Francis and Tillie Massanger.

St. Paul.—At the Metropolitan Opera House, Frederick Warde played to big business May 8, 9, 10, 11. J. C. Kluff's Opera Co. 12 had a packed house. The Milwaukee German Dramatic Co. appear week of 15. Corinne comes 23, 24, 25. C. W. Couldock, in

John L. Sullivan, the prize fighter, made his first appearance on the dramatic stage on this occasion, and appeared every night and at the matinees during the week. He had no acting to do—merely to go on the stage in one of the scenes and spar a bout with Lannon. There is a scene in "The Paymaster" where the guard about the prison call out the regular watches. Their cry ran like this: "Post No. 1, all is well!" "Post No. 2, all is well!" etc. Post No. 1 was supposed to be away off in the distance. A man back of the scene called his response out in a voice meant to imitate a soldier at a considerable distance. No. 2 was nearer, and the man called out in a louder and different voice. Another man, closer to the stage, called out No. 3. No. 4 was supposed to be immediately at hand. His duty was to call out "Post No. 4, all is well!" in a deep, soldierly tone. Sullivan personated "Post No. 4." These were the first words he ever spoke on the stage.

TO BE CONTINUED.

— Bert Leslie closed with "McGinty's Mishaps," and is resting at his home, Chicago. Mr. Leslie will star next season in a new three act musical farce comedy, from the pen of Oliver T. Fiske. It is entitled "In a Tangle," and will have its opening at Irving Park, Ill., in September. The tour will be under the direction of Willard & Blocher. The roster will include some clever people. Sterly Hughes will be in advance.

— Fox and Fisher, the "Comedy Twins," have closed with the "Avenged" Co., and will play dates for the balance of the season.

WORLD'S PLAYERS.

— Sig. Perugini, the tenor, returned from Europe May 9. Sig. Perugini left here two years ago in bad health, and he has had quite a siege of illness during his absence. He says he has come back to America to stay, though he may cross the Atlantic occasionally to sing at London or on the Continent. Mrs. John Wood, Sig. Perugini says, though she has retired from its management, is still the proprietor of the Court Theatre, London. She is considering an offer to visit this country next year.

— Grace Filkins, who left Rosina Vokes' Co. at Boston last December, because of her trouble with Felix Morris, Miss Vokes' stage manager, has begun suit for damages against Miss Vokes, her husband and manager, Cecil Clay, and Mr. Morris. Against Mr. and Mrs. Clay, Miss Filkins claims damages for salary under contract. Against Mr. Morris she asks judgment for $20,000 damages for assault and persecution.

— W. D. Stone resigned from Carroll Johnson's "Gossoon" Co. April 30, and on May 2 joined "The Cruiskeen Lawn" Co., with which he will go to California this Summer. The members of the former company presented him on his departure with a K. P. watch charm.

— T. H. Thalberg, who was Modjeska's leading man this season, sailed for England May 10.

— Howell Hansel, now with Charles Frohman's Boston Stock, has signed with Manager R. M. Field to play leading parts at the Boston Museum next season.

— Charles B. Hanford has engaged Marie Drofnah for the part of Portia in "Julius Cæsar" for next season.

— Carroll Johnson has engaged for his San Francisco trip Ethel Barrington, late of the "My Jack" Co., as leading lady, and Charles Frew, the character actor. Kathryn Osterman is now playing the ingenue role of Annabel Grey.

— A. Reid, the proprietor of the "Euchred" Comedy Co., sails for England May 15. He is largely interested in lumbering in Canada, and, besides looking after his business interests while abroad, he expects to secure some novelties for the comedy.

— Brander Matthews, the author, has been appointed professor of literature at Columbia College.

— Manager Macoy has engaged Maurice P. Haynes and Effie E. Cave for "A Turkish Bath" Co. next season.

— Richard Gorman, the grotesque comedian, who has been with "A Straight Tip" Co. for two seasons, has closed with James T. Powers, and has signed for a special engagement of two weeks with Vernona Jarbeau.

— Max Hirschfield has joined the Grau Opera Co., taking the place of musical director, temporarily filled by Edward Buechner. The company are engaged for eight weeks at Charleston, S. C., beginning May 2.

— Henry E. Dixey has closed his season.

— Esther Lyons has arrived in town from the West.

— Jeannette Lowrie, ingenue of Daniel Frohman's "Charity Ball" Co., has been engaged for the company that leaves this city May 23, for St. John, N. B., under the guidance of T. D. Frawley. She will be given an opportunity to distinguish herself in portraying the title role of "Sweet Lavender," which will have its first production in the provinces.

— Chas. E. Evans, Wm. Hoey and W. D. Mann sailed for Europe May 11, to be gone until July 1.

"One of the Finest" Co. closed in Massacuusetts May 6.

— Burr McIntosh sailed for England May 11. He is under contract to Mitchell's Royal Library to fulfill engagements during the London season. His club and drawing room theme is "Society As I Have Left It." Mr. McIntosh will produce his curtain raiser, "Why?" at London. It is now being done by the De Lange-Rising Co.

— A lodge of Elks will be organized at Denison, Tex., May 16, 17. Frank Ellsworth, well known to the profession, will be a member.

— Lydia Pierce, who so successfully sang Emma Abbott's roles on several occasions during the four years she was with Miss Abbott's Co., is engaged by Hoyt & Thomas for 1892-3.

— Oliver Jurgenson goes in advance of Marie Hubert-Frohman, who is due at San Francisco July 11.

— Isabel Archer has been engaged for Richard Golden's support.

— Dottie Neville has been engaged for Spencer's Opera Co., who are to sing during the Summer at Uhrig's Cave, St. Louis.

— Ullie Akerstrom will not go on a Summer tour this season, as has been her custom. She closed her season May 11, and starts out again on Sept. 5.

— Joseph A. Holland has signed with James Pain & Sons for the third season.

— William S. Harkins will be a member of Jacob Litt's Minneapolis and St. Paul stock.

— Henry Herman is no longer with Chas. Frohman's forces. He has signed with Jacob Litt to play the leading part in Wm. Haworth's new play, to be produced at Chicago in August.

— The Apollo Theatre at Owensboro, Ky., opened the Summer season May 7 with the following people: Tom Martin, stage manager; Tommy Adams, Richard Fredrick, James Newcomb, Viola Howe, Annie Rushton, Locket Sisters, Mrs. D. Edwards, Nannie Lewis and the stock company.

— A copartnership has been entered into by and between Mrs. Jennie Kimball and H. R. Jacobs for the seasons of 1892-3-4, including the World's Fair, in the management of Corinne. Mrs. Kimball has engaged all new principals for next season, and her company will doubtless be even stronger than ever before. The productions of the next two seasons will include "Monte Cristo," "Arcadia," "Hendrick Hudson," "Pocahontas" and other burlesques. On the World's Fair productions consitlerable money will be spent. Of course, the star of the organization is Corinne, and the support will be the best that can be engaged.

— Manager H. R. Jacobs is said to be engaged in forming a syndicate to build a colossal new theatre in Chicago, and to have same ready for the World's Fair.

— Fred W. Barnard joined Berlain's Chicago Comedy Co. at Black River, Wis., recently, replacing Jere Conkling.

— Harry Langdon joined W. M. Paul's "Lucky Ranch" Co. recently, as leading support.

— Minnie Wilson has joined the "Lucky Ranch" Co. for the Summer season.

— Joseph B Murphy has left the Ideals and joined Barnes & Summers' Players at Davenport, Ia.

— Philip J. Gordon will be seen next season in the realistic frontier drama, "On the Frontier." The tour will be under the management of Walter Burton, the owner of the production. Some good houses are booked ahead, and all indications point to a successful season.

— Maude Harrison denies the report that she is to retire from A. M. Palmer's Co. at the close of this season. She is re-engaged.

— Otis Skinner has been engaged as leading man with the Modjeska Co. for next season.

— "Cavalleria Rusticana" will be presented in dramatic form at the Boston Theatre, Boston, next week, by Alexander Salvini, who is playing a remarkably successful engagement in that city. Salvini will be the first actor to be seen in an acting version of the play, which has been arranged by Sig. Carreno, of the Patti Co., assisted by young Salvini. The action of the play will be stronger than was the libretto of the opera, for more scope is allowed the interesting scenes and dramatic situations of the charming story, which in the opera had to be sacrificed to a large extent to the musical features. The version presented by Salvini will not be entirely devoid of musical features, though there will be no solos. The orchestra will be enlarged for the occasion, and will play as incidental music of the piece some of the most charming numbers of Mascagni's score. There has been a beautiful mass introduced, composed by Sig. Angelo Mascheroni, which will be sung by a double quartet, assisted by a large choir. The story of "Cavalleria Rusticana" is based on a romantic incident which actually occurred in the little village of Raccala, Sicily, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the morning and noon on an Easter Sunday. The story was dramatized by Sig. Giovanni Verga several years ago. The version to be presented at Boston next week, as arranged by Carreno, was presented by him to Mme. Patti on her last birthday. The diva recognized at once its dramatic value, and announced her intention of producing the play in sumptuous style at her own theatre in her castle at Wales. In the mean time, meeting young Salvini at Louisville recently, and seeing in him an ideal Teirridu, she turned the manuscript over to him with the understanding that he should present it in this country previous to her departure for Europe, to give her an opportunity of witnessing the play with him as the Sicilian lover. Patti and a party of friends will go on to Boston next week to witness Salvini's performance. W. M. Wilkison, manager of Salvini, was in the city one day last week, but has gone back to Boston, accompanied by Sig. Carrano. If the piece makes the success hoped for it will be given a fine scenic production and added to the Salvini repertory next season.

— Nellie Abbott has been very ill for the past two weeks at her home, Boston, Mass. She will leave for Ouset Bay as soon as she is able.

— W. T. Robson has resumed the management of the Kittie Langley Co., opening at Pine Bluff, Ark., this week.

— McKeesport, Pa., is to have a new theatre. It will be lighted by electricity and fitted throughout with all modern improvements. George Altmeyer is the promoter of the new house.

— Eugene La Rue joined the Clair Tuttle Co. at Clifton Forge, Va., May 9.

— Manaaer Charles E. Locke, of the Juch Opera Co., which is at San Francisco, has issued notice to the members of the company that the opera season may be considered closed, so far as the company is concerned. Mr. Locke says the management considers it has a right to close the season, as the contracts with the members of the company call for twenty-five weeks' service, whereas performances have covered thirty weeks, and that, with few exceptions, salaries for the twenty-five weeks have been paid in full. A murderous assault, arising from the company's troubles, occurred May 12. A lawyer from Los Angeles, named Hunter, was discussing the company's affairs with Managers Locke & Davis. Hot words were indulged in, and Mr. Hunter struck Mr. Davis with a heavy cane, cutting a bad gash in his head. Hunter escaped, but is being pursued by officers with a warrant.

— Edna May Spooner gave a banquet to the Spooner Comedy Co. at Quincy, Ill., May 10, in honor of her birthday. The guests, besides the company, were Manager Doerr and Mrs. Doerr. Presents were numerous and costly.

— Annie Brown, a chorus girl, has sued Agnes Huntington in a San Francisco court for $139. Miss Brown alleges that the defendant discharged her from the company without cause, and did not give her railroad fare to New York, as she had promised. Miss Huntington says that Miss Brown was impudent and refused to rehearse, and that was the cause of her discharge. The case will be heard May 17.

— Harry B. Smith, the author of "Jupiter," arrived here May 13 from Chicago. He sailed for Europe 14 for an absence of six weeks, during which he will arrange for a production of "Jupiter" and "The Tar and the Tartar" at London.

— Stuart Robson and Mrs. Robson sailed for Europe May 13. They are to make a tour of the Continent, returning to this city late in August to prepare for Mr. Robson's next starring tour, which is to begin in September under the direction of W. R. Hayden.

— James M. Hardie, of Hardie and Von Leer, will sail for America on June 15, and will return to England late in July for the opening of his regular season Aug. 1, at Swansea. In addition to their present companies they will send on tour Aug. 1 Edgar Selden's comedy, "McKenna's Flirtation," and later in the season will produce Oliver Byron's latest success, "The Plunger." Business continues excellent with all the companies.

— J. K. Vetter, having closed a thirty-six weeks' engagement as advance agent of Frank S. Davidson's Co., has returned to Delphi, O., for a short visit.

— Bernard Dillyn, of the Corinne Co., was tendered a reception by the Oro Plata Club, Butte, Mon., May 7, which was undoubtedly the most pleasant affair ever held in the rooms of that organization.

— Mr. and Mrs. Earle Lewis, after four consecutive seasons with "The Castaways," will rest this Summer at their home, Indianapolis, Ind.

— W. Rensellaer, formerly of the McLean-Prescott Co., joined Harry Lindley's "Castaways" at Bennington, Vt. The company: Harry Lindley, M. W. Marsh, S. L. Clapham, Gus Livingston, W. Rensellaer, Clara Mathes, Luella Beck, Dora Paige, Amy Paige, little Mabel Paige, Ada Cheslyn, pianiste; Herbert Wiley, leader, and Joseph M. Morgan, advance agent.

— The Kinzie-Groves Co., booked at Manistee, Mich., week of May 9, failed to appear, owing to the sudden illness of E. B. Barber, their business manager. Mr. Barber contracted typhoid fever, at Greenville, the previous stand, and had to be taken to his home, at Fremont, Mich., where he is receiving all the attention his wife and relatives can give.

— Harry Elting, for the past two seasons with Howard Wall's enterprises, will close his season May 22 and come direct to New York, locating at Lawrence's Dramatic Exchange for the Summer. Mr. Elting will next season manage "Euchred." Among the people engaged are Hope Booth, Annie Kingsley, John Ainsley and Josh Chapman. New printing will be used, and the piece will be featured. William Park will be the business manager.

— S. V. Downs, leader of orchestra for Emma Warren, recently purchased a Cremona violin made in 1721. It has a history proving its genuineness without doubt. The price paid was very reasonable, compared with the value of the instrument. Mr. Downs has been re-engaged for next season.

— Oscar Hall, Josephine Winters, and James I. Monahan, musical director, have joined Jessie Mae Hall. W. Morrell Ellis and Geo. Howard have left the company. Miss Hall received a beautiful necklace of bear's claws from her brother in Indian Territory.

— Effie Robnolt and Nina Wilson were pleasant CLIPPER callers May 13.

— "Ole Olson" reports prosperous business.

— Manager Chas. Melville, of the "New York Day by Day" Co., was among last week's CLIPPER callers.

— "Nothing but Money" is the title of Mrs. Romualdo Pacheco's new comedy.

— The Leona Lane Co. report a raging snow storm at Tyndale, S. D., May 9. The company: Leona Lane, J. F. Mathews, Will Lough, Ed. Kerr, C. C. Showalter, Geo. Brisbane, John R. Lane, Lulu Roberts and Lillie Lough. They are now organized for the Summer season.

— The Metropolitan Comedy Co. have reorganized for the Summer season, and will open in a repertory week of May 23-28, at Wood's Opera House, Sedalia, Mo.

— The Sawtelle Dramatic Co. will close their season at Leominster, Mass., May 21.

— Lizzie Ingles, of the "Two Sisters" Co., was a CLIPPER caller May 13. The company close at Williamsburg, N. Y., May 21. Miss Ingles will leave for a vacation, at home, in England, 25, and will probably rejoin the company in September.

— Raymon Shaw, after the close of the "Two Sisters" Co., will spend his Summer vacation at his Western home.

— E. F. Nagle has been engaged for next season with "A Temperance Town."

— Lillian Mortimer is visiting her mother and sisters at Cleveland, O. Mabel Mortimer will star next season, in a new comedy from the pen of a well known author.

— Roster of Frank Henneway's Comedy Co.: Frank Henneway, sole proprietor and manager; Loyd Fancher, stage director; W. G. Dickey, advance agent; Billie Howelt, properties; Tracy Keer, Master Vonine, Rogers Sisters—Maud, Lora, Lottie, Minnie—Maud De Vere, Pearl Lewis and Master Frankie.

— Nellie Stanley, of the Agnes Huntington Opera Co. chorus, was taken ill at San Francisco and placed in a hospital. J. Weaver and Bessie Clark, of the same company, were sent East from Los Angeles, Cal., 6, broken down in health.

— Harry Eugene, tenor, sails for England May 25, on a pleasure trip.

— Mr. and Mrs. Huse N. Morgan closed with the Raymond Surprise Comedy Co. May 7, and were replaced by George Collins and Mamie Barrett. The company do not close this Summer.

— Jack J. Kett and wife, Birdie Bartram, closed May 7 with "The Lucky Ranch" Co., and have joined the Eden Musee stock at Lincoln, Neb. They open with their own piece July 15 under the management of Clyde Gould, of the Black Hills circuit.

— The statement that Margaret Mather is on bad terms with her manager and leading man, Otis Skinner, and that J. M. Hill would hereafter conduct her business, is not true. Neither Miss Mather nor Mr. Hill has made any overtures, nor has Miss Mather the slightest intention to do so. The basis of all the misstatements is the fact that Mr. Skinner concluded that the combined work of manager and actor was too onerous, and he therefore retired from the management.

— F. R. Blitz will manage the lecturing tour of Dr. and Mrs. Ford.

— Alba Heywood is to star next season in "Edgewood Folks." He writes thus entertainingly: "I have secured a suit of Sol Smith Russell's old clothes, and will appear in it next season. It is a suit he wore longer than any other suit he ever had, yet when we took it from the peg upon which it was hung in Mr. Russell's closet for the past six years, and brushed off the dust it had accumulated (it was always a great 'dust' accumulator), we found it of such excellent material that it was not worn threadbare in a single place, not even at Minneapolis, Mr. Russell's home. I have had it refitted to my special shape, and is the latest fashion plate, and, with its new velvet collar, its new satin lining, its bright new buttons and its new binding all 'round, it is as good as new, and we call it the new 'Edgewood Folks.' The suspenders, or, to be more explicit, the supporting parts, have been greatly strengthened, and I shall venture out in it with a modest confidence that there will be no embarrassing mishaps."

— Oscar P. Sisson, although working quietly, is accomplish

THE EMPIRE VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT.—Manager James E. Fennessy, of Cincinnati, spent three days at Indianapolis last week, and returned home with options on twelve pieces of property upon which to build a variety theatre. His mission was successful. On May 14 a deal was closed, which places the Hoosier capital in the Empire circuit, with Pittsburg and Cincinnati. The new house at Indianapolis will be called the Empire Theatre, and work will at once be commenced. It is expected that finishing touches will be put on by Sept. 1, at the very latest. Manager Fennessy feels hopeful of controlling the vaudeville business in one other Western city before the season opens. The Empire will be built to seat 2,000, and will have a frontage of 85ft. by 102ft. in depth. The lot for which $60 000 was paid, is 97ft. wide. Mr. Fennessy left Cincinnati 16 for New York, stopping at Pittsburg to see Harry Williams.

CONWAY AND LELAND are winning fresh laurels in tue English provinces. Early this month they scored heavily at the Empire Theatre, Hanley, Eng.

PROF. JOHN LORIS, rifle shot, is gaining a deal of praise in and around New York for his wonderful skill in pistol and rifle shooting. Mlle. Altina assists him in his act.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence.—The theatrical season in this city is rapidly drawing to a close. Already the Providence Opera House has closed, and the Gaiety will remain open only three weeks longer, closing June 4. Although many attractions have been offered, the average attendance has not been so large as in former years, and the season, on the whole, has proved only moderately successful financially. The event of the past week was the presentation of "The Banker's Daughter" at the Gaiety Opera House, with Louis James and a strong company in the cast. At Lothrop's Providence Museum, Ethel Tucker and H. Percy Meldon, in "Tried and True," drew fairly well. Robert Manchester's French Folly Co. had good business at the Westminster Theatre. At Dyer's Opera House, "The Streets of New York" was presented to fair attendance.

KEITH'S GAIETY OPERA HOUSE.—"The Fire Patrol" began a week's engagement May 16, Kate Castleton, in "The Dazzler," week of 23.

LOTHROP'S PROVIDENCE MUSEUM.—The stock, Ethel Tucker and H. Percy Meldon leading, opened in "My Awful Dad" 16. The farce, "He Took Poison," and the one act burletta, "The Youth Who Never Saw a Woman," are given previous to the drama. The Glassford-Barringer Co return 23 for a three weeks' engagement.

WESTMINSTER THEATRE.—The Fay Foster Co. began a return engagement of one week 16, Gussie Belwood week of 23.

DYER'S OPERA HOUSE.—Week of 16, "The Shaughraun." The cast includes Charlie McElroy, J. Gordon Edwards, Justus Paige and May Prindle. Annie Mc Veigh continues ill, and the date of her reappearance is uncertain.

NOTES.—Manager George E. Lothrop will leave for Chicago 23, for the purpose of engaging people for his companies for next season. He has decided to organize five entirely new companies to appear alternately at his Grand Museum, Boston, Portland, Me., Theatre, Worcester Opera House, Providence Museum and at his new Opera House, now building at Pawtucket, in connection with first class combinations. He will require nearly one hundred people.....Harper Bros.' Circus exhibited at Pawtucket 16, to large attendance..... Eugene Bosworth has been engaged for the orchestra at Tabor's Opera House, Denver, Col., for next season. Dora Lewis has received an offer to join the Boston Museum stock next season, and will probably accept..... Col. Al. Cunningham, business manager of Leonard & Flynn's "Two Cuckoos" Co., passed a portion of last week in town.... Wm. J. Gallagher, of the Novelty Theatre, Fall River, Mass., visited this city 13 in search of attractions.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis.—The Grand Opera House closed May 14 after the best season's business in its history. Fanny Davenport did a good business all week.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—The Lilliputians drew to the capacity of the house last week, and will remain till 21.

WINTER GARDEN.—Laura Mortimer, Mabel Hudson, Nellie Baker, Annie Leslie and Teresina Koska this week. Business is good.

LONDON THEATRE.—Jessie Adams, John J. Boyd, Harry Rallston, Mills and Cooper, Vic and Patsy Mendoza, Stewart Jansen, W. Leon, Tony Turner, Chas. Shields, Harry Jeffery, Alf. Christie, Jennie Pearl and the stock this week. Business is good.

PALACE THEATRE.—Valvo and wife, West and Fowler, Elmo and Mauvro, St. Leon, M. Cusic, Three Craig Bros., Rose Ward, Jessie Bowerscch, Dora Goff, Ida Gorman, Bertha Collyns and Gracie Mills. Business is good.

GRAND CENTRAL THEATRE.—Fred Crawford, Willman Sisters, Frank Jones, Ida La Pearle, Carrie Morris, Frank Deleon, George Derious, Effie Chandler, McCarthy and Reynolds, May De Rose, Aggie Flode, Cora Cooley, and the stock. Business is good.

ESHER'S THEATRE.—Will Eadman, Maud Morrissey, Jansen, Carroll and Lewis, Georgie Hillyer, Lottie Thorne, Keating and Higgins, Lillian De Lanche and Eva Howard. Business is good.

BRYANT'S THEATRE.—Bryant Feeley having purchased Mr. Frank's interest in this house, it will hereafter be known as Bryant's Theatre. Chas. Ellsworth, the stage manager, announces the following people for this week: Harry Bloomer, Harry Stewart, Ralph Post, Essie Clinton, James and Marion Fitz, Chas. Palmer, Ed. E. Perry, Sam Mayfield, Dickey Evens and Minnie Dwyer. Business is good.

MCGINLEY'S MUSEUM.—Saulman, Indian Paul, Prof. Franklin, Pop Rogers, Gardner Collins, De Los and Dodd, Fred Wilson, Tom Doyle, Lafleur's Lady Band and the stock this week.

CHAT.—Prof. Poppen's opera, "Althea," made such a hit at the Pickwick Theatre 3, 5, 6 that an effort is being made to present it at the Grand Opera House so the general public can hear it.....Spencer's Opera Co. will open Uhrig's Cave for the Summer season June 6. James McGinley, proprietor of the museum here, returned from Chicago last week. He could not find a location to suit him there, and has decided to remain in St. Louis.....Capt. J. W. Decker, the late manager of a Cleveland theatre, is here.....Next September the new Germania Theatre will open with Carl Waldeman as manager. He has returned from a visit to Germany and announces that he has secured Sonnenthal, August Junkermann and Ferdinand Matkowsky.

Kansas City.—The past week, although near the end of the season, has been one of profit to mangers. Ringling Bros. gave one of the best circus performances ever seen in this city May 9 to an immense crowd, who waded through mud, under a constant downpour of rain, to see the show. The Auditorium stock closed its season 7, to one of the biggest audiences of its engagement. At the close of the performance Manager W. F. Blande was called before the curtain and given an ovation. A gold head silk umbrella, an ebony gold mounted cane, and a pair of diamond studded sleeve buttons were presented to him by members of the company and employes of the house.

COATES' OPERA HOUSE.—Rhea presented "La Czarina" 9, 11, and "Gossip" 10, to excellent patronage. "The County Fair" 26, 27, 28.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The Carey-Learock Dramatic Co. will present "Woman against Woman" 22 and week "Wife for Wife" was given the past week to splendid audiences.

NINTH STREET THEATRE.—Newton Beers will return 22. "The Joshua Simpkins" Co., the past week, did a rattling business.

NOTES.—Lemen Bros. brought suit against the city for $5,000 damages for revoking their license to show at Shelley Park, after the show had been billed and tents pitched for the performance. The show was moved to the West side, and the performance was given 7 to a big tentful.....W. J. Shea, now with the Carey Learock Co., will next year star in an Irish drama, entitled "Irish Hearthstones," dramatized from writings of the late Chas. Stewart Parnell.....Leroy, the parachute jumper, is making this city his headquarters.....After being out forty weeks, the "Joshua Simpkins" Co. close here. They will open next season with the same play, in August.....A panic was narrowly averted at the Auditorium 11, by Manager W. F. Blande's coolness. A temporary platform, five feet high, had been erected upon the stage to accommodate five hundred school children who were to give a concert 11. After the children had been seated, and the house had been filled the structure gave way, precipitating the children to the stage floor. No one was fatally injured, although the audience was with difficulty restrained from making a rush from the house.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Washington.—Barnum & Bailey's "Greatest on Earth" came May 9, 10, to the usual phenomenal business. The closing concert of the annual tour of the U. S. Marine Band, 9, was given to the capacity of Albaugh's Grand Opera House. The Carleton Opera Co, finished the week with "The Chimes of Normandy" to fair houses. The Lillian Russell Opera Co. had an excellent week at Rapley's National Theatre at advanced prices. Julia Marlowe's return engagement at Rapley's Academy of Music, in her repertory, was well patronized and closed the season of that house in good shape. Dan S. Kelly in "After Seven Years," at Harris' Bijou Theatre, had fair houses. Billy Lester's Own Co., with Austin Gibbons as an athletic attraction, scored a fine week at Kernan's Lyceum Theatre. "Gettysburg" is running to good attendance at the Cyclorama building.

RAPLEY'S NATIONAL THEATRE.—"Mr. Wilkinson's Widows" 16–21, which closes the regular season.

ALBAUGH'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Carlton's Opera Co. third week. "The Mikado" 16–21, "The Bohemian Girl" 23–28.

RAPLEY'S ACADEMY OF MUSIC is closed.

HARRIS' BIJOU THEATRE.—Frank I. Frayne 16–21.

KERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATRE.—International Vaudevilles 16–21, Bob Fitzsimmons and a specialty co. 23–28.

NOTES.—George K. French, a prominent young lawyer of this city, has sued James A. Bailey for $500 damages which he claims to have sustained in loss of time, trouble and disappointment by reason of being denied admittance to the show after having purchased reserved seat tickets. Mr. French claims that he was only one of several hundred who were similarly treated. The result of this suit is looked forward to with great interest.....The present week will be the last of the regular season at Rapley's National.....The Academy closed last week, and Harris' Bijou will probably follow suit next week as no attraction has been underlined. Kernan's Lyceum will close the end of the present month, which will leave only Albaugh's Grand open and that with Summer opera. River View on the Potomac will then offer the only attraction for the amusement seeker. The opening is announced for 18. Cyrene, the Sisters Braatz, Sisters Mendoza and Sisters Margellain are announced for the opening. E. S. Randall is the proprietor and Grant Parish business manager.

COLORADO.

Denver.—At the Tabor Grand Opera House week of May 9 "All the Comforts of Home" drew good houses. Week of 16, Francis Wilson.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—Week of 9 "The Midnight Alarm" pleased large audiences. Week of 16, "The Fast Mail." "Native Silver" was repeated with success 9.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Week of 9 "The Long Strike" had big houses. Week of 16, "Not Guilty."

WONDERLAND.—Last week's attractions remain. The trained roosters are back again. J. D. Clifton and Louise Arnot in "Myrtle Fern."

CENTRAL THEATRE.—Neville and Scanlan and Francis Silver.

NOTES.—In the suit brought by Mr. Bush to have his contract leasing Broadway Theatre to Mr. Leavitt annulled on account of alleged poor attraction, Judge Hallett, of the United States District Court, has signed the decree setting aside the lease at the end of this season. Mr. Leavitt may appeal.....Manager Lask, of "All the Comforts of Home" was presented with a gold watch and chain 9 from members of the company. At River Front Park 20, 21, Cook & Whitby's Circus and Menagerie.....The Manhattan Beach Co. and Elitch's Garden will open as soon as the weather moderates..... Dick Cummings, of the Central Theatre, has bought a house and lot here.

Pueblo.—At the Grand Opera House, "Jane" drew well May 2, 3. "Bluebeard Jr." due 9, failed to connect. Coming: "All the Comforts of Home" 16, 17, "McCarthy's Mishaps" 31.

WONDERLAND.—Curio hall: Little Moore Sisters, Cosmoramic Views, etc. Theatorium—"A Bunch of Keys." Several improvements are being made in the auditorium. Haight & Ormond are now sole proprietors. They have severed all connection with Sackett's Denver Wonderland, and are now doing their own bookings.

HANLIN'S STANDARD.—The Deaves, with their marionettes, Ada Deaves, Grace Laster, Ida Melborne, Lizzie Parker, Amy Stanley, Minnie Kelly, Grace Curtis, John Flaherty, John R. Scanlon and others.

RAYMOND'S CIRCUS showed to excellent business 9. Cook & Whitby's Show is due 18.

NEBRASKA.

Omaha.—At Boyd's Theatre, Marie Hubert-Frohman comes May 19, 20, 21, Hallen and Hart 26, 27, 28, Francis Wilson Opera Co. did a big business 12, 13, 14.

FURMAN STREET THEATRE.—"The Two Johns" comes 15–18. Duff's Opera Co. 19, 20, 21. The Dodd Opera Co. open an indefinite engagement 21, hoping to run during the Summer. Carter's "Fast Mail" did a good business 8–11. Dan McCarthy played to fair houses 12, 13, 14.

WONDERLAND.—May 16; Curio Hall; The big ox Jumbo, McMillan's collection. Miller's Panorama and Gostano's Terolle Band. Stage: John and Lillie Black, May Kessler, Connie Kline, Val Vino and Bessie Searles.

NEW YORK CITY.

Last Week's Doings.—Signs of the season's natural end increase in town. There is a gradual diminution in the number of novelties, and the quality of those offered is not up to the mark in the majority of instances, while the patronage at most of the playhouses is not constantly profitable, to put it kindly.....The first week of De Wolf Hopper's "Wang" revival at the BROADWAY had a rather disagreeable interruption. Frank W. Sanger, manager of the Broadway, was surprised on Wednesday night by a notice from Elbridge T. Gerry, president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, that criminal proceedings would be instituted against him if he continued to allow the four little children, who appear in "Wang," to sing and dance. The children are Lillie Klein, age five; Ella Allien, age six; Trixey Lawrence, age eight, and Flossie Klein, age ten. They had been singing some nursery rhymes and dancing a little dance in the second act, and they and another little girl did exactly the same for twenty-two weeks when the opera was given here last Summer with Mr. Gerry's permission, and under conditions imposed by him. No reason was given for this change of policy in regard to the performance of the children. At the point of the opera where the children had been accustomed to sing, Mr. Hopper seated himself in the middle of the stage, holding the smallest of the children, with the others sitting around him, and addressed the audience as follows: "The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children will not allow these little tots to sing the nursery rhymes tonight. I will not dwell upon the vast amount of good this society has done, or the vast amount of harm its fanaticism has made it guilty of, but will simply state that, after having allowed these children to sing and dance this number for twenty-two weeks last Summer (not only allowed, but cordially acquiesced), and after they had continued doing it for thirty-two weeks on the road, well and happy all the time, now at the last moment, Mr. Gerry, without rhyme or reason, has threatened us with criminal prosecution should we allow these children to do what he permitted them to do all last Summer. The gross and outrageous inconsistency of this I leave to your own common sense. Rather than have legal complications or send these little tots away, depriving them of the monetary return at the end of each week, which has been of great use to them the past year, they shall remain; but thanks to Mr. Gerry, rather than have them sing to me, and so lose their engagement, I will sing to them." He then sang "This Little Pig Went to Market," from "Castles in the Air." Two of the agents of the society were in the house to see that the new order in regard to the children was enforced. President Gerry said, with reference to the stopping of the doll dance: "The reason that the four children were prohibited from further appearing was because theatre managers in this city made complaint before the Judiciary Committee of the last Legislature that the society was not impartially enforcing the law. I then stated to the theatre managers that they should never have reason to complain on that score again. Since then the law has been rigidly enforced, and will continue to be enforced wherever children are introduced to sing and dance, or do either. Before the complaint of the managers, the society had exercised its discretion in letting children appear in reputable theatres. The new law in regard to the appearance of children in theatrical performances does not go into effect until Sept. 1."..... Continued attractions last week were: At the CASINO, "Child of Fortune;" at the STAR, W. H. Crane in "The American Minister;" at the LYCEUM, "The Grey Mare" and "The Organist;" at HOYT'S MADISON SQUARE, "A Trip to Chinatown;" at the FOURTEENTH STREET, Annie Pixley's "Polly Middles" Co.; at PROCTOR'S TWENTY-THIRD STREET, "Across the Potomac;" at HERRMANN'S, "Mr. Wilkinson's Widows;" at the BIJOU, Fanny Rice's "Jolly Surprise" Co.; at PALMER'S, Digby Bell's "Jupiter" Co.; at DALY'S, Rosina Vokes' Co., and Cora Tanner, in "Husband and Wife" and "Drifted Apart," at the GARDEN. The fourth and final week of Miss Tanner's engagement closed 14, when, also, her supplementary Spring season ended. She will now rest for the Summer. W. F. Pruette was ill and unable to appear at the Casino night of 11. His part was played by Otto Weyl. Rosina Vokes on 12 revived her familiar triple bill, "A Game of Cards," "The Circus Rider" and "A Pantomime Rehearsal." Charles Frohman's season at Herrmann's ended 14, when, also his "Mr. Wilkinson's Widows" Co., No. 2, closed their four weeks' engagement.....Adelina Patti sang at the MADISON SQUARE GARDEN AMPHITHEATRE evenings of 10 and 12, and matinee of 14. She was assisted by other soloists, a large orchestra and a chorus. A quartet of benefits during the week comprised one to Treasurer Edwin A. Bull, at the LONDON, afternoon of 12; one to Patrick Hannan, at TONY PASTOR'S, on the same afternoon, when over $1,000 was realized; one to Manager Gustav Amberg, at the AMBERG, night of 14, when the season at that German theatre closed, and one to the widow and daughter of Capt. W. M. Conner, at the METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE, afternoon of 12, netting over $10,000. At the Conner matinee, Lilly Post, Annie Pixley, Harry Kernell, Sig. Bologna, Mabel Stephenson, Alice Shaw, Regalocita, John Webster, Wilton Lackaye, Robert C. Hilliard and Marshall Wilder disappointed. Those who appeared were Hoyt & Thomas' "A Trip to Chinatown" Co., Russell's Comedians, E. H. Sothern, Nellie McHenry, Rosina Vokes' Co., Digby Bell's Co., Ida Klein, Charles Bassett, Rosa Lynde, Sig. Novara, Mme. Inez Fabbri, Ernest Neyer's orchestra and Edwin French. Little Tuesday was not permitted to appear by Mr. Gerry's society. Edwin French caused a scene by breaking down in his banjo act. He could not get his banjo or his voice in accord with the orchestra, and he retired, but at once reappeared and made a manly apology, saying that he had been a close friend of Capt. Conner, and that his feelings had overcome him.....The week stands 9–14 were these: The Henry Burlesque Co. at the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, Nellie McHenry at the HARLEM OPERA HOUSE, "The Little Tycoon" at the COLUMBUS, "The Nabobs" at the WINDSOR, "The Burglar" at H. R. JACOBS', "The Struggle of Life" at the GRAND OPERA HOUSE and Tony Farrell's "My Colleen" Co. at the PEOPLE'S. The Academy closed its season 14, and on that date, also, Nellie McHenry's successful tour came to an end.....The THALIA, NIBLO'S GARDEN, NEW PARK, HARLEM THEATRE, HARRIGAN'S and the UNION SQUARE were in darkness.....At TONY PASTOR'S, the LONDON, HARLEM OLYMPIC and MINER'S BOWERY and EIGHTH AVENUE there was the usual variety offering.....At the EIGHTH STREET and at the ROUMANIA Hebrew performances continued.....The first week of E. M. Royle's new drama, "Friends," at the STANDARD, disclosed good sized audiences. Improvements in the dialogue and action were made after the initial performance, and there seems now to be little doubt that the piece will be popular on the road. E. J. Henley's action in hastily resigning his part is severely criticised in professional circles.

DARK.—The New Park, Union Square, Thalia, Niblo's Garden, Metropolitan Opera House, Harrigan's, Harlem Theatre and the Academy of Music are dark.

THE NEW FIFTH Avenue, it is now said, will not open until May 28, when "The Robber of the Rhine" will be originally sung by the Pratt & Matthews' Opera Co.

WORTH'S MUSEUM.—To a business which seemed to be as large as the dimensions of its spacious halls could comfortably entertain, an impetus appears to have come with the delightful weather, crowding this place to its utmost limit during exhibition hours. Wise judgment prevails here, in that the visitor is always sure of being pleasantly entertained whatever inclination his taste may be or fancy dictate. The features in the curio hall are varied enough to prove attractive to all classes of visitors, while the trophies and cases of curiosities of art and nature which line its walls are the accumulation of years of toil and endeavor on the part of Prof. Worth, the founder of this magnificent museum. In the curio halls this week will be found the mermaid illusion, by Prof. Addy and assistant; Nichodemus Senor, the nondescript; Nayo, Guatamalian dwarf; Guilem Houssin, Persian wizard, Yetsuma, Japanese fruit maker; Millie Serambo, French flower maker; Stephen Stephens, Punch and Judy; and Prof. Worth's entertaining lectures. On the stage Mackley's Merry Makers appear in "Irish Devotion."

IN THE Supreme Court May 10 Elsie Lombard obtained a verdict for $593 damages for breach of contract against Harry Lacy and Joseph Arthur. She said she had been in several companies since she left the Lyceum School for Acting four years ago. She had made a sliding contract with the defendants to play in "The Still Alarm" 1889-90, first at $40 and then at $50 a week, she to furnish costumes. After three rehearsals she had been dismissed, without a single public appearance, on allegations that she was stilted and hysterically emotional. On advice of counsel, after bringing suit

JAMES W. MORRISSEY has brought suit in the Supreme Court against Mrs. Emma Marcy Raymond and Betsy Bancker for breach of contract. The defendants composed an opera called "Dorretta" and Mr. Morrissey claims they arranged with him to produce it. They afterward, he says, broke their contract, and had James C. Duff produce the work at the Standard Theatre.

THE ACTORS' FUND FAIR closed its supplementary sales week night of May 14, when most of the valuable articles remaining over were either sold auctioned off or disposed of by chance. The Fund, which held 2 000 chances out of 10 000 in the big Cleveland diamond, was lucky enough to win the stone. Perhaps there will be another drawing. The total receipts of the Fair are now said to be about $190 000; expenses for the Madison Square Garden for the week, $25 000; hire of restaurant one week, $500; other expenses, $15 000; total net receipts for the Actors' Fund, about $150 000.

SEVERAL cases of theatrical costumes, worth $6,000, were sent to the Public Stores May 13, pending the decision of Collector Hendricks as to whether they are dutiable or liable to seizure. The costumes are to be used in the production of "The Forty Thieves" at the Garden Theatre next month, and were brought over on the steamship City of Paris, which arrived 10 by Wemyss Henderson, brother of David Henderson, of Chicago. When the goods were landed the inspector ordered them into the appraisers' stores and notified the collector of the detention. When the appraisement is received the collector will decide whether the importers shall pay duty or not. The Hendersons claim that, according to the decision of the board of appraisers and Judge Wallace, in the Agnes Huntington case, their costumes are exempt from duty. They say the costumes are tools of trade, which plea was successful in the Huntington case. The government appealed to Judge Wallace, who affirmed the decision of the board of appraisers. Then the case was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals, where it is still pending. This difference, however, exists between the two cases: In the Huntington case the costumes were brought over by the people of the company, who declared them to be their personal property. In the present instance the costumes are imported by the Hendersons for the use of people now in this country and under contract to act for them. Special Treasury Agent Whitehead thinks the costumes are liable to seizure, as they were brought here by an agent and not by the owner.

THE case of Charles E. Wallack, son of the late Lester Wallack, who was indicted about two years ago for perjury came up for disposition before Recorder Smyth May 12. Mr. Wallack was president of the Lenox Hill Bank in January, 1890, and, when requested by the superintendent of the State banking department to make his quarterly report, made oath before a notary public that the bank owned $30,645 worth of bonds and stocks which it did not possess, and which, it was subsequently ascertained, were taken by George H. Pell who is now serving out a long term in State prison. District Attorney Davis moved that the case be dismissed, as Mr. Wallack testified for the people in the case against Mr. Pell, and also because Philip A. Myer an important witness, was dead. The Recorder gave his consent, and the case was dismissed.

HUBER'S PALACE MUSEUM.—Phenomenal, with a big, big P, is about the most suitable word that can be offered in description of the business at this gilt edge museum. The flow of patronage is steady and strong and the attractions scheduled are fully up to the mark of merit that has made this house a leader in its class. Besides the usual liberal array of natural, national, historical, oriental and antique curios always on view, this week's curio hall features include Jo Jo, dog faced man; Unzie, an Australian Albino; Barnillo, fire eater; Rose Monroe, singer of Scotch ballads; Frank Burke, perch performer; Ashbury and Robinson, general fun makers; Walter Wentwork, contortionist; Prof. Russell, musician; Chas. A. Smith and his educated goat, and the Pugol Bros., with their pair of performing bears. The stage contingent comprises G. Martinetti, a clever and popular singer and musician; Chas and Jennie Welsh, a capital couple of vocalists; Louis Thiel, a good entertainer; James Rogers, a singer of ability; Chas. H. Duncan, the jolly faced and always agreeable warbler of comic ditties, and Barron and Mellish, a very capable pair of musicians. Manager Huber will close the season at his house about the middle of next month. The programme for the annual benefit to the employes at the Palace is already in preparation.

GAIETY MUSEUM.—Always on the lookout for something interesting, and ever ready to picture scenes from actual life, Manager Bernstein this week presents figures of the two murderers, Peter Schultz and Adam Hass. Other features in the curio hall—McGilley's World Shadowgraphs, Mlle. Loraine, Signorella, Mlle. Dorena, Prof. Thos. Edwards, Prof. McKee, Mlle. Lucier, and Campbell's Punch and Judy. Stage—Louis Thiel, supported by the stock, in "Hector the Hunter."

KOSTER & BIAL'S.—M. Dufour and Mlle. Hartley, dancers, pantomimists and character impersonators from the Eldorado Theatre, Paris, Fr., made their American debut at this popular resort on Monday night, May 16. They scored heavily, and bid fair to become favorites of the first water. They are the forerunners of many European importations booked here for the Summer season. Other features this week include Carmencita, in her new Spanish dances, "Caballero de Gracia" and "La Jota," assisted by a chorus dressed in Spanish costumes and accompanied by the Spanish Students; La Clair and Leslie, in a new burlesque and character sketch; reappearance of Mlle. Carrie, in a musical melange, entitled "The Belle of Bells;" James F. Hoey, eccentric comedian; the travesty on "Fra Diavolo," and the Spanish Students, in new selections. On May 30 John Brougham's at one time very popular burlesque of "Pocahontas," written up to the times, will be produced.

AT THE GRAND MUSEUM, the regular season closed May 15. On 16 the Lowenwirth Family Opera Co. (Hebrew) opened a Summer season of twelve weeks in the lower theatre. The employes of the Grand benefited 12. Col. Milliken continues in charge during the warm weather.

BENEFIT.—There is no gainsaying the success of the benefit tendered at Tony Pastor's Theatre on Thursday afternoon, May 12, to the family of the late Patrick Hannan, for twenty years engineer at Tammany Hall. The attendance was large, and the bill was of unusual merit. Among those who appeared were the Sisters Hengler, Rosiere, Amy Swain, Petrie and Elise, Montague and West, Harry Watson and Alice Hutchings, Willie and Ally Petrie, Will H. Fox, Charles J. Ross, Frank E. McNish, Bonnie Thornton, Basco and Roberts, Frank Riley and Harding and Ah Sid. The actual receipts were $1,409 75, several prominent members of the Tammany Society contributing goodly sums.

MINER'S EIGHTH AVENUE THEATRE.—The return engagement of that sterling organization, the Reilly & Wood Co., was given a cordial reception here May 16. No more complete or better equipped aggregation of burlesque and vaudeville talent has ever visited the popular house. Mr. Reilly, who controls the company, justly boasts that he has never put out a weak or mediocre company. This season he has had the benefit of the wide experience of Manager Louis Roble, who has managed every detail of the forty weeks' tour with entire success. He also engaged the company, and his well known hustling propensities have brought well earned laurels. The bill opened on Monday night with the first appearance in this city of the U. S. Trio, Wm. B. Mack, May Miller and Frank Hues. They opened in a laughable sketch, entitled "Upside Down," and scored a hit. Fred Morphet then introduced Kellar's latest mystic wonder, "Oh!" in which Mrs. Morphet was made to vanish from view in full sight of the audience. It is a very clever mystery. The Washburn Sisters, Fielding, Frank Goldie and Sallie St. Clair, Fred H. Leslie, Andy Hughes and McBride and Walton make up the balance of this capable organization. Next week, the Rose Hill Co.

SUNDAY NIGHT BENEFITS.—A Broadway theatre and a Bowery vaudeville house furnished the only benefit entertainments on Sunday night, 15. At the former, James McCue, ticket taker, was the beneficiary. The house was of fair size. Among those who appeared were Loie Fuller, John H. Turner, Adams, Casey and Howard, James McAvoy, James B. Radcliffe, Johnnie McKever, Press Eldridge and Cornu's orchestra. The benefit at Miner's Bowery vaudeville house tendered to Manager Lou Shaw was in every way a decided success. The house was packed with friends of the beneficiary, who, though far from being well, has manfully stuck to his post for some weeks under a severe strain. The attaches of the house were untiring in their efforts to make the affair a success. The following appeared: Frenz Bros., the Kaines, W. J. O'Brien, Ella Wilson, Mathews and Bulger, Lillie Western, Frank Bush, Maud Huth, Imro Fox, Lester and Williams, Fred Wilson, Montague and West, Daly and Devere, James F. Hoey, Conroy and Fox, Stuart, Weston Bros., Press Eldridge, Haines Booker, Allen P. May, Harry Clifford and Mona Sablon.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Mattie Vickers opened here May 16, to a house of fair size, in "Edelweiss," it being the first presentation of the piece in the city. It was first produced at Pullman, Ill., Sept. 2, 1890. J. A. Fraser Jr. is the author, and the play was fully reviewed in these columns when first produced. Miss Vickers is a decidedly pleasing actress, and, as the scenes of the play are laid in Switzerland, her dialect proficiency has full scope. The rescue scene in act one caused much enthusiasm. The support, with the exception of Ben F. Grinnell, is not too strong. Miss Vickers was cordially received, and her songs and dances were encored many times. An innovation was noticed in the presentation to Miss Vickers of a large basket of fruit, instead of the customary offering of flowers. Following is the cast: Edelweiss, Mattie Vickers; John Dutton, Frederick Webber; Emile Schwartz, G. D. McIntyre; Tippleby, Eric Pollock; Hon. Sammy Mudford, Ben F. Grinnell; Officer Halloran, R. C. Stewart; Philip, a Swiss peasant, Richard Marlowe; Lawyer Price, Wm. Osmond; Widow Kranz, Dorothy Thornton; Marion Dutton, Myra Davis; Miss Hogan, Mary Mandeville. Executive staff—Manager, Eric Pollock; business manager, Judd Corey; representative, W. S. Kusel; musical director, Prof. Reichter; stage machinist, Gus Franklin. Next week, Mart Hanley's Co., in the first production on any stage of "Irish Inspiration."

LONDON THEATRE.—Lester & Williams' "Me and Jack" Co. opened to large houses Monday, May 16. The burlesque part of the entertainment remains as when last seen at this house, with Polly McDonald, John J. Burke, Joe Coyne and A. J. O'Brien as the leading spirits. William Jerome made a hit with his parodies, O'Brien and Carroll in songs and witticisms, John J. Burke, Grace Forrest and Frank Pierce in parlor theatricals created much hilarity. Mr. Burke is a hard worker, both in the burlesque and his specialty, and his efforts received hearty recognition. McDonald and Huested in their specialty were encored. Frankie Haines' character songs were well rendered. Next week, the Fay Foster Burlesque Co. Sam Dessauer has entered into an arrangement with Jas. Donaldson Jr. for the London during the entire Summer season. The best variety talent will be booked by him. Mr. Dessauer has been re-engaged to manage the tour of the Muldoon-Henry Burlesque Co. next season.

BIJOU THEATRE.—Bobby Gaylor deserved a much larger audience than that which greeted him at the Bijou Monday night, May 16, when he gave the first New York performance of "Sport McAllister;" but if the house had been densely packed its laughs could not have been more numerous than were evoked by Mr. Gaylor's grotesque comicality. He was favored with plaudits and guffaws enough to stamp his performance as a howling success, and he need have no fear that "Sport McAllister" will not hereafter be welcomed as often as it may come to town. The farce is by Chas. T. Vincent, and has been acted out of town all season with pronounced success. It is not a bit more dignified than the general run of folly plays, but it is at least crisp, brisk and clever. The company work together harmoniously and rapidly, most of the specialties being excellent. Georgie Parker, Cammie Cleveland and C. W. Young were conspicuously useful in the fun making, though all the people, for that matter, did excellently. The musical selections were generally good and new. We give the full cast: Jeremiah McAllister, Robert Gaylor; Dennis McGinty, J. P. Carroll; John McAllister, Hugh Mack; Percy Devere, Peter Randall; Chauncey Ryskes, Chas. W. Young; Patsy Slow, Servis Time. M. J. Sullivan; T. Jefferson Couch, George E. Dodge; Peter Hinkle, William Keough; Francois Boulanger, Harry McDargh; Guessippe Spaghetti, H. E. Darce; Policeman Sands, William Keough; Tilda, Georgie Parker; Genevieve McGinty, Camille Cleveland; Mrs. McAllister, Mrs. May Gaylor; Minnie Chester, Irene Hernandez; Sadie Brady, Katie Murphy; Sallie McCarthy and Winnie Martin, neighbors of McAllister, represented by Bessie Gilbert, Lilla Von Rosen, Bella La Verde and Ada Montrose. Mr. Gaylor's tour is under the management of W. A. Brady. The engagement at the Bijou may extend through next week.

WINDSOR THEATRE.—Henry T. Chanfrau, in "Kit," made his first downtown appearance this season May 16, and drew a well filled house. The first three rows of the orchestra were occupied by old volunteer firemen and their wives. The singing and dancing specialties introduced by J. F. Mackie, Harry C. Dietz, Little Dot Clarendon and the Alabama Colored Quartet were excellent, and received considerable applause. Several encores were awarded each. Next week, the last of the season, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

H. R. JACOBS' THEATRE.—The attraction this week is "U and I," with Tim Cronin as O'Donovan Innes, in which role he was highly entertaining and amusing. He was ably seconded by Frank Gardner, who was quite funny as Prof. John Ungerblotz. Katie Rooney was excellent as Babette, her specialties being particularly commendable. Nellie Page, as Mlle. Vermicelli, sang well. The others of the company did all that was expected of them. Samuel Curry, as Oliver Twist Haphazard; John Gilroy, as Adam Clubber; Will Gardner, as Percy Van Astor; Will Reilly, as Clarence Eustace Callie F. Gardner, as Mrs. Ungerblotz; Anna L. Kinnir, Edith Bagley, Marie Nelson, Nettie Nelson, Emma Wells, Grace Gally and Kitty Beck complete the cast. Next week, "One of the Bravest."

"EDDIE" BULL'S BENEFIT.—It was a corker. The boys turned out in crowds, both afternoon and evening of May 12, at the London, in order to show their kind feeling towards this popular treasurer, and in consequence he has been able to swell his collection of earthly possessions by a considerable sum. As the performers who volunteered, they were almost equal in number to those who witnessed their efforts. A fine programme had been arranged, and was carried out without a hitch, all appearing in their turn, with but few exceptions. Several debuts were made, and, in the cases of Augusta Edwina and Maud Curtiss, dancers, and Clancy and Cross, neat Irish business, resulted in immediate engagements. Lizzie Derious Daly made her first appearance on the Bowery in several years, and scored a hit. Mathews and Bulger, Eddie Quinn, Tiddlewinks Bonnie Thornton, Billy West, Texarkansas and the others on the lengthy programme all worked hard and acceptably.

MINER'S BOWERY THEATRE.—Bob Fitzsimmons' Co. changed their field of operations to this house, and opened to big business May 16. The specialties were well received, and the boxing bouts created wild enthusiasm, among the occupants of the upper tiers especially. Next week, Reilly & Wood's Show.

A DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT will be given by the Ninth Regiment Dramatic Association at Grand Opera House Hall on Wednesday evening, May 18. The bill will be "Between Two Fires," a military comedy drama in three acts, presented by a specially selected cast.

"THE PAPER CHASE," an eccentric comedy, by Charles Thomas, of London, Eng., was acted for the first time in America May 16, at Daly's Theatre, by Rosina Vokes and her company, thus cast: Mr. Busby, Felix Morris; Mr. Baskerville, Ferd. Gottschalk; Captain Kirby, Courtenay Thorpe; Mr. Wagstaffe, Jameson Lee Finney; Inspector Glimmer, Grant Stewart; Dixon, Walter Granville; Mrs. Baskerville, Flora Clitherow; Nelly Busby, Evangeline Irving; Pedder, Marion Kilby; Mrs. Pomfret, Rosina Vokes. The piece was originally performed at the Strand Theatre, London, on June 9, 1888, and has been placed in Miss Vokes' repertory on the advice, it is said, of Mrs. Kendal, who saw its English representation. It turns out to be merely a rather awkward revision of "A Scrap of Paper," lacking the literary brilliance and the constructive excellence of M. Sardou's fine play, and substituting for those merits a rather clumsy low comedy vein. The piece, however, is tolerably witty, entirely brisk, almost to the extent of farce, and on the whole may be commended as likely to mildly amuse its audiences. It was fairly well performed, the best work being done by Miss Vokes and Mr. Morris. This is the last week of Miss Vokes' present season. She will sail for England at the close of her engagement at Daly's, and that theatre will then be dark for the Summer.

MARGARET MATHER appeared in "Nance Oldfield" and "The Egyptian" May 16 at the Grand Opera House attracting an excellent attendance. The drama is a version in five acts of Victor Hugo's old novel, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." Margaret Mather's respective impersonations of Nance Oldfield and Esmeralda elicited appreciative applause, and she was well supported by a company including Otis Skinner, H. A. Langdon, Joseph E. Whiting, White Whittlesey, James Cooper, Stephen Wright, Josephine Eytinge, Carrie Jamison, Lucille La Verne, Maud Pleasants and Mrs. Jamison. "The Midnight Alarm" is announced 23, followed by Kate Claxton in "The Two Orphans" 30.

A RUNAWAY TEAM dashed into the lobby of the Grand Opera House shortly after the performance commenced evening of May 16, and the audience were momentarily startled by the unwonted noise.

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE.—Quaint Harry Kernell and his unctious brother John came together again, after a long separation, on Monday night, May 16, and fairly made the rafters ring with their familiar but ever pleasing "sidewalk Conversation." Admirers of this popular pair of Celtic comedians were on hand in full force, and this made their presence known in a way that was nothing if not encouraging. There were other good entertainers on the bill besides the Kernells, who also came in for liberal approval. The list included the Ashton Bros., limber athletes and clever gun spinners; Blanche Andrews, a charming balladist; the Zuhlkas, a capital pair of dancers and singers; O'Brien and Havel, in a very enjoyable sketch; Gertie Reynolds, a dainty dancer; Blocksom and Burns, comedians of ability, and that couple of tip top fun makers, O'Brien and Redding.

"ERRMANN'S THEATRE.—"Elysium," a lyric comedy in three acts, by William Fleron had its initial hearing on Monday night, May 16. Approval, uncertain and often indiscreet, was evidenced by an audience that made up in friendly enthusiasm what it lacked in size. "Elysium" is confessedly founded on Mario Urchard's French novel, "Mon Oncle Barbasson," dramatization of which, under the same title, was produced at the Gymnase Theatre, Paris, Fr., Nov. 6, 1889. The American translation is singularly similar to the French adaptation. Briefly told, the story is that of a young man who falls heir to a fortune and a harem by the supposed death of a scapegrace uncle, who afterward turns up but cannot reclaim his property because his deserted wife keeps close upon his track. The young man enjoys his possessions to the full for a while, but ultimately settles down quietly with a particular member of his harem, gives the others of his household into the care of a foil lower, and, with the adjusting of his uncle's domestic affairs, everything ends happily. This is all set in prose and poetry, as befits the scenes and situations while there is a generous sprinkling of music through out. Although offering some charm to the eye, and a little delight to the ear now and then, "Elysium" utterly failed to satisfy the understanding. Far fetched in idea, audacious in dialogue, faulty in construction, and weak in episodes, it obtained slight critical favor. In fact, it was probably only saved from a complete fiasco through the cleverness of its interpretation and the picturesqueness of its mounting. Whatever may be said in condemnation of the bold and brazen text, there is no gainsaying the thorough competency of the cast, the magnificence of the scenery and the richness of the costumes, while the dance and song interpolations proved refreshing to a degree. Jessie Williams had contributed some catchy tuneful music, and the lyrics were furnished by Pearl Eytinge. Incidental to the second act Avita, a capital dancer, executed with delicious abandon a "Kouta Kouta" dance, whatever that may be. She was heartily encored, as were Maggie Deane and Jennie Goldthwaite, who each sang a charming ditty very sweetly. Max Figman, an always clever comedian, did the best he could with the very distasteful role of a falsetto voiced eunich. A. W. F. Mac Collin and Pearl Eytinge were fairly effective as Monsieur and Madame Barbasson, respectively. Clement Bainbridge made as good a harem owner as his part allowed. The octet of odalesques proved highly delectable. Besides Misses Goldthwaite and Dean, grace, beauty and melody were lent to the chorus by Dora Percival, Maud Fenton, Lillie Madison, Rose Figman, Rita Emerson and Rene Ferris. The complete cast: Andre De Peyrade, Clement Bainbridge; Mohammed, Max Figman; Barbasson, A. W. F. MacCollin; Madame Barbasson, Pearl Eytinge; Herbert Brooks, Alexis Giasko; Pierre, Lionel Lawrence; Koochi, Jennie Goldthwaite; Havire, Maggie Deane; Nazli and Marie, Lillie Madison; Zoura, Avita; Lolah, Rose Figman; Selmah, Dora Percival; Zuleika, Rita Emerson; Idalla, Rene Ferris; Katinka, Maud Fenton; Pansy, Dorothy Drew. "Elysium" is expected to have an indefinite run.

Harlem.—The last week of the season at the Harlem Opera House opened May 16 with Vernona Jarbeau, in "Starlight," to a good house.

COLUMBUS THEATRE.—Our correspondent fails to mention this house in his report this week. "The Police Patrol" is the attraction.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—Gus Hill's World of Novelties began a week's engagement and the last week of their season 16 to a good audience. Next week, Lester & Williams' "Me and Jack" Co. Manager James H. Curtin takes his annual benefit 30.

THE HARLEM THEATRE is tenantless.

HARLEM MUSEUM.—This week's bill: Curio hall—Alice Lee, W. J. O'Brien, Salvato and Tatali, Giovani's trained monkey, John A. Eckert, Olive, and Punch and Judy. Stage—Phil. H. Mortan and Harry Coleman, Dan Nash, Charles Saunders and Lillie Burdell, Barney and Ora Mullally, Maude Bruce and Geo. M. Devere.

MAMMOTH PAVILION.—This place opened for the season 16, with a good company, and a big attendance was the result.

NEW YORK STATE.

Brooklyn.—The closing of one theatre May 14, and the fact that another will lock its doors 21, together with the report that still another may close the same date, foretell the approaching end of the present season. The exciting opening of the local racing season had an appreciable effect upon attendance at the various houses 19, the audiences not being of a size to encourage strong hopes for the week. However, the average attractions for the week should keep business at the fair mark, and in one or two cases should bring patronage to a high water level for this season of the year.

PARK THEATRE.—Aug. Pitou's Co., which has been seen in the Eastern District, opened its first downtown engagement at this house 16. The names composing the company, and the favorable reputation preceding them should warrant a prophecy of good business, although the opening house was only fair. "A Modern Match" was the play, and its presentation, in every detail, left little to be desired. They change the bill 20 to "Geoffrey Middleton," for the balance of the week. Herrmann exhibited his dexterity to large houses last week. Next week, "La Cigale."

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—As the closing attraction of the season Manager Knowles this week introduces Charles Dickson, who pays his first visit to the Western District of our city since starting out as a star. The vehicle of introduction is "Incog," which comes with the plaudits of a late metropolitan engagement. An audience not large, but appreciative, welcomed him 16. "The Salt Cellar" made an acceptable curtain raiser. "The City Directory" met with its customary success last week, and closed to good results 14.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Zig-Zag" has not visited this section of the country this season, and has been somewhat remodeled and recast since former visits. Its current engagements began 16, and the play was welcomed by an audience of fair proportions. Such of the interpolated specialties as were good received their meed of applause, the most deserved measure being accorded the whistling of Tom Browne and the singing of Paul Barnes. The curtain raiser was "The Duel in the Snow." Robert Mantell did well last week. "The Two Orphans" 23.

STAR THEATRE.—John L. Sullivan is in town—a fact made apparent by the one packed house of the city, gathered to witness "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands" 16. As the play has been seen too often to need comment, suffice it to say that it was well presented. "Broderick Agra" 19-21. "The Planter's Wife" had a fair week ending 14. "The Golden Giant" 23.

HYDE & BEHMAN'S THEATRE.—The third in succession of house bills occupies the stage this week, opening 19 to an attendance showing the effect of strong outside attraction. The early coming in of farce comedy companies evidently furnishes a rich field for the gathering of house companies. The material of the present company is Wood and Sheppard, Bryant and Richmond, Nat Haines and Geo. A. Booker, the De Forrests, Lassard and Lucifer, John E. Drew, Acme Four, Barney Reynolds and Capitola Forrest. Business last week was good. The French Folly Burlesque Co. 23.

HUBER & GEBHARDT'S CASINO.—Full houses are this week applauding the entertaining bill furnished by the Three Melvilles, Allen and Rankin, Clark and Williams, Joseph Natus, Alma Bellini, Lottie Rice and Minnie Schult.

AMPHION.—"The Two Sisters" began a week's engagement here 16 under favorable circumstances. The role of Heron Pepper, created by Frank Mordaunt, is acceptably assumed by Ad. Ryman, the ex-minstrel. E. H. Sothern's engagement was successful. Coming 23, Vernona Jarbeau.

LEE AVENUE.—After a week's darkness this house opened 16 with "Bewitched." Robert Dunstan essayed the leading character. The comedy was favorably received by a fair audience. "The House on the Marsh" comes 23.

NOVELTY THEATRE.—J. J. Sullivan opened to a big house 16, in "The Black Thorn." New music, new specialties and new jokes have been added since last seen in his part of town. Business last week was good. Coming 23, "Edelweis."

LYCEUM THEATRE.—"Uncle Tom's Cabin," with Harry Webber as Marks, is the attraction this week. The opening house was large. Business continues good. Snyder & Buckley's Minstrels 23.

GRAND THEATRE.—With this week the house closes its regular season. Manager McLean says this season has been far more profitable than last season, which was an increase on the previous one. The house will reopen 30, when Treasurer W. K. McLean will benefit. The May Morgan Athletic and Vaudeville Co. fills the house this week. A wrestling bout between May Morgan and Sadie De Forrest concludes each performance. John Whitman, the heavyweight lifter, is with the company.

NOTES.—Proprietor Robbins has decided to open the season of comic opera at the Novelty Theatre, June 11. The house will be elaborately decorated with fragrant plants, stately palms, delicate ferns, and the lobby will be banked with shrubs, magnolias and palms. The season will open with "The Black Hussar," with Hubert Wilke in the title role and Mountjoy Walker as Pifkow. The best talent possible will be secured, and no expense will be spared to make the venture a success..... Treasurer George Sloan will benefit at the Bedford 21.

The attaches of the Lee Avenue Academy benefit all this week, and Manager May and Treasurer Albery have benefit 30. ... The benefit to Treasurer W. K. McLean, of the Grand Theatre, 30, promises to be a rouser. Talent from many of the companies that have played the house have volunteered, and the advance sale looks as if the house would be crowded..... Serious illness prevented the appearance of Charles Seymour at Hyde & Behman's 16. ... Prof. Herrmann has been ordered to appear in supplementary proceedings this week, a consequence of a judgment secured by Harry Kennedy in his late suit for unpaid salary..... Brooklyn Lodge, No. 22, B. P. O. E., held a successful ad es' social session at the Bedford Avenue Theatre Sunday, 15.

Buffalo.—The regular season is practically at an end here, and comic opera is now the ticket all over town. At the Star Theatre, "The Isle of Champagne," by Charles Alfred Byrne, Louis Harrison, and W. W. Furst, received its first production May 16. Thos. Q. Seabrooke heads the list of singers. Geo. W. Lederer is manager, and Max Freeman, stage director. Edgar Strakosch's Co. produce "The Gypsy Baron" next week, beginning a fortnight's engagement. The principals of the organization are Charles W. Bigelow, W. H. Fitzgerald, Laura Millard, Alice Carle, Lillian Swain, Rose Leighton, Minnie Pabst, Margurite Eisfeldt, Misses Huntington, Wilson, Kenton, De Short, Brooks and Schuler, Mr. Taglieri, Kurkamp, J. K. Adams, Burton A. Colliver. The company open at Schlitz's Park, Milwaukee, Wis., for a long season.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Mr. and Mrs. George Henshel 25; Buffalo Lodge, No. 23, B. O. P. Elks' benefit 28, Miss Hellett 30-June 4. "The Voodoo" and Aug. Pitou's Co. did a large business.

MUSIC HALL.—Shackford Opera Co. headed by Eloise Mortimer Cole, begin a long season 30. "Said Pasha" is to be staged first.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—"The Pulse of New York" began on a week 16. Next week, "My Colleen." "The County Fair" had a succession of crowded houses.

H. R. JACOBS' COURT STREET THEATRE.—"Carmencita" having disbanded, this old playhouse has closed for the season. New ideas will prevail on the re opening, high class attractions will rule and the vaudeville will be bidden adieu. Many improvements are contracted for.

ROBINSON'S MUSEE-THEATRE.—Lecture Hall—This week: Yucca, Gelette's Monkeys, Alfred Pilgrim and the Hungarian Band. Stage Johnson, Riano and Bentay Billy Kennedy, Harry McBride, Mammie Goodrich, Chas. A. Harris, Nellie Walters, Le Petite Freddie, Max Wettengill and Jessie K. Giles.

SHEA'S MUSIC HALL.—This week: Lydia Yeamans, T. D. Titus, Emma Harrold, Grace Milburn, Kitty Wolfe, Fanny Bloodgood and Sefton.

FOREPAUGH'S CIRCUS came 16, 17.

Rochester.—At the Lyceum, Cleveland's

Minstrels give a single performance May 20. "Tuxedo" drew large audiences 10, 11. Due 27, 28. "Miss Helyett."

H. R. JACOBS' ACADEMY began 16 with "One of the Bravest" for the week. Last week, Gus Hill's Specialty Co. did a large business. Due 23 and week, H. T. Chanfrau.

ROBINSON'S MUSEE-THEATRE continued large during the week. This week: Lecture Halls—The Sacred Family of Aquitania and Valentine's Italian Band. Theatre—Lucians, Murphy and Mack, John L. Simonds, Emma Berger, Lottie Tremont, Sam Dearin and Rastus, Symonds and Hughes.

Troy.—The Griswold Opera House is dark May

16, 17, "By Proxy" 18, "The Great Metropolis" 19, 20, 21. "Miss Helyett" 25. Thomas Keene did a large business 3, 14, closing his season, which was a supplementary one.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia.—Run through the announcements of local managers, and you will discover that the patron of Summer opera will be well provided for during the hot months. Echoes of preparations to this end are all that can be heard just now. It is a question how many managers will regret their invasion of the warm weather field. There's nothing like trying. The jury charged with the investigation of the deaths by the Central Theatre fire rendered a verdict May 14, after a session of twenty-four hours. To be exact in reporting their decision, I give the following verbatim extract from the verdict: "The jury impanelled to inquire into the cause of the death in the cases of Vincenzira Chitten, William Lincoln Bowker, Thomas Alexander Ross, Florence Mitchell Ross, Fanchon Conyers, Sarah Goldman, Thomas Atchison, Joseph Silver, Everett W. Holmes, Randolph Patterson, Charles Greggs, Henry McCloskey, Amer Hinchcliffe and James Pidgeon find that the same was due to injuries received at the fire which occurred April 27, 1892, at the Central Theatre, Walnut Street, west of Eighth. The origin of the fire was due to the ignition of a border by a gas jet in a first border light. We also find from the evidence that the lessee and his employes were grossly negligent in not providing sufficient means of exit from the galleries, one of the two stairways leading therefrom being closed at the street and open at the gallery landing, the other being partly obstructed on the middle landing between the gallery and the street; in not having convenient means of access to fire escapes on Walnut Street, the doors or corridors leading thereto having to be broken open and there were no red lights to indicate the location of the fire escape, as required by law, in not having means of exit from the dressing rooms of the performers directly to the outside of the building, instead of by way of the stage or auditorium, which, we believe, was probably the cause of sacrificing the lives of four of the company, whose bodies were found in the passage way, on the west side of the theatre, leading from the stage to the auditorium back of the proscenium boxes. We also find that the fire marshal, building inspectors and others who composed the Board of Escapes, who inspect and report on the buildings in the district where this theatre was located, were negligent and derelict in not discovering and reporting to the proper authorities that red lights were not placed at entrances to fire escapes; that the fire escapes were not adequate in general construction to accommodate the exit of those present on the night of the fire, and the fact that the eastern stairway was generally closed and locked. During the time this inquest was in progress your jury visited a number of theatres in this city, and were surprised to find that in some of them the laws governing the exits, fire escapes, fire extinguishing apparatus, etc., were not complied with, and that the inspection of such places is not as rigid and searching as the necessity warrants." I want to say, in justice to Manager Gilmore, that those who know Mr. Gilmore need not be assured that whatever may have been the defects in his house they were unsuspected by him, and would otherwise have been remedied. His solicitude for those who sustained injury, and his unremitting care for their needs places him in a creditable position, in which he is not to be disturbed by the perfunctory verdict of a coroner's jury. A deuce of a row has been stirred up by the asinity of a local insurance agent, who, aided by the amazing stupidity of a newspaper, published a list of local theatres, with the statement that they presented "the same structural defects that the Central had." I need quote but one of his instances to show the gross incorrectness of the charges. According to the table, the Grand Opera House is a death trap. As a matter of fact, if there is a theatre in the country that offers perfect immunity to an audience in case of fire, it is this same house of but one balcony, wide aisles and numerous exits. The publication of such an article naturally affected the business of the houses mentioned, and the managers, desiring to relieve the captious newspaper of the responsibility of sanctioning death traps, have withdrawn their advertisements. This is only a negative sort of punishment, but it will probably cause the publishers to regret their foolish and unnecessary action.

CHESTNUT STREET OPERA HOUSE.—Interest was added to the closing dramatic season by the local production of "The Foresters," by Aug. Daly's Co. I am given to understand that the advance sale for the week is extraordinarily large, so large that all else that comes to the mill is pure velvet. Very big and decidedly cordial audiences approved of last week's repertory. Edward Harrigan comes 23 for a week, and the season is ended.

CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.—A season of Summer opera, the duration of which will depend entirely upon the fickle public, was inaugurated 16 with "The Little Tycoon," R. E. Graham leading. The house was dark last week.

BROAD STREET THEATRE.—The last week of a successful season began 16 with the first performance here of "Her Ladyship," a comedy in three acts, by H. Grattan Donnelly. [The piece was originally acted at Newburg, N. Y., May 12.—ED. CLIPPER.] The play was written expressly for Helen Barry, who enacts the part of Lady Victoria Hastings, an English woman, traveling in America, and who takes a hand in the political game of the country. This, of course, in the interest of the man she loves. There is a pleasant love current running through the play. The people: Walter S. Graven, Odell Williams, W. B. Arnold, Charles Bowser, Francis Neilson, E. J. Morgan, Frank Butler, J. C. Cherry, Mary Limberman, Zenaide Vilsaire, Fanny Denham Rouse, Annie Haines, Kate Weston and Helen Barry.

PARK THEATRE.—The Summer season of opera, which was to have been ushered in 16, is postponed until 21 to permit further time for the elaborate staging of "Genevieve de Brabant" and for a more thorough drilling of a company, several members of which have yet to become acquainted with the operatic stage. Rehearsals will take place daily, and an adequate production is therefore assured. "Dr. Bill" did fairly last week.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—"Little Tippet," which received its first regular production last week, is a play which I hesitate to criticize, lest I be charged with squeamishness. This much may be fairly asserted: There is not the slightest doubt of its drawing powers among a clientel that is not offended by suggestiveness or shady allusions. In "Little Tippet" there is much that is praiseworthy, but it is so completely buried beneath the mass that is censurable, that one does not feel inclined to dig through the muck to find the pearl. If I am prejudiced in these opinions the local press is open to the same charge. "Little Tippet" drew good audiences last week, and will probably do as well this week. "By Proxy," a new American comedy by Charles Klein, is down for production 23.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Rosabel Morrison returned 16 with "The Danger Signal." "The Police Patrol" was well patronized last week. The Swedish Summer opera season begins 23 with a revival of "Falka."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Gratified by the generous response of the music loving public to his liberal efforts, Manager Kelly grows even more enterprising, and foo. the current week presents the new American Opera Co. in a repertory of exceeding interest. "Aida" started off 16, and is followed by "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Marriage by Lantern," "La Traviata," "Il Trovatore" and "La Gioconda." Audiences of good size prevailed last week.

NATIONAL THEATRE.—Frederick Paulding appeared 16 in "The Struggle of Life." John L. Sullivan's presence packed the house last week. May 23, "The Pulse of New York."

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Tony Farrell was seen 16 in "My Colleen." Fair audiences were in front last week, when W. S. Cleveland's Minstrels held the stage. May 23, "U and I."

GIRARD AVENUE THEATRE.—"Forget Me Not" was staged 16, Jeffreys Lewis heading the company. "Moss Roses" was approved by moderate audiences last week. May 23, "Our Angel."

FOREPAUGH'S THEATRE.—A revival of "The Creole," staged 16 with Isabel Morris in the lead, closed the successful season at this popular theatre. Good audiences enjoyed "A Wife's Peril" last week.

BIJOU.—Big attendance is still the daily feature here. Summer brings no relaxation of the strain on the box office deity. Last week, jammed houses were common. This week, "Dorothy" is revived by the Gaiety Opera Co. In the variety bill: Falke and Semon, Laura Bennett, Charles Diamond, Harry Fielding, Maggie Walker, Matthews and Harris, James Gray and Alexander and Bailey.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Flynn's London Gaiety Girls appeared 16. Turner's English Gaiety Girls did well last week.

STANDARD THEATRE.—"Mrs. Partington" was revived 16. "Burr Oaks" had fair attendance last week. May 23, "May Blossom."

NINTH AND ARCH MUSEUM.—A number of colored men from this and other cities are engaged this week in a butting contest for a series of cash prizes. Other than this the bill is largely made up of hold overs. In the theatre, "A Pair of Husbands."

NOTES.—The Bijou has already put in operation its cooling appliances.....Mascagni's new opera, "Amico Fritz," will soon be given its first performance in America at the Grand Opera House.....A Summer season at the Standard will begin May 30. .. The following people have

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

JOHN J. SWEENEY.—This widely known and uncommonly clever Irish comedian and variety performer died on May 13, at 10 o'clock A. M., at his late residence, Jamaica, L. I. He had been ill about six months, and his end was comparatively painless. His disease was consumption, accentuated by hemorrhages. Mr. Sweeney was born in Ireland April 6, 1863, and came to this country before he was a year old. His parents settled at Brooklyn, N. Y., and at that city and Chicago he was brought up. He made his debut on the stage in 1879 as a member of R. E. J. Miles' Juvenile Opera Co., singing with success in "Pinafore" and "The Chimes of Normandy." His first variety partner was Dennis McCarthy (later of Dolan and McCarthy), the team being known as Sweeney and McCarthy. On Sept. 8, 1881, he joined Cliff Ryland whose first partner was Tom McGill, and their relations continued until a few weeks ago, when ill health caused Mr. Sweeney's retirement. Mr. Ryland then associating himself with Mr. Golden, of Golden and Quigg. The team of Sweeney and Ryland became very popular, and were always in brisk demand. Their act was intensely funny, thoroughly original and never too boisterous. In June, 1885, they made their debut in England, remaining abroad three months at that time. Two subsequent English engagements were fulfilled by them, and they had become highly popular on the other side. They had traveled a number of seasons with Rich & Harris' Howard Athenæum Co., and all last season they were a notable feature of W. A. Brady's "After Dark" Co. Mr. Sweeney's last appearance was at Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre, this city, on April 2 last. The funeral occurred 15, the interment being in the Jamaica cemetery, and the Actors' Fund assisting in defraying the expenses. Deceased leaves a widow, but no children. His father, sister and brothers also survive him.

COL. HENRY G. PARKER, editor of The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette, died in that city May 13, after an illness of only three days, of pneumonia. He was born at Plymouth, Mass., in 1836, and when sixteen years of age began to write for the press. For many years he was dramatic critic of The Boston Courier, and in his professional capacity he stirred up the irascible Edwin Forrest to such an extent that the tragedian threatened personal violence, and refused him admission to the theatre. This affair was a great sensation in its day. Col. Parker was general secretary of the Great Peace Jubilee of 1869, and was for four years a member of the Governor's staff.

WILLIAM H. LEAKE.—News of the death, on March 15, in Australia, of this once famous actor reaches us as we go to press. It is about ten years since Mr. Leake left this country for Australia, where he had since remained, making this first hit there as Joe Saunders in "My Partner." He was born at London, Eng., in 1832, and first appeared on the stage in 1857, as a "super" at Buffalo, N. Y. His Philadelphia debut was made in 1862, at the Arch Street Theatre, and his New York debut in 1868, at Niblo's Garden, in the support of Edwin Forrest. In the Fall of 1868 he opened the then new Academy of Music, Indianapolis, Ind., which he managed through that season (1868-9) and for some seasons following he continued to manage and act in the West. He was an all 'round good actor and at one time was leading man for Edwin Booth. His first attempt in opera was as Don Florio, July 28, 1865, in "The Rose of Castile"—his first production in America—at the Olympic, this city. Mme. Comte Burchald was the Elvira. The Summer of 1867 he was in the support of Mlle. Zoe in "The French Spy" at the Worrell Sisters' Theatre, this city. In March, 1874, he appeared in "Gold Mad" at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, this city. In July, 1878, he was in the cast of "The Vivandiere" at the Grand Opera House, and in June, 1880 he starred at the Windsor in "The Three Guardsmen." With his wife (Annie Waite) he starred with success. When Chas. Arnold was in the Colonies with Hans the Boatman" he was in the company and sailed Yank Thursby. When Mr. Arnold came to America Mr. Leake secured the Australian rights to the play. He was twice married—first to Annie Waite and last to Hetty Lambrette, who is at South Adelaide, Aus., in poor circumstances. His death was due to heart disease.

DAVID OAKES died in the insane asylum at Middletown, N. J., May 13. He was about forty-five years old, and was blind as well as insane. His first appearance on the stage was at Tony Pastor's old Bowery Theatre, this city. He leaves a wife and mother. The burial was in the Actors' Fund plot at the Cemetery of the Evergreens.

J. F. WARD, of the New York Theatrical Mechanical Association, died in this city May 13.

JOSEPHINE GEHLACH, a Warsaw, Poland, ballet girl, was murdered about May 1, by Boguluslawa Crezicka, a lady of high position, who was jealous of the dancer. The murderess was arrested.

Team Relay Race.

The seventy-five miles bicycle road race, projected by J. C. Wetmore, an enthusiastic New Jersey member of the Order of 'Cyclists, who offered a trophy for the event, came off over the Union County roads, at Elizabeth, May 14. The race was confined to Union County wheelmen, and the offer of the promoter was accepted by the Elizabeth Wheelmen, Union County Roadsters, Elizabeth Athletic Club and Union League Wheelmen, but when the day of racing came only the Elizabeth organizations were represented by teams of five men each, as follow: Elizabeth Wheelmen—G. H. Davey, F. C. Gilbert, A. P. Campbell, Edward Morris and F. E. Ensworth. Elizabeth A. C.—H. J. Bauer, A. G. Laggrem, James Blake, H. N. Saltonstall and S. B. Bowman. The names are given in the order of the relays in which they took part. The route and distances traveled were: First relay, Elizabeth to Rahway, to Westfield, to Scott's press works, Plainfield, 14¼ miles; second relay, Plainfield to Springfield, to intersection of Summit and New Providence roads, to Springfield Hotel, 16¾ miles; third relay, Springfield Hotel to old church, to Milburn, to Irvington Hotel, to Springfield and Morris Avenue, to Springfield Hotel, 11¾ miles; fourth relay, Springfield to Elizabeth, to Scott's press works, Plainfield, 18¼ miles; fifth relay, Plainfield to Westfield, to Rahway, to place of starting at Elizabeth, 14¼ miles. Total, 75 miles.

The first relay got away well and made splendid time. Davey reached Plainfield at 1.54 o'clock, finishing four minutes ahead of Bauer. Each rider carried a pouch containing an imaginary dispatch. Upon the completion of their ride at Plainfield the pouches were transferred and the second relay, Gilbert and Laggren, were dispatched on the journey. They rode from Plainfield to Springfield. Gilbert arrived first at 2.47 o'clock, Laggren's time being 2.51. At Springfield, Campbell and Blake were sent off without delay. They rode through Hilton to Irvington and finished at the Springfield Hotel. Blake passed Campbell and finished ahead by nearly three minutes. Blake dismounted at 3.28.30, Campbell at 3.31.08. From this point Morris and Saltonstall took up the riding. They finished at Plainfield. Saltonstall arrived at 4.28, Morris finishing at 4.35. The final relay brought out S. B. Bowman and F. E. Ensworth. Bowman finished first at 5.17 o'clock, making his club's aggregate time 4h. 16m., and securing the trophy.

Philadelphia to Newark.

The one hundred mile road race promoted by the Business Men's 'Cycle League, of Newark, N. J., came off on Monday, May 16. The starting point was the corner of Broad Street and Lehigh Avenue, Philadelphia, and the destination of the riders, McCloskey's Road House, Newark. The weather could not have been finer than it was, but, unfortunately, the roads were in bad condition, owing to the heavy rains of Saturday and Sunday, and the participants found the traveling both difficult and unpleasant, by reason of the mud that clogged their wheels and bespattered their persons. There were fifty starters, many of whom dropped out of the race long before the finish was reached. The scratchmen were Frank Dampman, of the Quaker City Wheelmen, and W. A. Seeds, Warren Athletic Club, the others being allowed start up to forty minutes. After arriving at Nicetown, it was found necessary for the men to dismount and trundle their wheels for some distance an operation they had to repeat several times before arriving at Trenton. In fact, the roads were so bad that the race became a farce. At Bound Brook Seeds was seized with a cramp and tumbled from his wheel, Dampman dismounting and rubbing him for about twelve minutes, till Seeds was in condition to resume riding. J. W. Goulding, of the Mercer County Wheelmen, 34m. start, had the lead at Plainfield; G. W. Coffin, Business Men's 'Cycle League, 21m. start, second; Dampman third. The time was 1.15 P. M., the start having been made at 6.28 A. M. Soon afterward Coffin took the lead, while both Dampman and D. T. Wayne, Warren A. C., 29m. start, passed Goulding, who was very tired. Coffin continued in front, finally reaching McCloskey's road house at 2.48.30, followed by Dampman at 2.54.45, Wayne being third, at 3.05.10; Goulding fourth, at 3.08.30; James Blake, U. C. R., 37m., fifth, at 3.10.15. The winner's actual time was 7h. 51m. 30s.; Dampman's, 7h. 36m. 48s.

The Rockland County Meet.

The annual race meeting of the Rockland County Wheelmen was the sporting event at the Spring Valley, N. Y., fair grounds on Saturday afternoon, May 14. The success of the meet was affected by a drizzling rain, which also spoiled the work of the riders by making the track soft and slow. However, the spectators who braved the elements witnessed some very good competitions. Summary:

Two mile safety bicycle race—Won by G. Smith, R. W.; E. Goodwin, New York City, second. Time, 7m. 18s.

Running high jump—Won by E. W. Goff, M. A. C.; height, 4ft. 8in.; F. Hener, M. A. C., second.
Running broad jump—Won by E. W. Goff, M. A. C.; distance, 18ft. 9in.; E. S. Smith, M. A. C., second.
Putting the 16lb shot—Won by E. S. Jenning, St. George A. C., 32ft.; E. W. Goff, M. A. C., second.
One mile safety bicycle race—Won by G. C. Smith, R. W.; E. W. Goodwin, New York City, second. Time, 3m. 54⅘s.
Five mile safety bicycle race—Won by C. H. Hanson, R. C. W., 350yds.; G. C. Smith, R. W., scratch second; E. W. Goodwin, New York City, third. Time, 19m. 34⅘s.

The Buffalo Meeting.

The Press 'Cycling Club of Buffalo, N. Y., under whose auspices the L. A. W. State meet will be held June 17, 18, have issued the following programme of races:

First Day—One mile safety, novice; one mile tandem, L. A. W. championship; half mile safety, scratch; half mile ordinary, handicap; half mile safety, handicap; half mile safety 1:20 class; two mile tandem, handicap; one mile safety, closed, Press 'Cycling Club championship; half mile ordinary, L. A. W. championship; two mile safety, handicap; quarter mile safety, flying start; three mile safety, lap race.

Second Day—Quarter mile safety, scratch; half mile tandem, scratch; one mile ordinary, 2:50 class; two mile safety, L. A. W. championship; one mile safety, three minute class; one mile safety, scratch; quarter mile ordinary, L. A. W. championship; two mile safety, handicap; one mile safety, closed, city championship; two mile safety, team race (team consists of three men from each club); one mile tandem, scratch; five mile safety, handicap.

The Bay State Meeting.

The annual race meet of the Bay State Bicycle Club at Worcester, Mass., May 30, 31, promises to be a notable gathering of wheelmen. The programme is as follows:

May 30—One mile safety, novice; two mile safety, L. A. W. state championship; one mile safety, open; one mile, L. A. W. state championship; one mile safety, three minute class; one mile tandem, safety, open; two mile safety, handicap; one mile ordinary, handicap; half mile ordinary, state championship; two mile safety, lap race.

May 31—One mile safety, Worcester County championship; one mile safety, 2:50 class; half mile safety, open; two miles, Worcester County championship; one mile safety, handicap; 100yds., slow race; one mile safety, open to the world (prize, an upright piano); one mile safety, Bay State championship; two mile safety, handicap; one mile safety, consolation.

A "Kangaroo" Chase.

The second "kangaroo" chase held under the auspices of the Manhattan Bicycle Club came off on Sunday, May 15. The name "kangaroo" is applied to the leader because he rides a machine of that make, which is of the old style, requiring more energy and strength to propel it than the kind now in general use, for which reason the rider is allowed a start of several minutes. This time the kangaroo was bestrode by R. H. Bartsch, who maintained his advantage and beat his pursuers home. The distance ridden was about twelve miles, over roads that were far from in good condition, and the majority of those who started off so gaily fell by the wayside, the mud making the traveling too tough for them. Bartsch finished the distance in an hour and a half. E. C. Banker, scratchman, made the best time of any of the contestants, but as Bartsch had twenty-two minutes the start of him, he could not catch up. His time was 50m. 45s. Romain Debes (19m.), went the distance in 51m. 30s.; G. H. Rockwood (15m.), 56m. 30s.; R. R. McFarland (11m.), 1h. 2m. 30s. These were the only ones to finish.

A. A. ZIMMERMAN, the American rider, was again defeated at the sports of the Notts Forest Football Club, held at Nottingham, Eng., May 3. He was among the starters for the scratch mile safety race, in which he finished second to E. Leitch, of the Polytechnic C. C., a first class rider, who won by half a length, in 3m. 8s.

THE Ninth Ward Pioneer Wheelmen Corps has been organized at No. 19 Abingdon Square, in the Ninth Ward, this city.

A HORSE VS. BICYCLE RACE will form one of the events on the programme of the Cortland (N. Y.) Wheelmen's race meet on June 13.

Zimmerman in England.

Although our 'cycling representative abroad, A. A. Zimmerman, was, owing mainly to very bad weather, a worse track, and want of acclimatization, unfortunate in suffering defeat on the occasion of his debut in England, he is to be given every opportunity to redeem his reputation, meet the best men over there, as well as on the Continent, and show his ability under the most favorable circumstances of weather and racing ground. The London County 'Cycling and Athletic Club have arranged the following fixtures for him during his sojourn in that country, which will close at Harrowgate, so far as racing is concerned, after which the American crack will visit the Continent, not forgetting to "take in" the gay sights of the French capital.

May 21, London County Club Spring meeting at Herne Hill. The best English, Scotch, Irish and Dutch riders have been invited to meet Mr. Zimmerman at one mile. May 28, Polytechnic C. C. at Paddington. June —, Championships of Europe at Berlin. June 18, National 'Cyclists' Union championship at Herne Hill. June 25, National 'Cyclists' Union championship at Leeds. July 9, London, Lewisham and Brixton meeting at Herne Hill. July 16, visit to Holland with a London County party. July 23, 25, Collingwood Club, Newcastle (probably). July 30, Harrowgate Camp with "Lacy Hillier's party."

W. F. MURPHY will attempt to lower the records for five, ten, fifteen, twenty and twenty-five miles over the Cranford, N. J., course on May 25.

THE RING.

McAuliffe and Myer.

At last there appears a cheering prospect of those old rivals and quondam antagonists on turf, Jack McAuliffe and Billy Myer, coming together again, with a strong probability of the contest forever settling the question as to their relative fighting powers. The articles drawn up by the representative of the Olympic Club, of New Orleans, and signed by McAuliffe while the latter was rusticating and trying the efficacy of the waters at Hot Springs have been signed by "The Western Cyclone" at Chicago, and for the information of our readers we present the agreement in full below:

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 5, 1892.

We, the undersigned, Billy Myer, of Streator, Ill., and Jack McAuliffe, do hereby agree to engage in a glove contest to a finish, before the Olympic Club, of New Orleans, on Saturday, Sept. 3, at 9 P. M. sharp, for a purse of $10,000, of which the winner is to receive $9,000 and the loser $1,000. We also each hereby agree to bet the sum of $5,000 a side, the money to be posted in the hands of the Olympic Club on the following dates: One thousand dollars on June 1, $1,000 on July 4, $1,000 on Aug 1 and $2,000 ten days previous to the day of the contest. The contest will be with five ounce gloves, according to Marquis of Queensberry rules. The club shall select an official timekeeper, each of us reserving the right to appoint one timekeeper each to represent us, said timekeepers to be subject to the approval of the club. We each agree to weigh in at 135lb at the ring side five minutes before the call of time, stripped. To guarantee our appearance at the proper time and place, we each hereby agree to deposit the sum of $1,000 in the hands of the Olympic Club. The one failing to appear at the proper time and place, or weighing more than 138lb, shall forfeit his deposit.

Goddard and McAuliffe.

Joe Goddard, otherwise known as "The Barrier Champion," has arrived at San Francisco, Cal., from Australia. He has made the trip mainly for the purpose of engaging in a glovical combat with big Joe McAuliffe, the "Mission Boy," who made so lamentable a show when pitted against Paddy Slavin in the rooms of a London club, but who threatens to do considerably better when he faces the Antipodean. That he may succeed in fully redeeming his reputation his numerous friends on the Pacific Coast sincerely hope, for many out there believe that he was in no way fitted to meet so determined a slugger as Slavin when he was so quickly put out of it in London. He will, therefore, have a host of well wishers in his coming engagement, which is to take place before the California Athletic Club, for a purse of $5,000, on Sept. 3. Goddard has shown himself to be a real good one, and will doubtless be the favorite, notwithstanding the preponderance of weight and height in favor of Mac. The latter is not possessed of the dogged determination and fire that are two of the prominent characteristics of the stiff puncher from the land of the bush. Goddard is a six footer, and his stated weight at present is 205lb, but he will rid himself of several pounds during training. He is accompanied by his brother Herbert, who has also shown himself to be a good 'un in encounters at home, and who comes here with the intention, if possible, of trying to add to his already good reputation by taking down the colors of one or more of the 158lb scrappers who flourish in the land of the free. He ought not to have much difficulty in getting accommodated without going more than a day's journey.

Fitzsimmons and Pritchard.

There is still uncertainty as to whether Bob Fitzsimmons and Ted Pritchard, of London, will meet before the Olympic Club, of New Orleans, for the $3,000 purse they offer. The Cockney agreed to meet Fitz for said purse, but he stipulated that the meeting should take place after the fight between him (Pritchard) and Jack O'Brien, and Fitzsimmons says that unless he gives up the engagement with the Welshman he will not make the match for the reason that he does not want to delay so long, as he has a tempting offer to travel with an amusement troupe, which will pay him better than loafing. The Olympic Club, through their president, have offered to pay Pritchard's forfeit in the O'Brien match if he will declare it off, and will give him $500 for expenses to come to America and meet Fitzsimmons on Sept. 6, but so far no response has been received. This indicates that the Englishman is not so very anxious to cross the ocean as had been by some supposed.

TOM WILLIAMS the Australian, who won the lightweight championship of the Antipodes by defeating George Dawson, but forfeited the title afterwards by failing to go on with his second match with the latter, and who is now in England, met Bill Hatcher at the rooms of the National Sporting Club in London, May 2. They battled for a purse of $1,000, and Hatcher got a crack on the jaw early in the opening rush that dazed him, after which he did not seem to know what he was doing. He was knocked down repeatedly, being finally sent through the ropes, where he lay till the time had expired and the Australian was proclaimed the victor. The loser was by no means satisfied, ascribing his defeat solely to accident, and doubtless they will come together again. Both appear to be rushing fighters, but from this encounter no correct opinion could be formed of the abilities of either man.

QUERIES ANSWERED.

No Replies by Mail or Telegraph.

ADDRESSES OR WHEREABOUTS NOT GIVEN, ALL IN QUEST OF SUCH SHOULD WRITE TO THOSE WHOM THEY SEEK, IN CARE OF THE CLIPPER POST OFFICE. ALL LETTERS WILL BE ADVERTISED ONE WEEK GRATIS. IF THE ROUTE OF ANY THEATRICAL COMPANY IS SOUGHT, REFER TO OUR LIST OF ROUTES ON ANOTHER PAGE. WE CANNOT SEND ROUTES BY MAIL OR TELEGRAPH.

Theatrical.

GUS R., Hartford City.—1. Write to Elisabeth Marbury, No. 21 West Twenty-fourth Street, this city. 2. Try any of the theatrical printing establishments which advertise in THE CLIPPER. 3. We believe it is fully protected.

MRS. F. F., Cincinnati.—Watch our circus news carefully from week to week, and you will know all we hear from or of them. Also see the notice at the head of this column.

C. A. C., Sedalia.—You had better advertise your want in THE CLIPPER.

J. M. H.—The People's Theatre, in that city, supports a stock company of fair merit. We cannot give a roster of the people. Write to the manager, as above.

C. M. F., Danbury.—Write to Prof. E. M. Worth, of Worth's Museum, this city. He will doubtless assist you in your search.

C. A. W., Waterbury.—1. He is on the stage yet, but is not a star. See the notice at the head of this column. 2. There is such an actor. 3. We are not at liberty to reveal their right names.

J. P. D., Lawrence.—You had better write to Thos. E. Murray, in care of THE CLIPPER. He will tell you where to procure it.

M. R., Brooklyn.—As you are a resident of Brooklyn, why not go to the Grand Opera House and ask the manager the question you have put to us?

M. L., Brooklyn.—See the notice at the head of this column.

M. A., Lexington.—"Ingomar" is Mrs. Maria Lovell's anglicization of the very old German play, "Der Son der Wildniss," by Elgins Franz Joseph von Muench-Bellinghausen, who died at Vienna, Aus., May 21, 1871. Mrs. Lovell's version was not the first, however.

MRS. C. W., Baltimore.—See the notice at the head of this column. He is with the "Tuxedo" Co. the route of which you will find on another page.

H. R., Wilkesbarre.—See the notice at the head of this column.

"SAM'L OF POSEN."—THE CLIPPER does not permit any of its correspondents to simultaneously represent another newspaper.

"FIRST EFFORT," Scranton.—1. See THE CLIPPER ANNUAL for 1892, which gives all the details pertaining to copyright. 2. Advertise it in THE CLIPPER and read it to managers and stars who may care to listen to it. 3. Use your best judgment.

M. L., Albany.—Both companies have closed. See the notice at the head of this column.

F. W. L.—1. It is not absolutely necessary to make the full orchestration. The piano score will suffice as a claim to the composer's work. 2. We advise all young men of eighteen to seek some other means of gaining a living.

H. A.—From $30 a week upwards, according to his cleverness and a large variety of other circumstances.

A. E. M., Newark.—He is alive, so far as we know. See the notice at the head of this column. If you fail to reach him in that way, advertise in THE CLIPPER for information as to his whereabouts.

C. H. S., Baltimore.—It was first acted on Dec. 6, 1873, and ran until May 13, 1874. It was revived Oct. 4, 1875. We do not know who made the original lithographs, but no doubt Manager A. M. Palmer will be glad to tell you—provided he thinks you have a right to know. We cannot afford space for a reproduction of our criticism, or for a discussion of the matter you refer to.

W. D. M., Pittsburg.—1. Yes, if he is a clever actor. 2. No, there is not a great demand. 3. From $30 a week upwards, according to the performer's ability.

L. C. M., St. James.—Write to Manager Augustus Pitou, who owns that play; and see the notice at the head of this column.

C. A., Brooklyn.—W. Eaton Stone, Franklin, N. J.

F. D. C.—1. From $10 to $30 a week and upwards, according to the work, the performer's merits, etc. 2. See the notice at the head of this column.

J. M. G., Newburg.—See the notice at the head of this column. We cannot violate that rule.

Cards.

S. J. K., Renovo.—The player holding the low scores the point for it.

H. H. C., Pittsburg.—C wins the pot beyond the shadow of a doubt. His opponent voluntarily acknowledged defeat.

E. A. R., Galva.—Agree among yourselves. We never take cognizance of the double or the triple deck game.

B. S., Chicago.—B, the man next to the age, should make the first bet after the draw. The age never transfers.

SUBSCRIBER, Washington.—1. It was a false opening, for which A should be made to pay a penalty. 2. Different circles adopt different regulations in such matters.

W. M. R., Canton.—You'll have to tell us the respective value of the points made before we can tell you who it is that wins. The relative ranking value of the cards has everything to do with determining the winner.

CONSTANT READER.—Make it a jack pot, all having passed. There couldn't be any stakes to win unless somebody went in.

M. L., Chicago.—E's hand is dead. He is out of it. The deal holds good.

Baseball, Cricket, Etc.

F. G. M., Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia Club was playing championship games on its own grounds from Aug. 29 to Sept. 18, 1873, and from May 22 to June 13, 1875. Its team did not make a Western trip during either of the periods of time above mentioned.

P. S., Detroit.—The rules for 1892 can be found in the baseball guides published by Reach or Spalding, which you can purchase in your city for ten cents per copy.

A. L., Columbus.—Eighteen of the players of the Athletic and Boston Clubs contended in seven cricket games while in Europe in 1874, and their fielding skill enabled them to escape defeat. Their opponents were the All Ireland Eleven, whom they met at Dublin, and elevens selected from the Manchester and Sheffield Clubs, and the Marylebone, Surrey, Richmond and Prince's Clubs of London, Eng. The quotation mentioned is authentic. The English teams, of course, were not the strongest that could be selected.

Athletic.

M. A. T., Grand Rapids.—No race having taken place, all side bets on the result are off.

J. F., Haverhill.—The rules do not mention any limit of time. That is a matter for mutual agreement before the contest takes place.

W. E. L., Bloomington.—1. The fastest time in which one mile has been walked is 6m. 23s., by William Perkins, in England, in 1874. 2. We have no record for walking that distance. See THE CLIPPER ANNUAL for 1892, price twenty five cents.

J. F. D., Norwich.—That depends on the conditions governing the contest. According to amateur athletic rules, each tug is limited in time, and it is only necessary that the designating mark on the rope be past the centre mark at the expiration of the stipulated period to decide the contest in favor of one or other team. In the recent professional tug of war in this city there was no time limit, it being necessary that the head man on one team be pulled over to make the other team the winners.

Aquatic.

G. F. R., Springfield.—It will be necessary to lay the matter before the Executive Committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, stating the circumstances and making application for reinstatement.

Dice, Dominoes, Etc.

E. AND E., Fort Gratiot.—B wins. Sixes beat aces.

CONSTANT READER, Beatrice.—B wins on his three sixes. The ace has the numerical value of one in poker dice, when there is no special agreement to the contrary.

J. H., Long Island City.—Three fives and two fours beat three fives and two aces.

Ring.

S. B.—James Corbett, who is matched to fight John L. Sullivan, was born at San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1, 1866.

F. M., Cincinnati.—The fight between Joe Coburn and Mike McCoole for the championship of America took place at Charlestown, Cecil County, Md., May 5, 1863. They never fought previously. A loses.

Turf.

H. B., Toronto.—The colt would be two years old on Jan. 1.

R. N. B., Tacoma.—The trotter George M. Patchen was foaled near Keyport, N. J., in 1849, and died on May 1, 1864. He was by Cassius M. Clay out of a road mare by Head'em, son of imp. Trustee.

CONSTANT READER.—A wins the money. B had the same opportunity to become posted as had the other party to the bet. A man can always win on a "sure thing" provided no fraud is used to induce the making of the bet, which does not appear to have been the case in this instance.

T. C., New Britain.—Four horses have trotted twenty miles in an hour—Jack Stewart, Captain McGowan, Trustee and Controller.

J. F. O.—1. A race horse, the stride of which is 22ft., makes 240 of them in going a mile, and if more than half a second in compassing each stride, the time for the mile would be two minutes. You can calculate from this. 2. The trotting horse Gloster's regular stride, going at his usual gait, was 23ft., but he has been known to stride 27ft. in a lively brush.

Miscellaneous.

W. H. S., Mt. Carmel.—Neither party having really been to blame, the money up should be returned to those who posted it. It would not be just that B should suffer for the silence of his representative, who may not have personally known A.

H. A. T., Salt Lake City.—We do not know the address of the party to whom you refer.

O. H. R., Montreal.—There is no special value for them except to some person desirous of making up a file.

W. D. L., Chicago.—$83,886.08.

CHESS.

CHESS AT ALBANY.—Bro. Rogers, in The Journal, thus speaks of the local annual tournament just closed: "It was a very successful one, and developed much latent talent, and some of the games by the weaker players were exceedingly good. The usual number of amusing blunders and surprises took place, but on the whole the final position of the players represents pretty accurately the kind of chess they played." There were ten entrants and four prizes, two rounds; the prizes being taken thus: First, Prof. Goold, with a score of 15½ to 2½; second, Prof. Rogers, 14½-3½; third, Prof. Deyo, 13½-4½; fourth, A. Rathbone, 11-7; and Mr. Leake headed the non prize list with 10 to 8. The balance came in the following order: Messrs. Randolph (9 to 9), Lansing, Rochester, J. Rathbone and Cogswell. It is a little odd that the three chief victors in actual losses stood a tie, two each; their final rank being determined by the draws—one, three and five, respectively. Prof. Goold lost his two to Prof. Deyo; Prof. Rogers to Prof. Goold; and Prof. Deyo, one each to A. Rathbone and Leake. Prof. Goold's one draw was with Mr. Leake. Happy is Albanian chess to have such a body of learned professors devote so much time and assiduous labor to promoting its interests.

GOOD NEWS, even if expected, is from London. A set match for the English championship, seven games up, has been arranged between Mr. Blackbourne and Herr Lasker. If the hitherto invincible young German wins this match he will be indeed a great candidate for the sceptre of Mr. Steinitz, for which it is said he has decided ambitions.....This reminds us that there is no confirmation of a £50 entrance fee to the recent quintangular match in the British C. C. This smacks of a bogie, conjured up temporarily to freeze out certain undesirable participants. The fact appears to be that, the prize fund of £50 was provided by that tireless and munificent patron and examplar of the game, Geo. Newnes, M. P. This was distributed among the five contestants a la Sonneborn-Berger. On this plan Herr Lasker got a little over £21; Blackburne, nearly £15½, etc.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP of La Regence is settled for the year by the victory of M. A. Goetz, with the grand score of 19½ out of 22. La Strategie will give complete details in its next number.....The public tourneys have brought on a private match between MM. Janowski and Sittenfeld, seven games up, 200 francs a side. Present score—M. J., 1; M. S., 2.

THE ENGLISH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP has been won by E. Jones Bateman with a score of 10 to 2; H. W. Trenchard, 6½-5½; E. O. Jones and Herbert Jacobs ex æquo, 6-6. Mr. Jones won the play off. The other competitors were Messrs. Dr. Smith, 5½; Ward Higgs, 4½; Gibbons, 3½.

A GRAND MEMORY OF LOUIS PAULSEN.

Deutsche Schachzeitung for January throws some light on the game and ending "Brevity and Brilliancy in Chess," pp. 224-5. The "Amateur" was Herr H. Schneider. There was a good deal of discussion among several eminent amateurs, and the announcement has several times been revived. Our lamented friend at first declared his confidence in having a forced mate; and, after twenty minutes' study, announced the specific termination. The opening was an "Evans" (normal—except Black 6..K Kt to B 3, in place of P to Q 3), then:

9..P to K 5	P to Q 4	11..P to Q 5	Q × B 2d P

(a) We reiterate that P to Q B 4 is better. To here as in game 1; there Prof. A. is..Q Kt to K 2.

(?) This fine combination was planned, doubtless, to win the Q, and ought, we believe, to have won.

(b) The only move to save the game.

(?) Even Prof. A. is chargeable with carelessness; he should never have allowed his attacking B to be exchanged.

(c) 31..K to B 3 appears to be much stronger.

(d) Again K to B 3 leaves Black no resource. * * * If 37..P × Kt, Black draws by perpetual +. The text 37.., however, which is played to win, effectually loses the game. * * * And as for 38.., he should play Q to Kt 8 +, before P × R.

 Herr S. plays this game throughout extremely well; showing great resource under difficulties, as well as uncommon patience and steadiness. ["True, Oh, King!" But even Prof. A.'s great name does not prevent our saying that, barring the burst from 15, a poorer specimen of a match game can scarcely be found scored against him.—ED. CLIPPER.]

The fourth game in Lipschutz vs. Showalter.—The New York Herald.

HAMPPE'S KT'S GAME.

Lipschutz.	Showalter.	Lipschutz.	Showalter.
1..P to K 4	P to K 4	15..B P × P	Q P × P
2..Q Kt-B 3	K Kt-B 3	16..Q-K R 5	Kt-Kt 3
3..P-K Kt 3(e)	K B-K 2	17..Q Kt-B 5	Castles
4..K B-Kt 2	Q Kt-B 3	18..Q Kt 4(h)	K-his R 2
5..K Kt-K 2	P-Q 3	19..K R-B 3(i)	P-K B 3
6..Castles	Q B-Q 2	20..P-K R 4	K R-Kt sq
7..P-Q 3	Q-B sq	21..P-K R 5	Kt-B sq
8..Q B-Kt 5	P-K R 3	22..K R-R 3	Q-her B 2
9..Q B × Kt	K B × B	23..Q Kt-R 4	Q-Kt 3 +
10..Q Kt-Q 5	K B-Q sq	24..K R-B 2	Q-K 6
11..P-K B 4	Q B-Kt 5(f)	25..K-Kt 2	Q × Q P (??)
12..P-Q B 3	Q Kt-K 2	26..Kt-Kt 6!	Q-B 5!
13..Q Kt-K 3	Q B × Kt(g)	27..Q-B 5!, and wins.
14..Q × Q B	P-Q B 3

(e) A favorite with the German masters; to which 3.. K B to B 4 is a far superior reply to the text.

(f) If now Q B to R 6; 12..K B × B, Q × K B; 13..P to K B 5, and Black's Q is in jeopardy, as White threatens K to R sq, followed by Kt to Kt sq.

(g) Weak, but it is difficult to place B to advantage.

(h) 18..Kt × R P + is very tempting, but unsound. Thus: Kt P × Kt; 19..Q × R P, Q to Kt 5; 20..K R to B 5, Kt to R sq, and Black is safe.

(i) P to K R 4 at once would have been better.

(??) A bad blunder, which loses at once.

THE SCOTTISH CHESS ASSOCIATION held its ninth annual congress at Edinburg, 14th ult. The major tourney has twelve entrants. The famous D. Y. Mills won first prize and the championship with 9¾ to 1½, being beaten only by Dr. (L. L. D.) Spens, and drawing with Mr Barbier; second, G. E. Barbier, 8½-2½; third, ex æquo, Messrs. Fraser, Chambers and Seligmann, 6-5; sixth, Dr. Spens, 5½-5½, etc.....The minor tourney had a unique outcome. There were five entrants, and they all tied on 2 to 2.....We intend to notice more fully the recent death of Rev. Dr. John Donaldson, "Delta."

Lipschutz-Showalter.

The sixth game was a "French Defence" by Showalter, won rather summarily by Lipschutz. With the seventh encounter the champion for the first time seemed to get down to his accustomed gait, and, with a "Ruy Lopez" won from start to finish. We shall let up on the Anderssen-Steinitz match for a week or two to get in these locally interesting battles. A close and hard fight for victory may be anticipated. The eighth game was another "French" by Showalter, drawn after thirty-one moves and some good play. In the ninth game Lipschutz promptly adopted the well known "Double Fianchetto," leading to a fine, stubborn battle; till, at the fortieth move, Mr. Showalter did what some of the writers grimly describe as beating himself. He placed a Rook en prise, and at once resigned. After this catastrophe the score stood—Mr. S., 1; drawn, 4; Mr. L., 4. The tenth game was played May 9, and ended in favor of Lipschutz after twenty-nine moves, it being a Vienna opening. Showalter was beaten in consequence of a premature attack, which proved unsound. The eleventh game was played May 11, and ended in a draw after sixty-two moves. Showalter adopted a Ruy Lopez and a regular form of that opening known as the Berlin Defence was played up to his twelfth move. Showalter then made room for his Queen's Bishop at Kt 2 in the Fianchetto style, with a view of forming an attack against the King's side. Lipschutz then opened on the King's Bishop file, and soon afterwards forced an exchange of Queens with the better position on White's thirty-first move, and seemed to have grown to a winning advantage. But Showalter's sealed move revealed an ingenious defence, which averted the principal danger at the temporary cost of a piece. He soon, however, recovered the material which he had sacrificed, and suffered only from the disadvantage of having his King confined, while his opponent's King had free scope for action in the middle of the board. The game scheduled May 14 did not take place, Showalter claiming one of his rest days.

CHECKERS.

To Correspondents.

ROBERT SYKES.—Have written you full particulars.

JOHN MCNALLY.—Games and positions received with thanks.

GEO. SYMONDS.—The "give away" game of checkers, we believe, is a recognized game, as there has been literature published on that game alone. It is played more on the other side than in this country. If your opponent neglects to jump, you can pick his man up for not jumping, or compel him to jump just as you desire. There is no penalty attached to not crowning the man other than that of compelling him to crown it. Your opponent was wrong. "Ajeeb" is an automaton worked by a player. You are correct in your opinion.

Brevities.

Messrs. Patterson, Reed and McAteer have arranged to have Dr. Schaefer visit Pittsburg during Decoration Day week. Mr. Reed and the Doctor will play a match of twenty games, and also play simultaneous. The players will be arranged in two rows. Reed will go down one side and up the other. The Doctor will go up one side and down the other. This will give each player an opportunity of contesting a game in a unique manner. .....Wizard Wright has been in New York several days, and the local players, with few exceptions, have been compelled to acknowledge his superiority in the game. He has played three short matches, one with James McEntee, who was defeated by the score of Wright, 1; McEntee, 0; drawn, 2; and two with Berry Mittchell. The total score with Wright and Mittchell was Wright, 5; Mittchell, 2; drawn, 5.....Wyllie, in an address to the Motherwell Draught Club, said "that the best American checker players were only second class." It seems a pity that Wyllie allows his desires to so warp his opinion. As he has been defeated by one American now living, and has only drawn a match with another, he ought to acknowledge himself as second class..... Barker Woodhouse, one of Britain's old time players, seventy-four years of age, is one of the contestants in the English tourney.....Clouser is again in the field for checkers, as the following from his column will show: "I played some checkers myself last week with a series of good opponents, who did very well, as the score shows: Schaefer (champion), 1; Clouser, 0; drawn, 1. Blewitt, 0; Clouser, 2; drawn, 0. James McEntee, 1; Clouser, 3; drawn, 0. Wright (professional), 2; Clouser, 0; drawn, 6. Brown, 0; Clouser, 1; drawn, 3."

ATHLETIC.

The College Footballers.

The annual meeting of the Inter-collegiate Football Association was held in this city, May 10, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Wesleyan sending representatives. After the meeting had been called to order by President McClung, McCormick of Yale was elected president, Gordon of Wesleyan secretary, and King of Princeton treasurer. A number of changes in the rules were made, the more important being as follow:

First—If the try for a goal from a touchdown be missed, the ball must be brought to the centre of the field instead of to the twenty five yard line, and given to the defenders of that goal.

Second—If the punt out from a touchdown be missed or not fairly caught, the ball shall be taken to the centre of the field, instead of to the twenty-five yard line, by the defenders of that goal.

Third—The umpire shall warn any man coaching from the side lines. Upon the second offence the offender shall be ordered behind the ropes or fence, as the case may be.

The championship for the year 1891 was formally awarded to Yale, and Lehigh's application for admission to the association was rejected.

THREE CHANGES have been made in the usual programme of events at the New England A. A. U. championship meeting, to be held this year on June 11. The three mile walk is abandoned, a team tug of war contest will be held instead of individual trials, and the two mile bicycle race is changed to a one mile event.

NOT FAR FROM A THOUSAND football enthusiasts braved the discomforts and pneumoniatic tendencies of a steady, persistent rain on Saturday afternoon, May 14, in order to witness the playing of the final tie in the tournament for the championship of the American Football Association, which came off at the Athletic Grounds at Kearny, N. J. The result of a game which was marred only by the slippery condition of the grounds was in favor of the East Ends, who scored five goals to the Thistles' two. The East Ends are therefore the winners of the cup, which in former years was won by the O. N. T. Club, who held it three years, and afterwards successively by the Rovers and Olympics, both of Fall River, Mass.

Tommy Conneff Defeated.

The first of the matches between Tommy Conneff, of the Manhattan Athletic Club, and W. H. Morton, the English runner, who will be remembered as having visited this country with one of the international teams a few years ago, came off at the Bellevue Grounds, Manchester, Eng., on Saturday afternoon, April 30. It will be remembered that after Conneff reconsidered his resolve to enter the professional ranks, he turned his attention to the English amateurs, and two matches were arranged between him and W. H. Morton, the first of ten miles and the second of five miles, each for a silver cup of the value of $100, the loser to be the recipient of a gold medal valued at $25. The Salford Harriers had the management of the race, for which each man had undergone a thorough preparation, Morton taking his walks abroad at Southport, Eng., while Conneff preferred the air of the County Kildare, in his native land. We take from the London Referee the following particulars of the contest: "The weather was delightfully fine, and there was a large crowd present, fully 12,000 lining the rails. After the men had been photographed, a start was made ten minutes after the advertised time, Conneff leading until nearing the end of the first mile, when Morton passed the judges first, the time being 5m. 25s. From this point Morton gradually ran away from his opponent, and at two miles—time, 10m. 29s.—he was leading the Irishman by a dozen yards. From this point Conneff fell further in the rear. Just on finishing two miles and three-quarters Conneff, who was then fifty yards in the rear, retired, much to the disappointment of everyone present. Morton finished the distance, having for pacemakers G. Morris, C. Souch and W. Parry, at intervals. The three miles was accomplished in 15m. 36⅗s.; four miles, 21m. 23s.; five miles, 26m. 59s.; six miles, 32m. 15s.; seven miles, 38m. 1s.; eight miles, 44m. 1s.; nine miles, 49m. 44s.; ten miles, 55m. 5⅕s.

The Philadelphia Meeting.

The field tournament to be held at the Quaker City, May 17, 18, under the auspices of the Athletic Club of the Schuylkill Navy, promises to excel any college meeting ever held, so far as the number of entries is concerned. Thousands of dollars have been expended for grounds, stands, prizes and in other ways, for the purpose of booming the tournament, increasing its attractiveness, and in making it the greatest affair of the kind ever held in this country. Good entries have been received from nearly all the colleges in the East, save Harvard and Yale, the athletes belonging to those rather exclusive institutions for some reason holding aloof. However, trained and tried athletes representing Princeton, Columbia, Cornell, the University of Pennsylvania, Wesleyan, Trinity, Georgetown, Swarthmore, Lafayette, Haverford, Johns Hopkins, and other institutions, will be on the field, and the tourney should surely prove highly successful. The events are as follow: 100, 220, 440 and 880 yards, and one mile run, one mile walk, running high and broad jumps, pole vault, putting the shot, throwing the hammer, two mile safety bicycle race, 120 and 220 yards hurdle races, which form a programme that should furnish excellent entertainment to the large gathering expected to be present.

The Light Blue Athletes.

The Yale College Athletic Association held games on Thursday afternoon, May 12, and although the track had been made soggy and dead by rain, some capital contests produced excellent time. In the two mile bicycle race Wade made a fresh record for Yale. Summary:

One hundred yards run—Won by Wager Swayne, '95, 10⅗s.; second, E. W. Allen, '94 S.

Two hundred and twenty yards run—Won by E. W. Allen, '94, 22⅘s.; second, J. E. Good, '94.

Four hundred and forty yards run—Won by G. F. Sanford, '94 S., 53s.; second, S. P. Beardsley, '95.

Half mile run—Won by W. B. Wright, '92, 2m. 11⅗s.; second, F. S. Butterworth, '95.

Mile run—Won by S. Scoville, '93, 4m. 42s.; second, A. C. Williams, '92.

One hundred and twenty yards hurdle race—Won by D. B. Lyman, '94, 16⅗s.; second, M. L. Van Ingen, '93 S.

Two hundred and twenty yards hurdle race—First heat: Won by E. T. Eaton, '94, 26s.; second, D. B. Lyman. Second heat: Won by M. Van Ingen, '93 S., 28s.; Hammond, second.

Mile walk—Won by I. E. Wright, '95, 8m. 6s.; second, D. L. Pierson.

Running high jump—Won by A. G. Dickson, 5ft. 5½in.; second, C. L. Kitchel.

Running broad jump—Won by J. H. Hammond, '92 S., 20ft. 1in.; second, J. E. Goss.

Pole vault—Won by E. G. Hart, '94 S., 10ft. 3in.; second, O. G. Cartwright.

Putting the shot—Won by D. B. Lyman, '94, 39ft.; second, P. T. Stillman, '94 S.

Throwing the hammer—Won by P. S. Stillman, '94, 90ft. 6in.; second, C. E. Coxe, '94 S.

Two mile bicycle race—Won by K. B. Wade, 6m. 45⅘s.; second, G. R. Brewster.

The Printers' Association.

We have received the programme for the twelfth annual picnic and games of the Printers' Benevolent Association, which this year will be held on the west side of town—at Lion Park, One Hundred and Seventh Street and Ninth Avenue, on Saturday, July 30, commencing at 3.30 o'clock. The events are as follow: Open to the I. T. U. only—100yds. run, half mile run. Open to all amateurs—100yds. run, 220yds. run, 440yds. run, half mile run, one mile run, two mile run, half mile walk and one mile walk. The foregoing events are all handicap, and will be govered by the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union. Handicapping by the official handicapper of the Union. Valuable prizes will be given first and second men in each event, as all know who have had the good fortune to be returned winners at the previous annual sports of the Association. The entrance for each event will be fifty cents, which in all cases must accompany the entry. The prizes will be on exhibition at Morry, Leweck & Co.'s Clothing House, Eighth Avenue and Fortieth Street, on July 1.

The Brokaw Memorial.

The plans proposed by Messrs. Stone & Rose, of this city, for the Brokaw memorial at Princeton College, Princeton, N. J., have been accepted, and work will be begun in a short time. The plan includes both a memorial building and field, and the generous contribution of $42,000 by Isaac V. Brokaw will be devoted to the former, which will probably be of Indiana limestone and will be constructed in the modern renaissance style of architecture. Directly through the middle will pass an arched hallway, on each side of which are the locker rooms. These rooms will occupy the greater part of the main floor. In the basement will be placed the baths, and the large swimming tank, one hundred feet long and twenty wide, will project underground from one side of the basement, on a level with it. The covering over the tank will rise four feet above the ground level. It is planned especially for water polo and will be of the regulation size. The ground around the building will be terraced off to a level with the athletic field. This field will be sufficiently large to contain two football fields, a baseball diamond and six or eight tennis courts.

VIEWITH AIM to enlarging the athletic grounds at Princeton College, the property lying between the present field and Prospect Avenue has been purchased. The new field will be at once enclosed with a high picket fence and hedge, while the old fence now separating the old and new grounds will be torn away. This will give the required room for the purpose desired. It is probable that the present running track will be enlarged to half a mile, with a straightway path of 220yds. There will also be abundant room for two football or baseball fields.

THE events to be decided at the Spring games of the Manhattan Athletic Club, this city, on Saturday afternoon, May 21, are as follow: 100, 220, 440, 880 yards, and one mile runs, half mile and one mile bicycle races, 120 and 220 yards hurdle races, 1,320 yards hurdle steeplechase, throwing the 56lb weight, throwing the 16lb hammer, putting the 12lb shot, running high and running long jumps, and a quarter mile run for novices. The prizes offered are a gold watch to first, silver watch to second, and silver medal to third in each event.

THE SECRETARY of the Racing Club of France has forwarded a communication to President B. S. Weeks, of the New York Athletic Club, requesting him to get together a team of athletes representing the Mercury Foot to participate in an international athletic meeting to be held at Paris on July 7. The programme includes four runs on the flat, a hurdle race and a steeplechase.

THE SILVER CUPS and gold medals won in the recent tournament of the American Amateur Bowling Union will be awarded to the victorious teams and individual bowlers on Wednesday evening, May 26, at either the Manhattan Athletic Club house or the Central Turn Verein, this city.

THE Rochester (N. Y.) Athletic Club have been fortunate in securing a site for a club house at Genesee Valley Park, 1,000ft. south of the bridge. The location is an excellent one, and the work of erecting a club house at a cost of about $4,000 will be commenced without delay.

THE Ottawa (Can.) Amateur Athletic Association held their annual meeting May 10, when the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, P. D. Ross; vice president, A. F. May; secretary, C. J. Desberates; treasurer, J. I. McCracken.

A MATCH at club swinging, announced as for "the championship of Western Massachusetts," took place at Springfield May 10, A. J. St. Germain defeating Harry Stannard, of Holyoke.

DIAMOND FIELD GOSSIP.

Latest Doings and Sayings of the Baseball Fraternity.

Umpire Macullar decided that the game scheduled between the New York and Pittsburg Clubs May 10, at Pittsburg, was forfeited by the New York team. The Pittsburg people claim that this decision was the result of the departure of the New Yorks from the field and a refusal to return after the umpire called "play." The Pittsburg side of the story is given in the following dispatch: "At four o'clock a slight rain was falling, but five minutes after four the rain cleared and Manager Buckenberger rang the bell for the game to start. Instead of playing, the New Yor

Harry Vaughn, who in 1890 caught for the New York Club, of the Players' League, has signed with the Cincinnati Club, of the National League and American Association.

The Wisconsin-Michigan League was recently organized with a circuit of six clubs, representing the following cities: Escanaba, and Menominee in Michigan and Marinette, Oshkosh, Green Bay and Fond du Lac in Wisconsin.

The Haverford School team defeated the Cheltenham Military Academy nine May 13, at Philadelphia, by a score of 8 to 3. Adams made three of the six hits scored by the losers.

The Camdens defeated the Nationals May 13, at Philadelphia, by a score of 16 to 3. The features of the game were a back running catch by Loftus and a home run drive by Clark in the eighth inning, with three men on bases.

The first visit to the West of the Eastern clubs of the National League and American Association ended with the games played May 12. Many of the games scheduled were prevented by the weather, and the Washingtons were the only team which played their twelve games, and that only by playing two games on one day on several occasions. Of the Eastern clubs the Bostons made the best record, winning seven out of eleven games, while the Baltimores made the poorest, winning only three out of nine games played. Of the Western clubs Chicago won eight out of ten games, while the Cincinnatis won only two out of eight played. The record of victories in the games played was thirty-one for the West and thirty for the East, the latter making an excellent showing, considering they were playing away from home.

The Columbia College Freshmen defeated the Columbia Grammar School team May 13, at Williamsbridge, N. Y., by a score of 15 to 1.

The Dartmouth College nine turned the tables on the Harvard College team in the game played May 13, at Hanover, N. H., the former then winning by a score of 4 to 3.

After eight innings of exciting play May 13, at Ithaca, N. Y., the Cornell and Brown University teams called their game to let the latter catch a train. The game resulted in tie, 6 to 6. Visitors made only five safe hits, which, however, were bunched in two innings.

David Orr, the ex-professional first baseman, who had a stroke of paralysis about a year and a half ago, which caused his retirement from the diamond, has opened a saloon at 2,779 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, and invites all his friends to come and see him. The formal opening took place May 17.

Manager Barnie, in a recent interview, is credited with saying: "Don't it seem hard to think that the Washington team, that was gotten together by me, winning games right along and bound to be well up in the list, and I will not get a cent's worth of credit for my work. It was about the only chance I have ever had to show the people what I could do with a tip top team."

Capt. Anson, of the Chicago Club, is quoted as saying: "I think that every club in the National League and American Association owes me a game for that one we lost to Louisville on that cushion throwing. Why, there is scarcely a game we play in the East that the spectators do not crowd on the field in the last inning. Of course, if we are behind and the crowd, or even one spectator, gets on the field, I will stop the game, and claim it as forfeited."

Capt. Anson, of the Chicago Club, recently said: "I often think of going to some other city to play ball. A Chicago crowd is the worst in the world. I've stood their taunts and hisses for fifteen years, and it's beginning to weary me. I've come to the conclusion that it can't be deviltry on their part. If it was they would let up once in a while. It's nothing more than a lack of brains. They only see a fellow when he 'ain't in it;' they never see him when he does something that is deserving of credit. I'm not the poorest ball player in the business. But it isn't that. I'm 'Papa' and 'Pappy' and 'Uncle' and 'Unk' and 'Anse' and the old man,' and I must be roasted. It wouldn't do to let me go. Why, I would rather face Cleveland hoodlums than play here at home, where I have a right to expect every spectator to pull for us."

The game between the Wesleyan and Trinity College teams, played May 14, at Hartford, Ct., resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 7 to 0. Frost retired the Trinity team with three scattering safe hits.

The St. John's College team defeated the Harlem Athletic nine May 15, at Fordham, this city, by a score of 4 to 0. The Harlems made only one safe hit off Smith, that being a scratch single in the ninth inning. Rourke made four of the seven safe hits credited to the winners.

John Webb, formerly second baseman of the Stars, of London, Ont., died May 12, in that city, of blood poisoning, from the effects of being struck by a ball a year ago.

It is said that the Louisville Club contemplates releasing Kuehne and securing Roat, of the Milwaukee Club, for third base.

The Yale College Freshmen nine defeated the Harvard College Freshmen team May 14, at Cambridge, Mass., by a score of 13 to 2. Davis struck out nine of the Harvards, and allowed only four hits to be made off him.

The championship games of the Illinois-Iowa League recently played resulted as follow: May 7, at Quincy, first game, Peoria, 6; Quincy, 3. Second game, Quincy, 3; Peoria, 2, eleven innings. May 10, at Jacksonville, Jacksonville, 6; Rock Island-Moline, 2. May 11, at Evansville, first game, Rockford, 10; Evansville, 5. Second game, Evansville, 2; Rockford, 0. At Jacksonville, Rock Island-Moline, 5; Jacksonville, 4. At Quincy, Quincy, 4; Joliet, 2. At Terre Haute, Terre Haute, 5; Peoria, 4. May 12, at Evansville, Peoria, 3; Evansville, 2. At Jacksonville, Joliet, 5; Jacksonville, 1. At Quincy, Quincy, 3; Rock Island-Moline, 1. At Terre Haute, Terre Haute, 2; Rockford, 2, game called at the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness. May 13, at Evansville, Peoria, 1; Evansville, 0. The standing of the clubs to May 13, inclusive, is as follows: Joliet won 11, lost 1, per cent. .917; Peoria won 7, lost 4, per cent .636; Evansville won 7, lost 4, per cent. .583; Rockford won 4, lost 5, per cent. .444; Quincy won 4, lost 5, per cent. 444; Terre Haute won 4, lost 6, per cent. 400; Jacksonville won 4, lost 8, per cent. .333; Rock Island won 3, lost 9, per cent. .250.

It required no fewer than fourteen innings to decide the game between the Fremont and Lincoln teams, played May 12, at Lincoln, Neb., the former then winning by a score of 6 to 4. The score stood tied for seven innings. The home team made twelve safe hits to the winner's eight.

A. G. Spalding, ex president of the Chicago Club, in a recent interview, said: "I can see no harm in Sunday ball, although I was always opposed to it. I know, however, that in some respects the Sunday game is a good thing. Take Columbus, O., for instance. The saloon keepers there joined in a petition to the councils asking for Sunday games. They got them. The saloon men expected that the Sunday sport would help their business, but it didn't. Men who had always hung around the saloons on Sunday went to see the games. That was not according to their ideas. The saloon keepers next asked that the games be stopped; that they were a bad thing. The orderly element then said that baseball must be a good thing if the saloons opposed it. The agitation was dropped, and Columbus is still playing Sunday ball. I think that public sentiment is heading it a way."

John J. Dailey, the veteran professional player and umpire, is an applicant for the position of umpire on the official staff of the New England League.

We present above a portrait of the new professional skating champion, Fred. C. Breen, who came into possession of the title through repeatedly defeating Hugh J. McCormick, who for several years was champion. This fact in itself is sufficient to convince all that the present holder of the title of Champion of America must be a genuine expert, for we all know how great a traveler on the steel blades McCormick is. The subject of our sketch was born on Long Island, in the parish of Kingston, Kings County, Or., twenty-three years ago, stands 5ft. 8¼in. in height, and his weight in condition is 157lb. He has been before the public but three years, during which time he has encountered and beaten all of the leading skaters of the Maritime Provinces. His principal victories are enumerated below: Beat D. Wetmore, in January, 1889, on the St. John River, five miles, in 16m. 30⅗s. Beat D. Wetmore the second time, three miles, in January, 1891, at the Victoria Rink, St. John, N. B., skating the distance in 10m. 15s. Beat C. Lamb, three miles, in January, same year, at the Victoria Rink, in 10m. 16⅕s. Beat R. Laidlaw, three miles, at the Victoria Rink, St. John, Feb. 3, 1892, completing the distance in 11m. 45⅕s. Beat Hugh J. McCormick, two miles, Victoria Rink, March 14, 1892, covering the distance in 6m. 15s. Beat McCormick a second time, at one mile, Victoria Rink, March 18, 1892, finishing well ahead in 3m. 4⅕s. He is not only the speediest professional skater now before the public in this country, but he is one of the most graceful, and when the ice comes again he will be prepared to accommodate anyone who may wish to deprive him of the title which he secured by his victories over the once invincible McCormick. The agreement between them was for three races, but as Breen had won two straight, and there appeared no chance whatever of McCormick winning the third, he concluded that the better policy was to gracefully step down and out in favor of a man who has the advantage of him in point of youth, which must always be served in athletic contests.

A Chicago exchange says: "There is a great deal of speculation among ball players as to what will be the outcome of the demand of the National League and American Association on Wilmot and Kittridge to return the money that was advanced to them by the Chicago Club, of the American Association. President Hart, of the Chicago Club, which now has Wilmot and Kittridge, has almost concluded to pay the amount over to N. E. Young, the president of the League-Association, but Captain Anson does not countenance such a course, and believes the ball players could recover the money if they are docked. The Chicago Club has certainly no right to hold out any part of the players' salaries simply because President Young requests it to be done, and Hart should compel the National League and American Association to obtain judgment before he pays over the money."

The Providence Club was shut out for the first time this season in a sharply contested game with the Albany Club, also of the Eastern League, May 10, at Providence, the latter then winning by a score of 2 to 0. It was a pitcher's battle, with the wind against the batsmen. Taylor pitched with great speed and fine command of the ball, and held the home team down to two hits.

The Indianapolis Club, of the Western League, won its first championship game of the season on May 8, at Fort Wayne, when it defeated the St. Paul team by a score of 3 to 0, making all of its runs in the ninth inning.

Waltz, of the Baltimore Club, while at St. Louis, on May 11, tried hard to purchase either Crooks or Stricker from the St. Louis Club. He asked President Von der Ahe to name his terms, and pressed the case strongly when he encountered a refusal. Von der Ahe said public opinion in St. Lodis would not sanction the release of either man at present, but at Mr. Waltz's request he agreed to give the Baltimore Club the first chance if he should decide to part with one of them.

It required no fewer than thirteen innings to decide the game between the Kansas City and Columbus Clubs, of the Western League, May 7, at Columbus, the former team then winning by a score of 2 to 1. The same number of extra innings were played when these clubs contended May 9, the home team, however, then reversing the result, and winning by a score of 7 to 5. The Columbus team too, won by 6 to 2 the game on the preceding day. It is seldom that two thirteen inning games are played by the same clubs within a few days.

The Episcopal Academy shut out the Rugby Academy nine May 12, at Philadelphia, and won by 16 to 0.

The Eclipse Club, of East Liverpool, and the Alliance (O.) Club have agreed to play three games for $100 each, the winning club to receive seventy-five per cent. of the gate receipts. One game is to be played on the East Liverpool grounds, one game on the Alliance grounds, and the third on the Canton grounds.

The Cornell College team scored a victory over the Brown University nine May 12, at Ithaca, N. Y., by a score of 5 to 4. The winners made only two safe hits, while their opponents were credited with eight, five of which were made by Weeks and Sexton.

The Cincinnatis came within an ace of making a triple play in the eighth inning of the Cincinnati-Philadelphia game May 12, at Cincinnati. Weyhing was on second, Hamilton on first, and Thompson at the bat. The latter hit a liner that looked like it would go safe. The two runners started. George Smith jumped in the air and caught the ball, tossed to McPhee, and the latter let it go to Comiskey. His throw hit the base runner or Hamilton would have been the third out.

The Western League, on May 13, signed Visner and assigned him to Omaha, where he will play in the outfield and as change catcher. Fitzgerald, the Omaha second baseman, was released, and Gilks will be put on second until a regular second baseman is secured.

Teams representing Buchtel College, of Akron, and Kenyon College, of Gambier, played a game May 12, at Akron, O. Twelve innings were played and the game was then called on account of darkness with the score a tie, each making eight runs.

At a meeting of the California League, held April 30, at San Jose, the games scheduled to be played in Los Angeles on Decoration Day, were transferred to San Jose. At the meeting, the office of secretary was consolidated with that of president and treasurer.

The Yale and Amherst College teams met May 14, at Amherst, Mass., the former then winning by a score of 9 to 4. The home nine batted Bowers freely, making nine safe hits. Colby kept the Yales down to eight hits, which were well bunched in two innings.

The Cornell College nine defeated the University of Vermont team May 14, at Ithaca, N. Y., by a score of 5 to 1. Priest of the Cornell team struck out twelve men and was batted safely only four times. Abbey struck out thirteen men.

The Manhattans of this city were shut out by the Bridgeports May 14, at Bridgeport, Ct., the latter then winning by a score of 4 to 0. The visitors made only three scattering singles off Meade.

The Harvard and Dartmouth College teams played May 14, at Hanover, N. H., the former winning by a score of 5 to 0. Shurtleff pitched for Dartmouth, and though not particularly effective, only five hits were made off his delivery. Bates was batted safely six times, four hits being made in the first four innings, but he was very effective at critical points.

Captain Comiskey, of the Cincinnati Club, of the National League and American Association, recently said: "It is true that we should have won more games, but when the fact is considered that seven out of our ten defeats were lost in the ninth inning, it forces one to the conclusion that we have not had all the luck that might be ordinarily expected in the run of the game. The team is a rattling good one. Wait until we work together a little longer, and there will be an improvement in team play. I did think of changing once, and I asked 'Dickie' Johnson for his terms, but we will go on as we are for some time at least. The Boston team is a strong one, but has played in wonderful good luck this season. It has won about seventy-five per cent. of its games by one run. It is a lucky team that can do that."

Regarding the case of Hanlon, ex-captain of the Pittsburg Club's team, who recently signed to manage the Baltimores, Manager Buckenburger, of the Pittsburg Club, speaks as follow: "The story that Hanlon was laid off without pay is false. When the team was at Cincinnati, and Hanlon injured his knee, he wanted to go to Hot Springs until he was all right, and requested that his salary be stopped until he was able to play, but President Temple insisted that his salary continue, and he was given twenty days' salary."

It is said that several changes will be made in the Rochester team of the Eastern League. Shindle will be signed for third base, provided that he can be secured and will not then be assigned to some other club. John Irwin, who was signed in an emergency, was released before he had joined the team. At short stop a change will be made, too, and Sullivan will be given a trial.

The clerks and operators of the Western Union Telegraph Company played a game May 10, at Chicago, the former then winning by a score of 17 to 3 in seven innings. The operators failed to make a solitary safe hit off Garrity's pitching in the seven innings.

The Gorham team defeated the Danvilles May 12, at Bloomsburg, by a score of 10 to 8.

Thomas J. Esterbrook, the veteran professional player, formerly of the Metropolitan, New York, and other clubs, contemplates opening a billiard room in Brooklyn, and has secured a good location in that city.

In the Milwaukee-Minneapolis game, played May 8, at Milwaukee, Parrot, of the latter team, made two home runs of Widner's pitching.

George Wagner, president of the Washington Club, in telling how he came to purchase stock in a ball club, said: "When I think the matter over I am almost surprised to find myself traveling about the country as the president of a baseball club. Although I slid into the business naturally enough I had not the slightest intention of devoting any of my time to it when I purchased my first baseball stock. The circumstances were these: When the Players' League was organized my brother Earl and I were stopping at the Hilton House, of which B. F. Hilt was the proprietor. Hilt and Al. Reach were intimate friends and naturally Hilt became more or less interested in the Players' League movement. At this time I took only the most ordinary interest in the national game, but Hilt, after several talks with Reach on the subject, had become convinced that stock in the new league would pay handsome dividends, and he finally prevailed upon Earl and myself to purchase twenty five shares each. We made the investment just as one would buy a building lot that a friend had recommended to him as liable to rise in value, intending to allow it to take care of itself and pay or lose as the case might be. Well, the club lost money, and soon $7,000 was needed to pay up arrears in salaries. We were the ones called upon to supply that amount, and we consented to do so. From that time on we were right 'in it.' In order to protect the capital we had already put up we were compelled to invest more money from time to time until we had as much as $76,00 tied up in the Philadelphia Club, of the Players' League. We finally sold out. I was glad to get out of the Philadelphia deal in any way, shape or manner, but the experience had made something of a 'crank' out of me and I had a hankering after the business that I could not rid myself of, and soon after began negotiating with the directors of the Washinton Club. I got an option on it in November and closed up the deal in December, immediately after the Indianapolis meeting. Of course, in entering any line of business as a novice things go wrong for a time, but now I am settled down into the rut and everything is sailing smoothly for me. Why, I wouldn't sell my club for three times as much as it cost me."

The game between the Salt Lake and Ogden nines played May 8, at Salt Lake City, resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 4 to 3. It was the opening contest of the season in that city.

The Somerville High and Roxbury Latin School teams played on the Boston Club's grounds May 12. It took eleven innings to reach the result, and then the Somerville won by 7 to 6

We acknowledge the receipt from The Chicago Herald of a neatly printed little book containing the schedules of the championship contests of the National League and American Association, the Western League, the Illinois-Iowa League, and several minor associations. It is cleverly compiled by Charles H. Steiger, the base ball editor of The Chicago Herald.

The Xaviers, one of the strongest baseball teams in this city, are now ready to arrange games for Saturdays and Sundays with out of town clubs. Address all communications to J. K. Delany, 27 West Sixteenth Street, New York City. The nine who were recently badly beaten by the St. John's team, were not the Xavier team, as reported, but were a school team.

St. Louis vs. Philadelphia.

Two games for one admission were played May 10, at St. Louis, rain having prevented the scheduled contest on the preceding day. Crooks reappeared with the home team, taking Pinkney's place at third base. Faultless fielding and timely hitting helped the St. Louis team to win the first game. Gleason pitched steadily, being batted only in the sixth inning, when the visitors bunched four of their seven safe hits. Carsey gave three bases on balls in the fifth inning, two in succession, forcing in a run after two men were out, and Werden then followed with a home run hit to right field that drove in the three men on bases. The St. Louis made four more safe hits in the eighth, Werden leading off with a double bagger, and Carsey, by wild pitching, again forcing in a run. Allen's short stopping was the fielding feature, he having eight assists.

The St. Louis also won the second game, but only after a close and exciting contest. Thornton was knocked out of the box in the first inning, after three safe hits had been made off him. Weyhing, who was then substituted, proved very effective after the third inning, when the home team made three safe hits. The lead thus gained proved sufficient to win, although the Philadelphias pounded Easton's pitching all over the field, bunching ten safe hits and scoring eight runs in three innings. Crooks did the best batting, his hits embracing a home run and a double bagger. Hamilton and Hallman each made two singles and a double bagger. Connor also made a home run. A clever catch by Brodie closed the contest, leaving two of the visitors on bases. Crooks and Clements excelled in fielding.

Louisville vs. Washington.

The Washingtons were shut out without a run May 10, at Louisville, the home team then scoring their second victory of the series. Stratton held the visitors down to four safe hits, which were scattered through as many innings and failed to bring in a run. Browning made three of the six safe hits scored off Knell, but his only run was the result of Dowd's slow handling of the ball. Both teams fielded finely, the Louisvilles excelling in this respect. A double bagger by Larkin was the only long hit of the game.

St. Louis vs. Baltimore.

Hard hitting helped the Baltimores to an unexpected victory May 11, at St. Louis. Shindle and Van Haltren hit home runs and Pickett made a timely double bagger. Brodie and Carroll cut off several seemingly safe hits to the outfield, and the former threw a man out at the plate and thereby accomplished a brilliant double play. Healy kept the hits widely scattered after the second inning, while Caruthers was batted freely in three innings. Crooks made a home run, and Werden would have had one also but for a great catch by Wood. Welch was also credited with a remarkable catch. A curious feature was the fact that all the runs scored were earned.

Pittsburg vs. Boston.

A streak of batting at the finish enabled the Bostons to win the opening game of their series at Pittsburg, May 11, after the home team had led from the start. Nichols was batted hard in the first and third innings, five safe hits then helping the home team to their four runs. The Bostons were unable to make a safe hit in the first five innings, and only batted Baldwin in the eighth, when four singles helped them to four runs and the victory. A drizzling rain fell during the game, and the grounds were very muddy. Shugart's short stopping and batting were noteworthy features.

The Bostons won again May 12, and thus increased their lead in the championship race. Shugart and Farrell alone seemed able to bat Staley, making five of the nine safe hits credited to the home team. Staley, however, kept the hits widely scattered throughout the contest. The Bostons batted Galvin hard and often, bunching six safe hits in the first two innings, which gave them four runs and a winning lead. Lowe led in batting with four successive safe hits, including a triple bagger. Stivetts was again substituted for Stovey, owing to the latter being unable to play, and he batted well, making a timely triple and two singles. The weather was cold and the attendance small.

Cincinnati vs. Louisville.

The old rivals met for the first time this season May 13, at Cincinnati, the home team then winning after a prolonged and tedious contest. The game was called twice on account of rain, and Umpire Hurst insisting on its continuance, the last four innings were played in a drizzling rain and in the dark, although both teams had difficulty in seeing the ball. Hurst at one time lost his temper and struck a spectator in the face with his mask, cutting him badly. Meakin kept the hits well scattered, but was wild, sending nine of the home team to base on balls, three of whom scored, one being forced in. Duryea did good work in the box, except in the fourth inning, when the visitors earned two runs off three safe hits. The fifth inning virtually decided the contest, errors by Meakin and Pfeffer and two safe hits helping the home team to three runs. Jennings' batting and fielding were noteworthy features. Halligan reappeared with the home team, taking O'Neil's by good base running saved a shut out. Weyhing and Hamilton had led off with scratch hits in the eighth, and not a man was out when Hamilton sent a line fly to Smith, who doubled up Weyhing at second, and if McPhee had not hit Hamilton with the ball, a triple play would have resulted. A great catch by Burke at right field spoiled a home run at the finish.

Louisville vs. New York.

Two games were played May 12, at Louisville, the contest scheduled for the preceding day having been postponed by mutual consent on account of the Derby being then run. The New Yorks presented a reconstructed nine, Bassett taking the place of Lyons at third base, and several changes being made in the batting order. King was batted freely in the first game, especially in the sixth and eighth innings, when six safe hits helped the home team to their six runs. The New Yorks batted Jones hard in three innings, when they bunched eleven safe hits and scored seven runs. Fuller and Ewing excelled in batting, the latter driving in three runs by two timely singles.

Hard hitting helped the New Yorks to win the second game. Rusie kept the Louisvilles from making more than three safe hits, but was wild at critical points. With the bases filled in the fifth inning, Pfeffer hit safely to right field, and two runs came in. Fitzgerald kept the hits widely scattered up to the eighth inning, when the New Yorks batted six, including a triple by Richardson and a double by O'Rourke, and secured five runs and the victory. Ewing and Bassett led in batting. Brown's play at centre field was the fielding feature, he making no fewer than eight catches.

Chicago vs. St. Louis.

These clubs contended twice May 14 at Chicago, rain having prevented the game scheduled for the preceding day. Gleason kept the home team down to four safe hits in the first game, but he sent men to base on balls and the hits were bunched when needed in two innings and brought in five runs. Luby also did well in the pitcher's position, the five safe hits made off him being too widely scattered to yield more than three runs. Both pitchers received good support. Stricker's second base play was the fielding feature.

Timely hitting helped the Chicagos to win the second game. Breitenstein kept the hits wide apart with the exception of the third inning, when the home team bunched four and then secured three earned runs and a winning lead. The visitors fielded faultlessly, but were unable to make more than five safe hits off Gumbert, although these brought in three runs. Stricker again accepted all of ten chances at second base.

Pittsburg vs. Chicago.

These clubs met for the first time this season May 16, at Pittsburg, the Chicagos then winning by their superior fielding and timely batting. A triple bagger by Corkhill and a double by Mack earned the only run scored by the home team. Ryan led off for the visitors with a home run. A single by Duncan and a triple by Hutchison, together with a fumble by Smith, gave the visitors two runs and the victory in the fourth inning. Both Baldwin and Hutchison held the hits well apart. Ryan's batting and Canavan's fielding were the features of a closely contested game.

Cleveland vs. Louisville.

The Louisvilles barely escaped being shut out May 16, at Cleveland, the home team then reversing the result of the preceding contest in the series. The visitors made only four safe hits off Davies, and their solitary run was on a fumble by Davis. Stratton proved effective except in the third inning, when the home team made three runs off four safe hits. O'Connor and Davis led in batting, the latter's hits including a double bagger.

New York vs. Philadelphia.

The New Yorks defeated the Philadelphias in two closely contested games May 16, at the Polo Grounds in this city, and thereby exchanged places in the championship race. Grace Pierce umpired the first game in consequence of Mahoney not appearing in time. Keefe kept the hits well distributed throughout, errors by Hallman, however, helping the home team materially. Allen and Hamilton alone batted King freely, the former making a timely triple and a double that brought in three runs, and twice enabled the visitors to tie the score. A scratch single by King, and a fumble by Hallman, helped the New Yorks to the winning run in the ninth inning.

Eleven innings were necessary to decide the second game, the New Yorks then winning after a hard uphill fight. Rusie was very effective, except in the fourth and sixth innings, when the visitors bunched five safe hits and scored three runs. He was wild, however, giving eight men bases on balls, three of whom scored runs. Weyhing was erratic also, and by a wild pitch let in the winning run after one man was out in the last half of the eleventh inning. Allen had tied the score by a home run hit in the ninth. Lyons took Bassett's place after the latter had been hit in the head by a pitched ball, and he led off with a home run hit to left field. Fuller's fine fielding was the feature, he accepting all of twelve chances at short stop. Ewing led in batting, his three hits including a triple bagger. Cross caught cleverly, taking Clements' place.

Baltimore vs. Washington.

Two games for one admission were played May 16 at Baltimore, both teams being then credited with a victory. The Baltimores batted Knell out of the box in the first inning of the opening game, making five safe hits and scoring six runs. The lead thus gained proved sufficient for the home team to win, although they made only three scattering hits off Foreman, who pitched during the remainder of the contest. McMahon kept the hits well apart during the game, being batted only by Foreman and Hoy. Four double plays were made in this game, one being by Whistler unassisted. Home runs were made by Van Haltren and Robinson.

The Washingtons won the second game by hard hitting in two innings. Cobb was batted only in the sixth and eighth innings, when five safe hits helped the visitors to a like number of runs. Killen kept the Baltimores from scoring except in the eighth inning, when a timely triple bagger by Welch brought in three runs. The winning run was the result of a home run hit by Milligan. Larkin led in batting and Richardson excelled in fielding.

Boston vs. Brooklyn.

These clubs contended for the first time this season, May 14, the home team then, strengthened by the reappearance of Nash, winning after an exciting struggle often innings. The visitors started off the lead, which they held until the seventh inning, when the home team tied the score. Clarkson had been batted freely, O'Brien making a home run and Joyce and Brouthers triple baggers, while Stein proved very effective during the first six innings. The Bostons bunched four safe hits in the seventh, when with two men on bases Lowe made a home run over the left field fence. Three more hits in the eighth gave the Bostons the lead. Daly took Collins' place at the bat in the ninth inning, and tied the score by hitting over the left field fence for a home run. In the tenth Ward hit Long in the back in an attempt to cut him off at the plate, and this let in two runs and lost the game.

Superior batting enabled the Bostons to win May 16, although they were outfielded. Fouts was batted freely, the Bostons bunching five safe hits and scoring five runs in two innings. Inks, who was substituted as pitcher in the sixth inning, was batted safely six times during the remainder of the contest. His wild pitching gave the home team two runs in the seventh. Stivetts prevented the Brooklyns from making more than three scattering singles during the first seven innings. Joyce made a home run in the eighth inning on one of the longest hits ever seen on the local grounds, the ball going over the fence at the extreme right field corner. Brouthers made three of the seven hits credited to the Brooklyns.

St Louis vs. Cincinnati.

The Cincinnatis scored their fifth consecutive victory of the series May 15, at St. Louis. Mullane proved very effective, being batted only in the eighth inning, when the home team secured three of their six safe hits. Pleasonton kept the Cincinnatis from making more than a solitary safe hit up to the seventh inning, when a questionable decision and an error by Stricker seemed to unnerve him. Three safe hits then enabled the visitors to make three runs and tie the score. Werden hit over the left field fence for a home run in the next inning. The Cincinnatis then bunched four more hits, which helped them to the winning run after one man was out in the last half of the ninth inning. Crooks, who accepted all of nine chances at third base, excelled in fielding.

THE INITIAL OPEN AIR SHOW of the United States Horse and Cattle Show Society, held at Manhattan Field, this city, last week, proved a dismal failure. This was partly the result of unfavorable weather, the society having to contend with rain on two days, and sunshine being in demand the greater part of the week. However, it is doubtful if, given the best of weather, the venture would have proved financially successful. The exhibits, too, were not up to what the managers had hoped for, so that, taken altogether, the outlook is not very encouraging for those who have expended a large amount of money in preparing for and carrying on the show. The losses of the society mount up into thousands of dollars, where they had confidently expected a handsome financial profit. Should they try it again, the members of the society may be credited with the possession of an abundance of pluck.

CHARLEY JOHNSTON has decided to embark in the bookmaking business, and to that end has fitted up a room in Municipal Hall, Brooklyn, with the necessary paraphernalia. The room, which will be in charge of Thomas Rand, the old time bookmaker and sporting man, was to have been opened on Monday, the day on which the Brooklyn Handicap was decided. As Charley says that he does not intend to violate the law in any respect, he does not think that the authorities will interfere with him.

M. F. DWYER has given Gen. W. H. Jackson, of the Belle Meade Stud Farm, the refusal of the great sprinter Kingston when the latter's career on the turf is at an end. The stated price is $20,000.

JOHN HUNTER has been elected president of the Board of Control, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of D. D. Withers.

Racing at the Mound City.

The meeting of the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association continued during the past week, with results highly satisfactory to the management. The Louisville Meeting.

The Spring meeting of the Louisville Jockey Club opened on Wednesday afternoon, May 11, and although the weather was the reverse of pleasant, the sky being overcast by heavy clouds, while the track was soaked, there was an immense turnout of those who make it a point not to miss the running of the principal event of the meeting, the Kentucky Derby, one of the classic events of the turf. Nowadays, the race does not attract so much attention outside of the Blue Grass region as it used to, before there were so many associations in all parts of the country, and so many richer stakes were to be won. Consequently, it was no surprise to see only three horses start, and two of these the property of one man, Ed Corrigan, who made a bold bid for the race with Huron and Phil. Dwyer, but failed to knock out the representative of old Kaintuck, Azra, who managed to do the trick by the tightest sort of squeezing. Thus the race, although having so few contestants, was one of the most sensational ever run, the winner having but a nose the best of it at the finish, after a magnificent struggle down the stretch. The coolness of Clayton on the winner was largely responsible for the victory, the opposing jockey, Britton, appearing to lose his head when he was caught by Azra after turning into the home stretch. Summary of the events:

First race.—Selling, purse $500, six furlongs—C. Scoggan's Bettina, 109, Britton, won by a length from Smith & Hughes' John Berkley, 108, Anderson, a length before A. Simons' Critic, 105, Hoggett. Time, 1:18¾.

Second race.—Purse $500, for maiden two year olds, five furlongs—C. E. Bailey's Court Lore, 113, Ray, won by a length from Inquire Stable's Inquire, 113, Nailing three lengths before P. B. Young's Marmaduke, 108. Time, 1:05¾.

Third race.—The Kentucky Derby, for three year olds, one and one half miles.
Bashford Manor's b. c. Azra, by Reform-Albia, 122.....
.....Clayton 1
E. Corrigan's b. c. Huron, 122 .....Britton 2
E. Corrigan's b. c. Phil. Dwyer, 122.....Overton 3
Time, 2:41½. Betting: 8 to 5, Azra; 3 to 5, Huron and Phil. Dwyer coupled.

Fourth race.—Selling, purse $500, six furlong heats—W. O Scully's Maud Howard, 109, Goodale, won both heats, with A. Simons' Ed. Eshelby, 86, A. Clayton, second in each, and Jennie Greene, 86, T. Brown, third. Time, 1:19, 1:19.

There was, of course, a great reduction in the size of the assemblage on 12, when the weather continued cloudy and cool, but the track was materially improved, while the racing was of a satisfactory character. The Hurstbourne Stakes constituted the feature of the day, and it proved an exciting contest, resulting in the success of the favorite, Deerfoot, but by a head only, Monrovia having led almost to the wire. Summary:

First race.—Purse $500, six furlongs—O. O. West's Salvation, 110, H. Anderson, won by a length from Kentucky Stable's Col. Clay, 110, Murphy, a length before C. L. Forsythe's Lockport 110, Lindsay. Time, 1:18..... Second race—Selling, purse $500, for two year olds, one half mile—A. Simon's Inferior, 105, Perkinson, won by two lengths from T. D. Carter's Dr. Morris, 102, Keith a length before C. E. Bailey's Poor Jonathan, 110, Ray Time, 0:50¾.

Third race—The Hurstbourne Stakes for two year old fillies, five furlongs.
Kentucky Stable's b. f. Deerfoot, by Hindoo-Dreamland, 115 .....J. Murphy 1
E. Brown's Monrovia, 110.....Washam 2
J. Bradley's Fay S., 115.....Goodale 3
Time, 1:03. Betting: Even money, Deerfoot; place none; Monrovia, place, 3 to 1. The other starters were Fringe, Too Quick, Queen Lute and Lindienne.

Fourth race.—Purse $500, one mile—Kentucky Stable's Mary McGowan, 117, Thompson, won by a length from J. M. Thornton's Kindora, 111, H. Anderson, a length before Scoggan Bros.' Miss Knott, 96, T. Sloan. Time, 1:44¾. ....Fifth race.—Handicap, purse $500, one mile and fifty yards—J. Murphy's Kinsem, 103, Perkinson, won by a length and a half from Scoggan Bros.' Helen N. 93, T. Sloan, a length before O. O. Weaver's Unadilla, 102, T. Brown. Time, 1:47.

About five thousand persons visited the course on Friday, 13, the chief attraction being the Delbeck Handicap, for which Tulla Blackburn was a red hot favorite, a pile of money going in on the mare, but she threw down her backers badly, failing to do better than get third place. The race was handily taken by the colt Balgowan, which carried two pounds more than the favorite. The other events furnished good sport. Summary:

First race.—Selling, purse $500, five and a half furlongs—H. Snyder's Knot In It, 95, Slaughter, won by a length from A. Simons' Critic, 110, Perkinson, three lengths before J. M. Brown & Co.'s Lady Blackburn, 100, Hoggett. Time, 1:10½. .....Second race—Purse $500, for two year olds, five furlongs—E. Brown's Ferrier, 108, Washam, won by a length from H. B. Douglas' Lady Jane, 110, Slaughter, two lengths before C. E. Bailey's Poor Jonathan, 108, Ray. Time, 1:04.

Third race.—The Delbeck Handicap, for three year olds and upward, $1,000 added, one mile.
Richmond & Co.'s b. c. Balgowan, 4, by Strathmore-Trinkitat, 124.....Overton 1
L. Curran's ch. f. Rorka, 4, 106.....Penny 2
Ætna Stable's b. m. Tulla Blackburn, 122.....Goodale 3
Time, 1:43. Betting: 8 to 5, Balgowan, no place odds Tulla Blackburn led to the halt, when Balgowan forged to the front, and drawing away in the stretch won easily by a length and a half, with Rorka second, a head before Tulla Blackburn.

Fourth race.—Selling, purse $500, one mile and fifty yards, J. Bradley's Rook Laidley, 106, Goodale, won by a length from I. Lewis' Revel, 115, C. Lewis, two lengths from J. Murphy's Grey Duke, 92, Washam. Time, 1:47¾. .....Fifth race.—Handicap, purse $500, one mile and seventy yards—Kentucky Stable's Major Tom, 106, Thompson, won by a neck from Argo & Stubblefield's Bob L., 102, Goodale, a head before A. Simons' First Lap, 99, Hoggett. Time, 1:50 .... Sixth race—Same conditions as first, five and a half furlongs.—J. Murphy's Tenny Jr., 95, W. Sham, won by two lengths from H. C. Brown's Hardee, 114, R. Williams, a length in front of Richmond & Co.'s Red Prince, 101, Hoggett. Time 1:12.

The management had the elements to contend with on Saturday afternoon, 14, rain falling during the morning and for some time after the racing began in the afternoon, but later it cleared, the sun shone forth and the weather became very pleasant. Notwithstanding the discouraging outlook there were about three thousand persons present, and, although the going was of the worst, the racing was generally spirited enough to furnish good sport, albeit all but one of the events on the programme were won easily. Jockeys Overton, R. Williams and Ray were fined $100 each for bad conduct at the post. Summary:

First race.—Purse $500, five and one half furlongs—A. Simon's Critic, 113, Overton, won by three lengths from E. Brown's Astrakhan, 100, Washam, six lengths before J. W. Seller's The Hero, 105, Steppe. Time, 1:13¾. .. Second race.—Selling, purse $500, seven furlongs—H. B. Durham's Rook Laidley, 110, Goodale, won by a length from E. Simon's First Lap, 96, Hoggett. Time, 1:54 .... Sixth race.—Same conditions as second race, seven furlongs—Sullivan & Doyle's Tom Roach, 110, Thompson, won by three lengths from Field & Hughes' Torrent, 103, Perkinson, half a length before J. Bradley's Comedy, 104, R. Jones. Time, 1:34.

A larger crowd was present on Monday, 16, than had been at the course since the opening day, the weather being delightful, the programme very attractive, but the track was heavy and slow from the rain of the preceding day. Still the sport was satisfactory, some of the finishes being exciting. The principal event on the card was the Kentucky Oaks, upon the result of which speculation was brisk, but the favorite, Miss Dixie, won in easy style, and she is regarded as the best filly that has shown up in the West this season. Summary:

First race.—Selling, purse $500, one mile—Kentucky Stable's Palmetto, 108, J. Murphy, won by a length from C. W. Doherty's Powers, 101, Perkinson, half a length before A. Simon's Eugenie, 101, Keith. Time, 1:47..... Second race.—Selling, purse $500, for two year olds, five furlongs—Bagatelle Stable's Goodwood, 96, Keith, won by a half length from A. Simon's Interior, 111, R. Williams, a neck before J. M. Brown & Co.'s Edith Belmont, 100, Hoggett. Time, 1:06.

Third race.—The Kentucky Oaks, for three year old fillies, $1,250 added, one and a quarter miles.
J. E. Pepper's br. f. Miss Dixie, by Falsetto-Barbecue, 117 .....Ray 1
O. O. West Jr.'s ch. f. Unadilla, 117 .....Anderson 2
Himyar Stable's br. f. Greenwich, 117 .....Clayton 3
Time, 2:14½. Betting: 5 to 3 Miss Dixie and The Queen coupled; for a place, none; Unadilla for a place, 2 to 1. Unadilla went to the front from the start and led for a mile, when Miss Dixie came away and won easily by a length, with Unadilla a length and a half before Greenwich.

Fourth race.—Selling, purse $500, seven furlongs—J. M. Brown & Co.'s Borealis, 101, Hoggett, won by two lengths from C. McCafferty's Foxhall, 98, Slaughter, a length before McGraw & West's Hopeful, 112, E. Jones. Time, 1:32.....Fifth race.—Handicap, purse $500, one mile and twenty yards—Avondale Stable's Ida Pickwick, 107, Ray, won by a length from J. Murphy's Kinsem, 108, Perkinson, two lengths before A. Simon's Ed. Eshelby, 92, A. Clayton. Time, 1:47. Sixth race—Same conditions as fourth, seven furlongs—A. B. Goodwin's Vashti, 93, Perkins, won by a single length from H. C. Brown's Fakir, 100, Goodale, two lengths before T. H. Steven's Modjeska, 97, Gwynne. Time, 1:32.

Monmouth is Licensed.

The application of the Monmouth Park Racing Association for the privilege of selling liquor on the grounds, which was determinedly opposed by the Law and Order Society of Monmouth County, N. J., was on May 12 favorably considered by Judges Conover, Curtis and Morris, at Freehold. In the written decision read by Judge Conover, he said that the courts had for many years recognized the necessity for club house, hotel and restaurant licenses, and consequently the applications could not be considered as new ones. The Court had no right to assume that the laws would not be observed at the course, and therefore the three licenses applied for should be granted. The friends of the association are greatly elated at the result, as there is hardly a doubt now that there will be racing at the time honored track this season. Incidentally, the hotel proprietors, etc., of Long Branch, who suffered much financially last year, because of the absence of racing, are jubilant over the prospect of a highly profitable resumption of business. The granting of these licenses has naturally created much indignation among the members of the Law and Order League of the county, who have not yet given up the fight against the track people, but threaten to take the matter to the higher court of the State. The secretary of the League, Rev. S. B. Young, has drawn up a petition, which has been circulated for signatures, and is to be presented to Chief Justice Beasley at Trenton. The members of the association, and those who are in favor of the resumption of racing at the park, are in nowise perturbed over the matter, being disposed to look upon the action of the League as the last desperate effort of the friends of a cause already lost.

Wind Up at Lexington.

Tuesday, May 10, was the closing day of the Spring meeting at Lexington, Ky., and as the weather was rainy, with a bad track, comparatively few people visited the grounds. The card presented, too, was most uninviting, so that the meeting closed in anything but a sensational manner. Summary:

Selling, purse $400, for three year olds and upwards, six furlongs—Baker & Oet's b. f. Lou Dudley, 102, Bryant, won by half a length from James Bradley's Parolee, 99, Pierce, five lengths before R. G. Arnold's Corinne Kinney, 102, Porter. Time, 1:20.....Selling, purse $400, for three year olds and upwards, seven furlongs—W. E. Applegate's ch. c. Loudon, 110, Jones, won by ten lengths from H. C. Radenbaugh's Dud Hughes, 105, Bryant, the same distance before Dud Allen's Avon d'Or, 105, W. Perkins. Time, 1:33 ....Handicap, for three year olds, $400 added, fifteen-sixteenths of a mile—Himyar Stable's b. f. Greenwich 97, N. Porter, won by five lengths from Talbott Bros.' Lillian Lindsay, 105, Britton, the same distance before J. M. Boyle's Capt. Drame, 94, W. Perkins. Time, 1:49¾. Selling, purse $400, for two year olds, four and one-half furlongs—W. F. White's b. c. Beatifice, 100, Bryant, won by five lengths from Mat Maison Stable's Tid Bit, 97, J. Jones, two lengths before Sullivan & Doyle's Patsy, 94, N. Porter. Time, 1:01¾. .....Purse $400, for maiden two year olds, half mile—J. E. Madden's b. c. Frank Ellis, 105, Pierce, won by ten lengths from Adams & Harrington's Luke F., 105, Lindsay, five lengths before Iroquois Stable's Woodsman. Time 0:54.

CHARLEY POST, the steeplechase jockey, who was thrown in the hurdle race at Guttenburg on Monday, May 9, is in the hospital hovering between life and death. At first it was not thought that he had received any further injury than a broken leg, but examination showed that an artery leading to the brain had been ruptured, the effect of which was to paralyze the unfortunate jockey, and at last advices he was totally blind. His death was looked for at any moment. The owners of the horse St. John, upon which Post had the mount when he met with the accident, won a race on Friday, and donated the amount of the purse, $300, to the unfortunate jockey. Post was one of the very best steeplechase jockeys in the country, a careful, though perfectly fearless rider, with a firm grip, and had the reputation of being thoroughly honest and reliable.

THE BOARD OF CONTROL held a meeting in this city May 13, at which a resolution was passed to the effect that the Board would recognize only the rulings of such jockey clubs or racing associations as enforced its forfeit list, and which are not disqualified under the resolutions passed by that body on Dec. 22 last. The applications of the following persons for licenses were granted: Trainers—C. P. Hill, J. B. Ferguson, William Donohue, Edward McElmeel, Charles Oxx, George W. Nixon, F. Charleston, Charles Chance, John Ross, John Dwyer, C. J. Garrison, Hardy Campbell, Jesse Delong, James F. Gleason. Jockeys—Andrew J. McCarthy, L. Wilkens, T. Kane, Anthony Scott, Burges Tenny, Charles Flynn.

THE MANAGERS OF HOMEWOOD PARK, Pittsburg, Pa., propose to make their grand circuit meeting, to be held July 18 to 22, the most notable of the season. The largest stakes offered anywhere throughout the circuit will be contended for there. Among the purses are the following: Monongahela House Stake, $5,000, for the 2:26 class; Coal and Iron Stake, $1,000, for the 2:40 class; Oil Producers' Stake, $2,500, for pacers eligible to the 2:24 class, and the Glass Manufacturers' Stake of $1,900 for pacers eligible to the 2:35 class. Among those already billed for Pittsburg are Nancy Hanks and Axtell.

OF INTEREST TO HORSEMEN.—On Saturday, May 14, the Kentucky House of Representatives passed a bill which, if enacted into a law, will have a wonderful effect on the Kentucky races, for which the Blue Grass State is so well known. The title of the bill is "An act to regulate turnaments and other associations in this Commonwealth, and to prevent what is commonly known as 'ringing.'" The act provides that it shall be a felony to enter a horse under an assumed name or out of its proper class.

BUDD DOBLE, upon being asked whether he would trot Axtell at St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 15, in the race of which several announcements had been made, answered that he had received several messages requesting that the horse be entered, but as the track upon which the announced trot was to take place had not yet been built, he had not thought it worth while to pay any attention to the requests.

.... The five hour Blue Line flyer on the B. and O. Road between Washington and New York made a remarkably fast trip eastward on May 13. The train, consisting of four heavy vestibuled cars, was hauled by Engine No. 618, a new compound locomotive from the Baldwin Works, and the eighty-five miles from Wayne Junction to Jersey City were made in 87m.; the fastest mile being timed in 44s., or at the rate of eighty-two miles an hour.

.... The annual tournament for the tennis championship of England was brought to a conclusion at the Queen's Club, West Kensington, London, on May 5, when H. E. Crawley (challenger) met Sir E. Grey, Bart., M. P. (holder), in the final tie, best of five sets. The result was in favor of the former, by the following score: 6–5, 5–6, 6–4, 4–6, 6–5. The winner secured twenty-seven games to twenty-six for the loser.

.... An inter-scholastic tennis tournament for doubles will be held at the grounds of the Princeton University Tennis Association on Saturday, May 21, continuing during the following week. Play will begin at 10 o'clock A. M. The entry fee is two dollars per team and must accompany the entry. Entries will close on Friday, May 20, with John C. Neely, secretary, 12 Stockton Street, Princeton, N. J.

.... W. T. Rextroat again defeated Capt. Bogardus, in a pigeon shooting match at St. Louis, Mo., May 7. Each man shot at seventy-five birds, and Rextroat won by a score of 65 to 64.

The End at Nashville.

The Spring meeting at Nashville, Tenn., was brought to an end on Tuesday afternoon, May 10. The weather was pleasant, the going slow, and the attendance numbered over three thousand. The event of the day was the Maxwell House Handicap, for which the favorite was the fleet Balgowan, who simply ran away from the horses pitted against him, finishing in a gallop, five lengths in front. Summary:

Selling, purse $400, eleven sixteenths of a mile—Mrs. Charles McCafferty's One Dime, 104, Slaughter, won by a length from Fred Foster's Glendive, 94, G. Williams, a half length in front of Richmond & Co.'s Red Prince, 76, A. Clayton. Time, 1:14¾ .. Selling, purse $400, six furlongs—J. Huffman's Tom Darling, 102, Thorpe, won by three lengths from Charles McCafferty's Grey Goose, 97, Slaughter, a short neck ahead of J. M. Brown & Co.'s Borealis, 105, Fox. Time, 1:19¾ ..... THE LONG PENDING CASE OF C. H. NELSON, of Waterville, Me., was finally disposed of at the final session of the American Trotting Association, held at Chicago, Ill., May 5. Mr. Nelson had made application for the removal from himself and horse Nelson of the verdict of expulsion previously passed upon them in connection with the famous Nelson-Alcryon case, some years ago, but the association came to the conclusion that, although the absence of the horse from the leading tracks of the country would be a loss to the trotting turf, yet the fraud committed merited and demanded the infliction of the severest penalty, so it was decided to sustain the former ruling.

THE SPEEDY PACING STALLIONS Direct and Hal Pointer, whose meetings on Western and Southern tracks last season were exciting, and resulted in the making of splendid performances, have been matched to contend in a special race for $5,000, to be decided at the August meeting at Grand Rapids, Mich. This promises to be the finest meeting yet held on the trotting turf, the association having offered the sum of $17,000 in premiums, in addition to a free for all stallion race for big money.

THE CASE of the horse Alcryon came before the Board of Review of the National Trotting Association, at its session in Chicago, Ill., May 11, and the matter was referred to President Bulkeley, pending whose decision the driver was temporarily reinstated. The trouble was caused by the allegation that a check for the sum of $5,000 was received by one of the drivers just before the trot with Nelson in Boston. A. E. Alvord, of Syracuse, N. Y., who was expelled on a charge of entering the mare, Mattie K., in a wrong class, and under an assumed name, was reinstated upon payment of a fine of $1,000.

A MEETING of the pool room keepers of this city was held on the evening of May 10, at which Peter De Lacy informed them that the trouble between the rooms and the Brooklyn Jockey Club had been fixed up, and that during the present season the rooms would be furnished with the news, probably at a slight advance over former rates, which was the main cause of the fight made against them by Phil. Dwyer.

THREE young turfmen of Pittsburg, Pa., the home of "Phil the Plunger" and Sam Keys, have made an offer for the trotting stallion Wabash, belonging to a man in Uniontown. He is a full brother to Ralph Wilkes, and is highly thought of.

C. W. WILLIAMS, owner of the famous stallion Allerton, and of the kite track at Independence, Ia., has agreed to trot his horse at Des Moines, Ia., against any horse except Axtell, that the managers might secure, for a purse of $10,000, divided 60 and 40 per cent.

Princeton Defeats Columbia.

The orange and black colors proved triumphant over the blue and white when the athletes of Princeton and Columbia Colleges met at Berkeley Oval in their initial inter-university match field meeting on Saturday afternoon, May 14. The weather was not propitious, a drizzling rain falling throughout the day, becoming quite heavy at intervals, and rendering everybody on the grounds uncomfortable. It also served to keep away hundreds who under other meteorological conditions would have visited the Oval, and thus prevented the financial success of the meeting. The undergraduates of the rival colleges were present in fair force, however, and despite the unpleasant surroundings let loose their enthusiasm after the fashion peculiar to that class. The track was not in bad condition, although somewhat dead, and in the chief event of the day, the mile walk the winner, F. A. Borcherling, Princeton's champion, created a new college record, completing the distance in 6m. 55⅝s. The best previous performance by a collegian was 6m. 56⅝s., by R. S. Hale, of Harvard, at Cambridge, last year, and the best inter-collegiate record (performance accomplished at the annual inter collegiate meeting) was 7m. 5⅝s., by Lloyd Collis, of Columbia, last year's champion. The latter was a competitor in the race with Borcherling, and with a grand spurt, well sustained, took the lead from the Princetonian in the last lap, holding the pride of place till within fifteen yards of the worsted, when his bolt was shot, and the favorite regained the lead winning as stated, while Collis staggered across the line. The claim was made that Collis had been assisted to finish, which claim was sustained by Referee Schuyler, who disqualified him. The effort made by the Columbian was deserving of better results. It demonstrated that, while he is possessed of speed enough, his stamina is not equal to that shown by Borcherling, who is bound to improve during the season. The meeting between these men at the inter-collegiate fixture will be one of the most interesting features of that great annual gathering. The team representing the New Jersey college easily outpointed their metropolitan rivals, the score at the close standing 70 to 42 in favor of Princeton. Summary:

One hundred yards run—First heat: P. Vredenburgh, Princeton, '92 first; H. T. Harding, Columbia, '93, second. Time, 10⅝s. Second heat: G. R Swain, Princeton, '94, first; H. A. McNulty, Princeton, '95, second. Time, 10⅝s. Final heat: Swain first, Vredenburg second, Harding third. Time, 10⅝s

A New College Record.

The annual Spring meeting of the Harvard Athletic Association was held at Holmes' Field, Cambridge, Mass., on Friday afternoon, May 13. At the time the games commenced the weather was very favorable and the track in excellent condition, but during the bicycle race rain fell quite heavily, spoiling the path and rendering especially good performances out of the question. Jupiter Pluvius did not get in his work soon enough, however, to prevent a fine bit of riding by the winner of the two mile wheeling event, R. W. Davis, who lowered the college record for the distance to 5m. 38⅘s. Summary:

One hundred and twenty yards hurdle race—First, O. W. Snead, '93; second, G. R. Fearing, '93; third, T. C. Smith, '92. Time, 16⅘s.

One hundred yards run—First, G. F. Brown, '92; second, O. K. Hawes, '92. Time, 10⅗s.

Running broad jump—First, E. B. Bloss, '94; second, O. W. Shead, '93; third, A. H. Green, '92. Distance, 21ft. 8¾in.

THE teams of Lehigh University and the Baltimore Druids engaged in a game of lacrosse at South Bethlehem, Pa., May 11, the former being vanquished by a score of six goals to two.

C. W. MCKAY has resigned the captaincy of the Dartmouth College football team for next season, and W. A. Allen has been elected to fill the vacancy.

THE Buffalo (N. Y.) Athletic Club have elected these officers for the present year: President, Harlow C. Palmer; vice president, Frank L. Bapst; secretary and treasurer, J. A. Pfaal

Western College Champions.

The first intercollegiate field day held in the West under the auspices of the University of Illinois took place at Champaign on Friday afternoon, May 13. Eight institutions of learning were represented among the entries for the different events, and there was a large crowd to see the sport, but unfortunately rain fell continuously and the path was in bad condition, while the infield was worse. However, some very good work was done, as will be seen by the summary:

Two hundred and twenty yards run—L. D. Cabanne, Washington University, first, 24⅘s.; M. L. Oglesby second.

Pole vault—Ludlow, Northwestern first. 9ft. 1½in.; G. M. Hobbs, University of Illinois, second; C. A. Gunn, University of Illinois, third.

Throwing the hammer—J. P. Sullivan, College of Christian Brothers, first, 84ft. 8in.; Fouts University of Illinois, second; Eberhardt, Iowa College, third.

Fifty yards run—Merrifield won, 5⅔s.

Running broad jump—Fred J. Weedman, University of Illinois, won, 18ft. 7¾in.; Arthur L. Little, Washington University, second; A. D. Fuller, Washington University, third

One hundred and twenty yards hurdle race—L. D. Cabanne, first, 20s.; George P. Hoff, Rose Polytechnic, second; A. S. Clark, University of Illinois, third.

Half mile run—Riggs, Northwestern, first, 2m. 9⅕s.; William Martin, Christian Brothers, second; W. G. Miller, University of Illinois, third.

One hundred yards run—Merrifield first. 10⅗s.; Brown, Northwestern, second; George Hoff, third.

Two mile safety bicycle race—Mitchell, University of Illinois, first, 7m. 10⅘s; Harrison, Washington, second; Black, Illinois, third.

Hop, step and jump—Gunn, University of Iowa, first, 42ft. 9in.; Metcalf, Washington, second; Ridgely, Rose Polytechnic, third.

Quarter mile run—Kennicott, University of Wisconsin, first, 1m. 54s.; Poole, University of Illinois, second; Lewis, University of Iowa, third.

Sports at Stenton.

The members of the Eastburn Athletic Association, of Philadelphia, held their Spring meeting at Stenton on Friday afternoon, May 13, in presence of about two thousand relatives and friends of the contestants. The weather was fairly good, the running path in capital condition, and a successful meeting was the result of good management and interesting competitions. Summary:

One hundred yards run, senior—Won by J. Serrill, 11⅗s.; second, J. Ferguson.

One hundred yards run, junior—Won by A. Harding, 12⅘s; second, J. Yardley.

Running high jump—Won by J. Ferguson, 6ft.

One mile run—Won by H. Siner. 5m. 27⅘s.

Two hundred and twenty yards run—Won by F. Barnes, 31⅘s.

Boston Athletic Association.

This organization held handicap games at Irvington Oval, Boston, Mass., on Thursday afternoon, May 12, which attracted a large number of spectators, and were quite successful. The track was heavy and slow, and consequently fast times were impossible. The event of the afternoon was the half mile run, which resulted in a grand race, being ultimately won, in a driving finish, by J. F. Moakley by less than a foot. Summary:

One hundred yards run—Final heat: F. W. Lord, Boston Athletic Association, 3yds. start, and A. W. Jameson, Harvard Athletic Association, 4yds., ran a dead heat, in 10⅘s; B. Hurd Jr., Boston Athletic Association 1yd., third. At the first attempt to decide the dead heat Lord and Jameson finished head and head again, and in the third trial Jameson managed to land slightly in front at the worsted, in 11⅕s.

Half mile run—J. F. Moakley, Dorchester Athletic Club, scratch, first, in 2m. 9s; F. Rowe, S. A. C., 5yds start, second; A. B. Payne, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 40yds., third.

Pole vault—T. McNeill, Trimount Athletic Club, allowed 9in., first, 10ft. 3in.; P. C. Stingle, Melrose Athletic Club, 1ft. and P. J. Finnernan, Boston Athletic Association, 1ft., tied at 10ft 1½in. Stingle won the toss for place.

Throwing the 56lb weight—Daniel Long, Boston Athletic Association, scratch, first. 31ft; B Doherty, Dorchester Athletic Club, 8ft., second, 23ft. 2in; P. J. Finnernan, Boston Athletic Association, 9ft., third, 21ft. 6½in.

Innes Outruns Bramble.

Nelse Innes and C. A. Bramble, members of the reportorial staff of The Boston Herald, decided their one mile running match, for a trophy valued at $25, at Irvington Oval, Boston, Mass., on the afternoon of May 12. They had trained more or less faithfully for three solid weeks previously, abstaining religiously from all the follies and other things appertaining to the life of the model newspaper worker, and when they appeared on the track they looked to be in excellent condition. Two score or more of their co-laborers in the field of journalism, together with a number of amateur athletes, were present and gave the rivals a lively send off when the signal was sounded. Innes, who was the favorite, got off best, gradually drew away from his heavier antagonist, whom he lapped at seven furlongs, and finally romped in in the excellent time, for a novice at the game, of 5m. 43s. The victor received the hearty congratulations of the assembled spectators with characteristic modesty, but, although elated with his easy victory, the trials and tribulations of training for such a contest will deter him from indulgence in such exercise for some time to come.

Crimson Against Blue.

The event of the current week in New England will be the annual competitive meeting between the picked teams of Harvard and Yale Colleges, which will take place at Yale Field, New Haven, on Friday afternoon, May 20, commencing at two o'clock. The events forming the programme are the same as last year, and the flower of the athletic talent of the rival institutions will meet in competition. Both colleges held their regular Spring meetings last week, and the probable result of the competitions at the Elm City on Friday was in most instances foreshadowed by the performances of the winners at those meetings. The struggle between the chosen athletes of the two leading universities of America promises to produce a series of highly interesting exhibitions of speed, strength, skill and endurance, not to mention that courage that does not allow its possessor to falter, and which often serves to snatch victory from seemingly certain defeat.

Sports in the Buckeye State.

The Shawnee (O.) Athletic Club held their second games at their club rooms on Walnut Street May 12. The large hall was decorated and the races were witnessed by a large and appreciative audience. Summary:

Two hundred and forty yards run, for boys under 14 years—Won by John Elder, Sam Phillips second. Time, 34s.

Two hundred and forty yards run, for men weighing over 200lb—Won by Ben Murdoch, Dan Lewis second. Time. 36s.

Handicap mile run—Won by Ed. Trew, 20yds.; Joe Jones, scratch, second Time, 5m 5s.

Hurdle race. 300yds.—Won by David Stoyle, Robert Moody second. Time. 55s.

Four hundred and forty yards run—Final heat: H. R. Blaire first, J. N. Patton second. Time, 57s.

Long Walk for Nothing.

A dispatch from Boone, Ia., says: "Pedestrian Stone, who started to walk from San Francisco to New York, on a wager of $5,000, he to walk 25 miles per day, no allowance to be made for sickness or bad weather, has reached here. On his arrival he received a notice that the wager had been declared off, because instead of walking around the bay at San Francisco, via San Jose and Stockton, 80 miles, he crossed in a boat. He acknowledges that he did so, but he is very angry because he has been allowed to walk 80 days since the wager was declared off."

JOHN Y. COOPER, of the Wilmington Athletic Club, and J. H. Weiss, of Brooklyn, champion amater 125lb wrestler, met in a match for a medal at Institute Hall, Wilmington, Del., evening of May 13 The style was catch as catch can, and Cooper made a flying win of it, throwing his antagonist three times in 1m. 29s and getting the verdict. There was about seven hundred people present, who cheered the victor lustily. He is the champion of the Atlantic Association of the A. A. U., and his victory was naturally very popular among the Delawarians.

A FOOTBALL MATCH was contested at Philadelphia, Pa., on May 14 by the teams of the Athletics and Taconys, the latter suffering defeat by four goals to one.

Schoolboys in Competition.

Notwithstanding that rain fell in a steady, searching drizzle throughout the afternoon on Saturday, May 14, about three hundred persons, among them quite a number of ladies, relatives of the participants, the members of the Chapin School Athletic Association held their Spring field meeting at the Columbia Lesser Field, at Eighth Avenue and Fifty-sixth Street, this city. The condition of the track was too bad for good work, but under the circumstances the lads performed very creditably. Summary:

La Crosse by Collegians.

The opening game of the series for the inter-collegiate championship at lacrosse was contested at the grounds of the St. George Cricket Club, Hoboken, N J., on Saturday afternoon, May 14. Rain and consequent slippery condition of the field proved a detriment to the work of the players engaged, nevertheless a game that interested the large crowd present was witnessed. The teams that opened the season were those of Stevens Institute and Johns Hopkins University, of Baltimore, Md., and a well contested match terminated in the defeat of the visitors by the close score of four goals to three. Cyrus C. Miller, of the Staten Island Athletic Club, was the referee, and the judges were Doyle, New York A. C., and Killough, Lorillard A. C. The formation of the teams was as follows:

Stevens.	Positions.	John Hopkins
Coyne	Goal	Mitchell
H. F. Cuntz	Point	Tom Penniman
Griswold	Cover Point	F. K. Cameron
Martin (captain)	1st Defense	R. Stewart

Bottle Carrying Feat.

G. Golding, the bottle carrying champion, attempted the feat of traveling fifty miles inside of twelve hours, carrying on his head a two gallon bottle, neck downwards, the same not to be touched with the hands during the journey, at St. Stephens' Hall, Royal Aquarium, London, Eng., April 30. He was allowed to make the best of his way, but had to travel all the time with left hand to the inside of the track, which was one requiring twenty laps to complete the mile. Archie Sinclair, who officiated as referee and timekeeper, started Golding on his journey. He went off at a smart pace, and completed his first mile in 8m. 10s. Continuing to travel at a uniform rate, he covered the second mile in 17m. 52s. During the third mile he took some refreshment, and finished the mile in 28m. 35s. from the start. The fourth mile was completed in 40m 15s., while five miles occupied 48m. 25s. After this Golding took matters somewhat easily, and from time to time indulged in a cigarette. More refreshment was taken at the fourteenth mile, and at half time Golding had covered exactly 26 miles 10 laps Ten hours from the start he had compassed 42 miles 6 laps. During the next hour Golding covered five miles less six laps, and ultimately the fifty miles was completed in 11h. 36m. 21s., thus establishing a world's record.

The Busy Acorns.

The members of the Acorn Athletic Association held another of their sets of indoor games at the gymnasium on Friday evening, May 13, the events decided resulting as shown in the summary:

Fifty yards run—Final heat: Won by James A. Hopewell, 2yds.; Fred Cook, 3yds., second; J. Brittan, 3½yds., third. Time, 6½s.

Six hundred yards run—Won by J. A. Hopewell, 20yds.; F. D. McKay, scratch, second; George Ernst, 25yds., third. Time, 1m. 28⅖s.

Standing hop, step and jump—Claude Livingston, 3½ft., first, 27ft. 9in.; J. P. Hausman, 3ft., second, 27ft. 7in.; Fred Cook, 2½ft., and C. Butz, 3ft., tied for third, at 27ft. 5in.

Two mile run—Won by Michael E. Healey, scratch; G. Thomas Jr., 50yds., second; H. S. Frost, 100yds., third. Time, 11m. 49⅖s.

TOMMY CONNEFF declined to run his second race with W. H. Morton, owing to illness The race was to have taken place at Ballsbridge, near Dublin, Ireland, on Saturday afternoon, May 7. Morton was very much disappointed because of Conneff's inability to start, but doubtless plucky Tommy felt quite as badly over his ill luck as did the Englishman. The latter was to have made an attempt to beat the Irish record on the date set for the race, and was to have been assisted by E. W. Parry, acting as pacemaker. He was in fine condition, and there was little reason to doubt his ability to do the trick.

JOE DARBY, the wonderful English jumper, is out with a deli in which he states that he will jump against any man in America any style of jumping, for from $200 to $2 500 a side, giving expenses to jump in England or taking expenses to have the match decided in America; or he will back himself to beat any record for stand hops or jumps, with or without weights, from one up to twenty rises, for $250 upwards; or will give any man in the world 1in. at two hops and a jump without weights, or 2ft. in five hops and a jump, or 3ft. in nine hops and a jump, with or without weights, for a like sum.

THE CRESCENT ATHLETIC CLUB, of Brooklyn, have just issued their club book for 1892. It is a very handsome little volume, beautifully bound in red and gold, containing a list of officers, standing committees, governing committee and athletic officials for the present year, a list of the officers of the club since the date of organization, articles of incorporation, by laws, house rules, boat house rules and regulations, together with the names of all members.

PETER PRIDDY experienced little difficulty in defeating Joseph Jordan, of Chicago in their three mile running match, for $250 a side and the gate receipts, which came off at Recreation Park, Pittsburg, Pa., on May 14. The weather was very unfavorable, while the track was deep in mud in places and bad all over. It was really no race at all, Priddy simply playing with his opponent, and finally romping home three hundred yards ahead. Time, 17m 15s.

A MEETING of the members of the New York Athletic Club has been called for May 24, to take action on report of the committee appointed some time ago to look up sites for a new club house. It is understood that the committee will recommend a site at the corner of Broadway and Fifty-seventh Street, but nothing will be definitely known till after the meeting.

THE championship lacrosse banner won by the Johns Hopkins team last season was presented to the victors at the university, at Baltimore, Md., on May 13. It was the first trophy ever won by Hopkins, and the collegians made the most of the occasion, a genuine jollification following the presentation, in which the faculty joined.

THE Ajax Athletic Club held a cross country run on May 13, the distance being four miles and a half, and F. A. Hendricks won in 34m., with F. B. Fried second.

THE John Mitchell football team defeated the Kickhams in a match played at Ridgewood Park, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Sunday afternoon, May 15. Gaelic rules governed, and the score was six goals to two in favor of the Mitchells.

THE SONS OF SCOTLAND will hold a right royal celebration of the Queen's birthday at Ingersoll, Can., on May 24. There will be a procession through the streets, to be followed by Highland games at Victoria Park in the afternoon and a Scottish concert in the evening.

BILLIARDS.

The Double Handed Match.

Champion Alfredo de Oro and Charles H. Manning have been matched against Albert G. Powers and John Werner, to play a match at continuous pool, 600 balls up, three nights' play, in blocks of 200 per night, for $1,000, the winners to also take the net box office receipts. The contest will take place in Tammany Hall on May 26, 27, 28. All of the players are showing great form in their practice, and this will unquestionably be one of the most interesting games of pool ever witnessed in this city. The backers of the players posted the final deposit on Saturday, May 14. De Oro and Manning are practising at Zahn's Academy, this city. Werner is doing his preparatory work in Frank C. Ives' room, Chicago, and Powers is practising in Trenton, N. J. This will be the most important event ever recorded in the history of the game of pool, both from the fact that the amount of the stakes is the largest ever played for in a pool match, and that the contestants are the best four pool players in the world. Werner formerly resided in New York, and learned to play pool in the rooms on the East side of the city. During the past two years, however, he has been residing in Chicago, and has during that time so greatly improved that he now ranks with the best, as is evidenced by the fact that Powers selected him as his partner in a match against such great experts as de Oro and Manning. Werner defeated both Clearwater and Powers in the tournament recently held in Syracuse, and de Oro only defeated him by ten balls in one hundred after an extremely close and exciting contest. Quite a number of the best seats have already been engaged for the first night, and the club men and others interested in pool and billiards are eagerly speculating on the result. Tammany Hall will be arranged as an amphitheatre, and the occupants of even the furthest seats from the table will have a clear, uninterrupted view of the game. The table will be set up on the floor of the hall immediately in front of the stage. The prices of admission and reserved seats have been fixed at popular prices.

IN PLAYING OFF the tie for third prize in the amateur, straight rail, handicap billiard tournament at Zahn's Academy, 116 East Fourteenth Street, May 2. Birkett defeated Foster by a score of 200 to 170. Average by winner, 5.5-39; best run, 20. Best run by loser, 26. The postponed game between August Muller and James Edwards was played on May 3 and was won by the former. In playing off the tie for fifth prize Philip Manna defeated August Muller; score, 100 to 106. Average by winner, 2.22-39; best run, 21. Best run by loser, 21.

ALFREDO DE ORO, and Charles H. Manning have been matched to play Albert G. Powers and John Werner, at continuous pool, 600 balls up, in blocks of 200, for $1 000 and the net box office receipts. The match will be played in Tammany Hall, this city, on May 26, 27, 28. As they are the best four players in the world the contest should be an interesting one.

CHAMPION FRANK C. IVES and George F. Slosson will contend for the fourteen inch balk line championship of the world, the B. B. C. Co. silver cup emblematic of the championship, a stake of $1,000 and the net box office receipts, in Central Music Hall, Chicago, May 21. Both men are in fine form, and a great contest may be expected.

GEORGE F. SLOSSON, who is to play Champion Frank C. Ives for the balk line championship of the world in Chicago, May 21, left New York for the Windy City 15. The match will be played in Central Music Hall, and, in addition to the B. B. C. Co.'s silver emblem of the championship and the net box office receipts, will involve a money stake of $500 a side.

MAURICE DALY, George F. Slosson and Professor Kaarlas gave an exhibition at the Catholic Club, Fifty-ninth street, opposite the Park, on Saturday evening, May 7.

THE proposed Paris tournament hangs fire, and as the season is now far advanced it is more than likely that the tournament will be postponed until next Fall.

HARRY UBERT AND MAURICE DALY have dissolved partnership, and Ubert will open and carry on the business at No. 10 Church Street on his own account.

.... A canine controversy, for $800 a side, between the dogs Bingo and Jack, took place at Birmingham, O., on May 8. the former being killed in twenty minutes, a throat hold doing the business. The winner weighs 65lb, while Jack's weight was 55lb, both being bull dogs. The fight was of the most savage character.

.... Captain Brewer will shoot a match with William F. Mitchell, of Virginia, on May 30, at Bridgeton, N. J., for $1,000 a side. One hundred birds per man will be shot at at twenty-eight yards rise, and London Gun Club rules will govern.

.... A four handed match at live birds, Lewis Thompson and Frank Work vs Fred. Hoey and Edgar Murphy, one hundred birds per man, Monaco boundary, for $1,000 a side, was shot at Long Branch, N. J., on May 13, the latter couple being defeated by a score of 178 to 177.

.... William Smith, better known as "Professor Snow," the somewhat famous colored cake walker, died in this city of pneumonia on May 12, after a week's illness. He was interred in St. Michael's Cemetery. Deceased also gained some celebrity as a masticator of pies, being credited with having eaten thirteen five cent promoters of indigestion in the space of thirteen and a half minutes. "Professor Snow, of Paris," will no longer form an attractive headline on the posters of cake walks in the Tenderloin Precinct and in the Eighth Ward.

HERMAN & LIMAN'S

THEATRICAL AGENCY,

149 East Fifteenth Street, NEW YORK CITY,

Beg to inform managers and artists that they have established a Branch Office at CHICAGO—459 NORTH CLARK STREET—to facilitate the transaction of their enormously increasing business. There is but one charge of commission made, no matter if the Chicago firm of HERMAN & LIMAN CO. or the New York firm have jointly or separately arranged dates. We book for 300 places, and our rate of commission, payable by the performers, is and will remain the same—five per cent.

We can guarantee to first class novelties, specialties, etc., a tour which can only be offered by us, controlling every respectable house of amusement from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. Performers send in your open time to either office. Yours sincerely, HERMAN & LIMAN, 149 East Fifteenth Street, New York.

CARD TO MANAGERS.

MR. KIRK ARMSTRONG,

IN HIS ORIGINAL CREATION OF THE SUCCESSFUL COMEDY, ENTITLED

"PETE PETERSON,"

(THE SWEDE)

Playing to the capacity of theatres everywhere, booking return dates and giving the best of satisfaction as a high class attraction, fulfilling all promises with managers and the general public; carrying a full company of well known artists, including the charming little comedienne, MISS ALLIE WILLARD and the following cast: Mr. Lloyd Neal, Billy Robinson, Chris (Musical) Green, H. J. Kennedy, C. A. Barrimore, C. J. Connors, Harry Willis, P. Murphy, Prof. Cohn, Miss Lulu Devine, L. A. Tuska Sisters, Tillie Olson, Bertie French, E. D. Colvin, Proprietor and Manager; H. G. Coyle, Business Manager.

N. B.—Referring to Leroy's numerous bluffs for notoriety, I have to say: "If he could believe that I have in any way infringed on his play, called 'Squibbles,' the proper thing for him to do, in my opinion, is to bring the matter before a court, as his bluffs are of no avail, and I will pay no further attention to his erratic pranks, but respectfully refer him to my attorney, James Fanning Latham, 162 La Salle Street, Chicago. This is final."

ROUTE—Milwaukee, Wis., week May 22; Chicago, Ill., week of May 30. Season closes June 4.

KIRK ARMSTRONG.
